MARINES SPUR EFFORT TO FIND QUAKE VICTIMS AS TOLL REACHES 2,000

American Surgeons Help Injured to Fight Off Pestilence.

SANDINO REPORTED PREPARING ATTACK

Seat of Government May Be Moved to Granada; Food Arrives.

(Copyright, 1931, Associated Press.)

Managua, Nicaragua, April 2 (A.P.).—Working under enormous difficulties in the chaos which followed Tuesday's earthquake and fire, Managua is pulling itself out of the misery of disaster.

Col. F. L. Bradman, commander of the Marines, estimated today that 2,000 had perished, and 700 bodies already have been taken out of the ruins. Property damage is placed at nearly $70,000,000.

American surgeons and doctors from neighboring Central American countries are working in improvised operating rooms, salving the injuries of hundreds, fighting off the danger of pestilence.

Food has come in and blankets for thousands who must sleep in the open. The United States Minister said today he thought the city could recover and go on with the supplies which have arrived in the past two days.

Fires Blaze in Ruins.

Tonight fires still blazed in the ruins, aided by winds off the lakes, and, to make matters worse, natives trudging in from the mountains brought word that the men who follow Agustino Sandino, insurgent, were preparing to attack the prostrate city.

The Marines were not worried about that. They have enough ammunition to fight off any attack, their officers said. Moreover, they said, they could scarcely believe the reports of an impending attack.

Half blinded by smoke and dust which rise in choking clouds from the fine powder of the adobe ruins, natives groped through the streets today searching for their own belongings and for members of their families who have not been reported.

The Marines kept to their grewsome task of lifting out the bodies which have lain under tons of dirt, wood and mortar.

Searching Party Attacked.

Broken in mind by their awful experiences, a handful of natives attacked a searching party today, but the Marines stood them off with fixed bayonets.

Once a marine who hesitated to injure his opponent wrestled with an assailant and lost his rifle. His comrades overpowered the man.

Down on the lake front despairing natives sat all day on the rocks. In the hills hundreds of others were living and sleeping without shelter. Along the roads out-of-town stragglers walked toward Granada.

It seemed likely today that the seat of the Government might be moved to Granada, for administration buildings here were wrecked and all state records burned or buried.

Events are still too new to make any accurate estimate of the number of victims, but Col. Bradman's figure is as close as any.

At Least 2,000 Injured.

(From San Juan del Sur today there was a report that the number of dead had been estimated at 5,000.)

Hundreds have lain on the operating tables, and it is certain that at

Court Says Giant, 14, Must Undergo "Cure"

Youth, Six Feet Tall, Weighing 225 Pounds, Must Undergo Gland Treatments to Halt Growth; Father, Divorced, Wins Plea.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 2 (A.P.).—Adolphe R. Roome, jr., 14 years old, 6 feet tall, weight 225 pounds, who would rather be a "physical monstrosity" than undergo scientific treatments to halt his growth, has been ordered to submit to his father's wish that he become a normal man.

Superior Judge Lester Roth at the end of a trial today in which Mrs. Roome, divorced from the father, joined with her son in opposing pituitary gland treatments, ruled that inasmuch as science can prevent it, the boy should not be allowed to become a "circus freak."

The son had protested on grounds previous treatments interfered with his school work and affected his brain. The mother, although not outwardly objecting to the treatments, admitted she had not compelled her son to observe a court order of a similar nature, handed down three years ago.

In arriving at his decision, Judge Roth said the principal question was whether the opinion of a 14-year-old boy should prevail against a parent whose interest and love has not been impeached in the slightest degree. The boy's father is a surgeon.

"The court said testimony from reputable persons had shown the treatment would not be harmful, and there is a strong possibility such treatment may produce a beneficial effect."

Judge Roth citing the Biblical injunction that a child should honor and obey the parents, ordered the boy to cooperate with his father "instead of aggressively opposing him."

"Filial respect can not be legislated or enforced; it must be bred," the court said.

In considering the attitude of the mother, Judge Roth counseled "it is of utmost importance that parents, when children are involved, call off their private wars, insofar as the welfare and future of the children are affected."

The parents were divorced five years ago. At that time the mother was given custody of the son, but the court ordered today that the father be given the right to see him on Sundays and obtain his custody three weeks each summer.

MINE WORKERS' DISTRESS TALE IS HEARD HERE

Trade Union Leader Says Conditions Are Bad in West Virginia.

COPY OF TESTIMONY SENT TO RED CROSS

(United Press.)

A story of distress and privation among 112,000 West Virginia coal miners, told the Wagner unemployment insurance committee at its opening hearing yesterday was immediately referred to the Red Cross for action.

A transcript of the testimony of B. A. Scott, mine union organizer, was forwarded by the committee to the Red Cross. He charged Red Cross officials in his region refused to help miners, as their work was confined to cities.

Even those who have jobs, Scott said, are forced to trade at company stores, forbidden to keep cows or hogs on the company property on which they live, and they work under "yellow dog contracts." Their children, he said, are never fed fresh milk and live on a diet which includes oleomargarine instead of butter. Many, he added, are victims of rickets.

Even this, Scott said, is a pleasant picture, compared with that of those unemployed or working part time. Of the miners, he said, one-third are out of work and another third on part time—a condition created by labor-saving machinery.

Speaking in the accent of the hill people, Scott said he sought to obtain relief from the American Red Cross on three different occasions for the miners back in the hills. At Charleston he was told the Red Cross was not authorized to distribute funds in the country, he said.

Testimony Sent to Red Cross.

This testimony caused Senator Robert F. Wagner (Democrat), New York, who is responsible for the formation of the committee to study unemployment insurance methods, to move that Scott's testimony be sent to the Red Cross headquarters here.

Scott said that some help had come from Baltimore in the form of clothing and that organized Illinois miners had also made contributions of food.

Since the union was broken up, in 1924, he said, hours have been increased from eight to ten and twelve a day, wages inside the mines reduced from $7 a day to between $2 and $4, and all employes forced to sign "yellow dog" contracts.

Organization's Work Enjoined.

The witness said that under these contracts as many as 121 injunctions have been granted to restrain him from trying to organize the men, while one, later dissolved, restrained him from giving relief to striking miners.

"But there haven't been so many of those since the 'Judge Parker case,'" Scott added, referring to the refusal of the Senate to confirm Judge John J. Parker as a Supreme Court justice.

Scott testified that miners forced to trade at the company stores seldom saw any legal tender, but were paid in script, useful only at the

WARNING MADE AGAINST CUTS IN ANY WAGES

GREEN CHARGES PLOT TO MAKE REDUCTION

(United Press.)

Warnings against any wage-cutting was sounded here yesterday.

"Manufacturers made an agreement with President Hoover not to cut wages and we still expect them to respect that agreement," William N. Doak, Secretary of Labor, told the United Press yesterday. "Labor has done its part in keeping its agreement not to press for wage increases, and I see no reason why the other parties should not carry out their promise."

Mr. Doak said that in fairness he was bound to say no reports of general reductions have come to him. In this he echoed the White House view given earlier in the day on behalf of President Hoover. The President believes leading American industries are maintaining wage scales in accordance with their promises during the conferences which followed the market decline of November, 1929.

The issue has arisen because of vague reports that wholesale wage cutting was imminent, due to prolongation of the depression. While officials, as well as the United States Chamber of Commerce, denied having heard any such authentic reports, there were some suggestions that pressure in that direction has come from some bankers.

Green Charges "Conspiracy."

Charges of a "conspiracy" to slash wages in a number of important industries were made to the United Press by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

From a Democratic source came the intimation that an attempt is being made by the administration to set up a straw man for political purposes.

"I haven't heard that any important manufacturer is thinking about drastic action in lengthening hours and cutting wages," Mr. Doak said. "The only people who have said anything along that line are the American Bankers Association."

A stronger statement on this point was made by Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics.

Stewart Makes Statement.

"It is fair to say," he said, "that the leading minds in industry and the economic world and everybody but a few old fossils are in favor of high wages. On the other hand, not all of the banks are unable to get away from interest and dividends. That is the only thing they can see. Any talk of lowering interest rates or omitting dividends is immediately resented and the old-time remedy of reduction of wages is proposed."

Mr. Stewart said he is receiving almost daily inquiries from bankers regarding the price level and its relation to possible wage reductions.

"The real menace right now is the attitude of the banks," Mr. Stewart said. "Not that all of them approve of it by any means but the bankers are thinking in terms of the political economics of Adam Smith and are not

SON SEES FATHER KILL MOTHER AS CLIMAX OF DOMESTIC ARGUMENTS

Albert C. Baker Fatally Shoots Wife in Home on O Street.

TWO SONS FOLLOW AS PARENT ESCAPES

Children Are Later Found by Policeman; Search for Slayer Is Begun.

After fatally shooting his wife, May Baker, 40, before the eyes of their 12-year-old crippled son in a house on O street, near Eighth street northwest, yesterday, Albert C. Baker, 46, fled, accompanied by his younger two sons. The two children were later found, although it was at first thought that he had taken them with him in his flight.

The children said that they accompanied their father several blocks until he told them he did not want them with him. They were found in the station at Twelfth and New York avenue northwest, by Lieut. A. W. Pierson, several hours after the shooting.

The shooting climaxed a series of quarrels which had gone on since Mrs. Baker left her husband about a month ago. The night before the killing she complained to police that she was afraid of her husband. While she had not been living with him, she went to the house on O street daily to care for the children.

Son Says Parents Quarreled.

The three sons, Victor, 12 years old; Albert, jr., 10, and Jackie, 8, lived with their father. An older daughter, Adris, 16, lived with her mother's sister on Rock Creek Ford road, near Georgia avenue. Albert, jr., and Jackie left the house with their father after the shooting.

According to Victor, his father and mother quarreled in the front room of the two basement rooms occupied by the man. The child was sitting in his toy wagon, preparing to paint Easter eggs, at the time. The mother left the room and went into a back room standing by the sink. Baker, according to the boy, followed and shot her once in the back.

Neighbors described how the man ran from the house, followed by the three boys and the wounded woman, who screamed, "I'm shot. I'm shot." One of the younger boys shouted to neighbors to "please get an ambulance. Mamma is shot." The two then ran after their father, who was running down the street.

Children Followed Father.

The man turned and shouted to them, "Go back. Go back," but they continued after him.

Victor, too, ran out of the house after his father, but turned back. The wounded woman ran into the yard of a house near the corner, where she collapsed. An ambulance from Emergency Hospital was called, but, she was pronounced dead when she arrived at that institution.

According to Victor, only one shot was fired as the woman stood at the sink. The man was only a few feet behind her. The small-caliber pistol used was not found, apparently being taken by the man. Nothing was disarranged in the rooms occupied by the man and his children.

On the table near where Mrs. Baker was shot were three candy Easter eggs, apparently brought to the children for Easter. The fingers of Victor were stained with red paint he was preparing to use on the eggs when he was interrupted by the fatal shot.

Unemployed for Months.

Baker, a former employe of a department store and of the Government, has been out of work for several months. About a month ago his wife left him and went to a room on Twelfth street near N street, but refused to tell her husband her address. He had often begged her to tell him where she lived, but she refused, according to Victor.

At the room on Twelfth street police found some of her clothes and $1.96 in cash. There were few clothes and only one bed in the dark rooms occupied by the man and his three sons.

The gun, according to Victor, his father procured in a store on D street three days ago. It was kept in a cupboard in the kitchen. During the course of the argument Baker took the gun from the cupboard and put it in a drawer, later removing it just before he fired the shot.

few hours after the tragedy police were called to the home of Mrs.

Admiral Frank H. Schofield was designated yesterday by Secretary Adams to be the next commander in chief of the united fleet.

The promotion of the 62-year-old naval officer to relieve Admiral Jehu V. Chase in September upon the latter's completion of one year in that post, was one of several changes in the high command announced by the Navy Secretary.

FLAG LORE SOUGHT IN LIBRARY BOOKS

Parents, teachers and librarians are now bearing the brunt of the contest being conducted by the United States Flag Association, with the cooperation of The Washington Post, to select two high school students as "Envoys of Friendship" for a good-will trip to London and Paris in June. Following the announcement in The Post that it would be perfectly proper for teachers to advise the students as to the proper books to read in preparation for the preliminary test to be held April 11, there was a sudden demand upon the libraries of the city for the books in question, especially for "The American Flag: Its Glory and Grandeur," an authoritative treatise upon the American flag.

Teachers of the various schools are busily engaged in grading the essays, "The Typical American Boy," by the boys, and "The Typical American Girl," by the girls, which have been offered in the contest to select two students, one boy and one girl, from each public and private high school, senior or junior, in the city, as entrants in the preliminary test to be held April 11. In addition to the essays, the boys and girls are graded according to school citizenship, manifest intelligence, apparent physical condition, personality and qualities of leadership.

As more than 50 schools have entrants, the exact number of essays submitted is hard to determine, but it will run into the thousands. At the preliminary test, six boys and six girls will be named from the 100 or more who win in the essay contest, and from these twelve children will be selected the boy and girl to represent the schools of the District of Colum-

U. S. AGENTS SEIZE $824,000 IN OPIUM

New York, April 2 (A.P.).—A ton of high-grade opium valued at $824,000 and masquerading as "hides and skins" was seized today by Federal narcotic agents acting on a tip from Europe in a raid on the A. B. Express Co. in lower New York.

Abraham Goodman, trucking proprietor, was arrested. He explained the boxes had been left with him last November by a man he said he did not know. Maj. Joseph A. Manning, head of the narcotic division in this district, said, however, he believed Goodman and confederates still at large were members of an international narcotic smuggling ring.

Manning said the seizure was one of the largest made in this district.

Goodman's home was searched, but yielded no evidence. Manning said he believed the opium had been smuggled into New York from a European port for distribution among Chinese.

The contraband was packed in tin-lined wooden boxes, each of which contained other cardboard boxes. Each of these held packages of the narcotic. The boxes were camouflaged by coverings of burlap filled with dried skins.

The raid was the outgrowth of several months of investigation by Maj. Manning and Federal District Attorney George Z. Medalie's staff.

(Associated Press.)

Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger of the Narcotic Bureau left yesterday for New York to be present at the examination of persons involved in the seizure of a ton of narcotics by agents there.

The commissioner said the narcot-

ROCKNE'S ADMIRERS GATHER FOR SERVICE

Honor Guard Stands at Bier of Noted Coach; Funeral Rites Tomorrow.

South Bend, Ind., April 2 (A.P.).—Sealed from human sight forever in a simple casket of bronze, Knute Rockne peacefully slept tonight as his legions of friends turned to say a last farewell to their man of destiny.

They came or were on their way from everywhere, preceding themselves with messages of condolence, floral tributes and sadness that only a Knute Rockne and his tragic passing could muster within their hearts. They came to give him perhaps one of the largest funerals and one of the most sorrowful farewells any man will ever have.

There were players who learned the game of life under him on the green swards of the gridiron, there were those who have been associated with him in business and in society and strife, there were those who fought him and his genius on the football field; there were statesmen and there were many who just learned to love him while seeing him in action as everyday fans.

The "Four Horsemen," heads bent low now and hearts sore, were present. So were the Bobs, Tommies, Jacks, Georges, Dicks, Bucks, Franks and all the rest of the "Fighting Irish" who could come or start on their sad journeys.

Funeral services for Rockne will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Sacred Heart Church on the Notre Dame campus. No mass will be said, a burial service only being planned. Arrangements were approved by Mrs. Rockne, who arrived from Florida tonight.

It was announced that the funeral will not be open to the public. Football men, past and present, and friends will be admitted, probably by card.

The celebrant will be the Rev. Father Michael Mulcaire, vice president of the University of Notre Dame and chairman of the Athletic Board

ILL SENATOR HELPS DEFEAT BLUE LAWS

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 2.—Following four hours of debate, the Maryland Senate tonight, under suspension of rules, passed the amended House bill granting to Baltimore City home rule in deciding modification of the Sunday laws, the most controversial issue in the present session of the Assembly. The vote was 16 to 13.

The meaure is certain of final enactment. It now goes back to the House for concurrence in the amendment, and thence to Gov. Ritchie for his approval. The executive has hitherto made known his favor of the proposal.

The bill as enacted, empowers the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore to adopt ordinances regulating Sunday moving pictures or other forms of amusement and its sale of merchandise on Sundays, subject, however, to a referendum. Voters will not have opportunity to pass upon it until the presidential election of 1932, however, as the act was drafted to become effective June 1 of this year, and the municipal election will be over before that date.

Passage of the measure was marked by an impassioned appeal by Senator Ridgely P. Melvin, Anne Arundel County, the eloquence of which, in the opinion of veterans, has not been heard in Maryland legislative halls for years. Senator Melvin drafted the amendment, a substitute for the original bill, as drafted by Speaker Francis A. Michel of the House, and passed by that body. The original measure carried State-wide provisions, although 12 of the 23 counties were exempted by amendments while it was under consideration in the House.

The bill's passage was not without dramatic incident. So tight was the line-up of senators today that Senator Thurman Atkinson, of Bal-

Brothers' Fate Left To Lingle Trial Jury

Gangland and Chicago Await Verdict on Slaying of Reporter in Subway Station Last Year; Deliberations May Be Prolonged.

Criminal Court Building, Chicago, April 2 (A.P.).—The twelve men commissioned to decide whether Leo Brothers killed Alfred ("Jake") Lingle, Tribune police reporter, retired behind double-locked and barred doors this afternoon in an effort to conclude the city's first big gangland case.

As the hours slid by and the jurors sent out no word to indicate an agreement, the problem, "Who killed Jake Lingle?" lingered over Judge Sabath's courtroom waiting for an answer.

Assistant State's Attorney Wayland Brooks had answered it, to his own satisfaction, when he said in his closing argument: "The man who dropped the gun killed Lingle, and Clark Applegate (Kentucky turfman) saw Brothers drop that gun near Lingle's body."

Defense Attorney Louis Piquett asserted the question had not been answered, and he shouted again to the prosecution lawyers: "Why don't you tell us—who killed Jake Lingle and why?" Piquett told the jurors, "You can't send a man to the electric chair on such evidence as this."

At 5:45, when the jury had been out almost three and a half hours, Judge Sabath ordered dinner sent in for the jurors. He said he would return from dniner about 7 o'clock and, if no verdict were reached by then, that he would leave again, to be called any time during the night.

At 7:30 p. m. (C. S. T.), with still no word from the jury, Judge Sabath and several court attaches left for a boxing tournament. He said if a verdict were reached he cculd be in the courtroom within a half hour. He planned to return at midnight, verdict or no verdict.

Asked if the jury would be locked up for the night or put to bed, Judge Sabath replied: "Why should they? They've slept every night for three weeks."

Killed by Single Shot.

Alfred "Jake" Lingle, a 32-year-old "legman" for the Chicago Tribune—who dug up police and underworld news, buth never wrote it—was killed by a single bullet fired into the back of his head as he walked through the Randolph street pedestrian subway under Michigan boulevard last June 9. He was headed for a train to the Washington Park Race Track.

The slaying was at first taken as a gangland warning, that the newspapers should "lay off," and the metropolitan press, with one voice, proclaim a "war to the finish." As the gangster's first serious assault on common citizenry, the crime received an unprecedented amount of publicity.

It was soon discovered, however, that Lingle was more than a 65-a-week reporter—just what, has never been proved. It was established that he had an income of at least $60,000 a year, and had maintained a joint stock account with his intimate friend, then police commissioner, William Russell. Further, he was a

Underpasses at Schools Are Under Consideration

District Commissioners May Establish Several Near Buildings on Heavy Traffic Streets as Experiment; Cost Estimate $10,000 Each.

Washington school children may be able to evade traffic hazards of the city's thoroughfares by using under passes within a few years.

District officials are considering establishment of such safety walkways at some of the elementary schools where children need to cross heavily congested thoroughfares going to and from school, as an experiment. Should they prove successful, others would probably follow.

The Commissioners also believe that underpasses beneath Pennsylvania avenue, between Sixth and Fifteenth streets might eliminate a great hazard for pedestrians.

An underpass has already been planned beneath Benning road, at Twenty-sixth street northeast, as a part of the pretentious colored school development, which now consists of only the Young Platoon School, but later is to include a junior and a senior high school. This will probably be built this fall.

Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, estimated that underpasses might be built for most of the elementary schools at an average cost of less than $10,000. If a large enough appropriation could be obtained for the highway fund, he said, ten of them might be constructed as an experiment.

Among schools he mentioned offhand as needing such traffic protection were the Janney School, where children have to cross Wisconsin avenue; the Brown School, on Connecticut avenue, near Chevy Chase Circle, and the Murch School, Thirty-sixth and Davenport streets. These and

Girl Pitcher, 17, Fans Ruth, Gehrig, Walks Tony, Quits

Six Successive Strikes Send Yankees' Fence Busters Back to Dugout, While Chattanooga Fans Howl With Glee; New Yorkers Win Game.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 2.—Babe Ruth and his busting side partner, Lou Gehrig, each struck out on three pitched balls in a game here today between the Yankees and the Lookouts—but what makes it a story is that the six strikes which felled the famous slugging pair were served up by a 17-year-old girl, Jackie Mitchell, making her debut in professional baseball.

Pinch pitcher extraordinary, Jackie, who has been laid up with a sore arm, was permitted by special agreement to step into the box to serve 'em up for three of baseball's deadliest swatsmiths—the Babe, the Buster and Tony Lazerri. The agreement was reached in order not to disappoint the throng which had gathered to see the girl pitcher, whose premier had been heralded for weeks. For a time it looked as though the crowd would go home without seeing Jackie do her stuff, but when she did go to the mound, it looked as though they were putting her "on the spot."

Already the Yankees had clubbed the Lookout twirlers unmercifully and Murderers' Row howled with glee in very ungentlemanly fashion when the fair Jackie was sent in to tempt fate.

Without so much as powdering her nose or seeing if her lipstick was on straight, Jackie strode to the mound; and after tossing a few to Catcher Ed Kenna she gave her trouserettes, or whatever she calls 'em, a hitch and looked to see was to be the first batter.

It was only the Babe himself.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

Knute Rockne is gone. As a football coach he ranked at the head of his profession. In the thirteen years during which he trained the Notre Dame team there were 105 victories and but 12 defeats. Five of his teams never lost a game.

Back of these achievements was a great man, an inspiring leader, and a profound teacher. His training was not confined to the physical side of athletics. He put intellectual and moral values into games. He taught his men that true sport was something clean and elevating. Right living and right thinking went into his victories.

Rockne conducted a course that was only incidental in education. Yet he had a name and fame with the undergraduate world and the public surpassing that of any faculty member in the country. His activities had the benefit of publicity, but that does not account for his hold on young men. We shall find that in his constant demand for the best that was in them. No bluff would answer. Fifty per cent would not do. His passing mark was 100. It required perfection. That was why men honored and loved him. That was the source of his power.

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States

Baker's sister, on Rock Creek Ford road, on an alarm that Baker was there. A man seen there fled before the arrival of a police scout car. It was later found that the man did not answer the description of the one sought by police. The call was sent in by a reporter, waiting at the house, who said the man came up on the porch and tried the door. This man was not accompanied by any children.

Private George J. Leahy answered the first call sent to police after the shooting and called an ambulance and headquarters detectives. Detective Sergeant Thomas Sweeney has charge of the investigation of the crime.

Baker is said to have a brother in Fredericksburg, Va., and two others in Richmond. One of these is said to be an attorney. Police have taken precautions to apprehend him if he makes his way to either of these two cities. Relatives of the hunted man are also said to live in Alexandria. A radio-broadcast lookout shortly after the affair put nearby police on the alert for the man, who was described as being "extremely nervous."

"Unofficial Police Chief."

Instead of the reporter who was killed because he found out too much, Lingle, termed the "unofficial police chief," was believed assassinated for one of two reasons, viz.:

That he had "double-crossed" Capone; or the Northside Moran-Zuta combine decreed the killing because Lingle had presumably ordered the closing the Sheridan-Wave, a gambling house operated by "Potatoes" Kaufman.

No mention of either theory was made during the trial.

These theories caused addition of question "why?" to the newspaper headlines of "Who Killed Jake Lingle?"

So when Leo Brothers, a St. Louis taxicab driver, was arrested last December and the "Lingle board of strategy" announced positiveyl that he was the killer, the public leaned forward, listening for the answer "why was Lingle killed?"

But the Brothers trial furnished no answer.

company stores. Prices there, he said, as well as at the motion picture houses, poolrooms and other places owned by the mines, were as much as 50 per cent higher than at chain stores in the towns. A 5-cent bottle of soft drink, he said, cost 10 cents on the mine property.

Advocates Employment Insurance.

Scott proposed the committee find an unemployment insurance scheme that would help to remedy these conditions and extend the American standard of living to the miners. He said that one company had guaranteed to pay its employes $1 in script every day, whether they were employed or not, but made this contingent on their not joining a union. Those who have violated this rule have been discharged and evicted within five days from the company-owned homes, he said.

Charleston, W. Va., April 2 (A.P.).—Conditions in the coal fields of southern West Virginia were described tonight by State officials, coal operators and Red Cross officials as "bad," but on a par with industrial conditions in other parts of the Nation.

Their statements were made in response to inquiries relative to testimony before the United States Senate unemployment insurance committee by B. A. Scott, vice president of the West Virginia Mine Workers Union.

Dollar a Day Is Gift.

Duncan C. Kennedy, secretary of the Kanawha Coal Operators Association, criticising a statement by Scott that the Cabin Creek Consolidated Coal Co. had offered miners $1 a day in script to "keep them out of the union," said that the dollar was given the miners "whether they work or not," under "the policy of the company during this time of depression."

Boyd B. Stutler, chairman of the Charleston Red Cross Chapter, said that "generally conditions are not good," but said that he knew of no cases of starvation. Commenting upon Scott's testimony that the Charleston chapter had declined to aid miners, Stutler said "we have helped from our own chapter funds and have borrowed as much as we can and helped in all ways possible." He pointed out that the special $10,000,000 Red Cross relief fund could be used only for drought relief.

State officials said informally that approximately 25 per cent of the miners in the State were without employment and that the others were working about 65 to 70 per cent of the time.

Customers' Notes Will Be Returned

Rheem Bankruptcy Court Orders Release of Papers Under Certain Rules.

Justice Jesse C. Adkins yesterday signed an order authorizing trustees of the bankrupt Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. to return to customers notes held for safekeeping in the vaults of the company, on which the deeds of trust have not been released.

The order, in line with a decision announced at a hearing Friday in the District Supreme Court, provides that the owner must first file an affidavit showing ownership of the note. It stipulates that it may not be released if there are other claimants.

Under its terms the notes may be surrendered to any "attorney in fact" designated by the owner on filing an affidavit. At Friday's hearing, Justice Adkins ruled that Fred J. Eden, referee in bankruptcy, must pass on the ownership of notes on which the deeds of trust have been released.

Plane Designer Unable To Fix Accident's Cause

Cottonwood Falls, Kans., April 2 (A.P.).—After hours spent examining the wreckage, Antony Fokker, designer of the plane which plunged Knute Rockne and seven others to death near here, said today he did not believe a structural fault caused the accident.

"I do not expect to be able to find the specific cause of this accident. Any plane might be wrenched apart under certain conditions.' The wreckage will be taken in trucks to Wichita. County prisoners under Sheriff Arthur Deering were aiding in clearing away the debris.

TREASURY PONDERS CERTIFICATE ISSUE

Precipitate Drop in Income Tax Returns to Force New Financing.

(Associated Press.)

Confronted with a precipitate drop in income-tax collections and facing a prospective $700,000,000 deficit at the end of the fiscal year, the Treasury yesterday was considering the issuance of additional securities to meet Government expenses.

This became known after the latest Treasury statement showed income-tax collections dropped $224,673,000 in March below receipts from that source for the same month last year. The Treasury is expected to resort to additional financing on or before April 15.

Meanwhile Republican Leader Tilson of the House voiced the hope that a tax increase could be avoided, adding, "It should be the first care of the next Congress not to make necessary the levying of new taxes." He said it "certainly was not apparent now that a tax increase is necessary."

At the same time Senator Harris, of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the Senate appropriations committee, expressed the opinion Democrats in the next Congress would cooperate to hold down Federal appropriations to avoid a tax increase.

Tilson, a guest at the White House, also opposed additional appropriations for the Farm Board, explaining this would aid in reducing Government expenditures.

Farm Board Honest Experiment.

"It has tried to stabilize prices but has failed," he said. "The plan was certainly an honest experiment. I believe the board should continue to operate with the $500,000,000 already appropriated in promoting cooperation in agriculture."

Tilson said he was opposed to a special session.

"Business is showing signs of improvement and it is practically the first time since the depression started that Congress has not been in session," he added.

Harris joined Chairman Jones, of the Senate appropriations committee, in favoring Government economy and opposing a raise in taxes or the issuance of Government bonds to meet the Treasury deficit.

Democrats Will Cooperate.

"I am sure the Democrats will in the future as in the past try to hold down appropriations that are not meritorious," he said. "I believe expenses of the Government can be so reduced that it will not be necessary to increase the tax rate or issue bonds, both of which I oppose."

What form new financing might take was not made known. It was believed, however, the amount requested would be larger than ordinarily handled by Treasury bills and that certificates of indebtedness would be employed.

Income tax collections for March were $334,830,214 compared with $559,503,703 for the same month last year. Collections for the fiscal year since last June 30 amounted to $1,506,261,238, compared with $1,812,137,844 in the same period the previous year.

At the end of March the Treasury deficit was $594,813,175.

Mexican Children Send Greetings

Exhibit of Paintings and Drawings on Display at Public Library Here.

Good-will greetings from the children of Mexico to the children of the United States, objectified in a Public Library exhibit of paintings and drawings, and of articles made in the primary schools of Mexico, was announced yesterday by library officials.

The exhibition is on display in the second floor lobby of its central building, at Eighth and K streets northwest. This represents the contents of 1 of 49 museum chests sent to the children of the United States in return for their greetings, as an expression of thanks for the "Good Will Bags" sent to Mexican children a year ago.

The "Arca Museo," as it is called, was turned over to the Public Library through the courtesy of Mrs. Harvey S. Irwin, president of the Women's Council of the Washington Federation of Churches, and Mrs. C. O. Goodpasture, chairman of the committee on world friendship, by the Washington Federation of Churches, to which it was sent.

The Commissioners believe that the underpasses would not be necessary for junior and senior high schools, and the Pennsylvania avenue proposal would be a different matter in which Congress itself might become interested as a part of the Federal Triangle development.

JUSTICE OFFICIALS WILL UPHOLD SMITH

Validity of Power Chief's Appointment Backed by Attorney General.

(Associated Press.)

Attorney General Mitchell served notice yesterday that Justice Department attorneys would support Chairman Smith, of the Power Commission, "as vigorously as they know how" against any attempt by the Senate to oust him from office.

The announcement completed the line-up for the prospective legal conflict between President Hoover and the Senate. A few minutes earlier Mr. Smith had announced that George Wharton Pepper, former Republican senator from Pennsylvania, would serve as his personal counsel.

The controversy arose when the Senate, after once confirming Mr. Smith's appointment, sought to reconsider, following the dismissal of two commission employes. President Hoover refused to return Smith's name.

Political Touch Added.

The selection of Mr. Pepper gave an added political touch to the controversy. The Senate already had employed John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, to represent it in the test.

In his statement yesterday Attorney General Mitchell said an impression had gained credence "in some quarters that the Attorney General intends to cast the burden of defending the appointment on Mr. Smith and counsel retained by him."

"That is not the case," Mitchell asserted.

He explained there was a technical question as to the authority of the Attorney General to appear for a Federal official in such litigation. He added that for this reason Justice Department officials would not appear as "friends of the court."

Will Back Validity.

"In that capacity," he said, "they will be in a position to, and intend to, support the validity of the appointment as vigorously as they know how, and give to the case the thorough attention its importance deserves."

The United States district attorney here already has acted in the case at the Senate's request. It was the official view, that in whatever court the proceedings are initiated they will end before the Supreme Court. Never before has a similar question between the legislative and executive branches arisen.

Sale of Copyright Songs Brings Fine

News Dealer Is Convicted in First Case of Its Kind Here in Years.

Abe Schrott, conductor of a news stand on Vermont avenue near H street northwest, was convicted of selling "song sheets" in violation of the copyright laws by a jury sitting in the court of Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.

Schrott was indicted March 18, after agents of a New York organization had purchased from him 99 copies of words contained in copyrighted songs. These songs, all of them of the type known as "popular," were "Three Little Words," "Betty Co-Ed," and another. Assistant United States Attorney James Kirkland prosecuted the case for the Government.

Vendors of song sheets have been under fire here for some time, following complaints from song copyright owners that their sales were being hurt by these sales. Only the words of the songs were vended, music not being included. The case is the first of its kind here in years. Another song-sheet vendor, Joe Ansbetino, is awaiting trial for sale of the alleged copyrighted words.

Hoover's Telephone Calls Double Coolidge's Record

385,275 White House Messages Booked in One Year Over 102 Instruments; First Installation Made for President Hayes in 1878.

Telephone calls made and received at the White House in the Hoover administration are more than double what they were in the Coolidge regime, a check-up yesterday revealed.

In 1930 a total of 77,055 calls were made at the White House, and 308,220 calls were received. This is a total of 385,275 calls in one year, as against 152,000 in the last year of the Coolidge administration.

President Hoover himself uses the telephone a great deal in communicating with his Cabinet officers and with other officials of the Government. In fact, he is the first President ever to have a telephone on his desk.

The first White House telephone was installed on December 1, 1878, when Rutherford B. Hayes was President. At that time there were only 50 telephone subscribers in Washington.

Up until the Spanish-American War the White House got along with one telephone, and this one was on the desk of the President's secretary. In the war the business of the White House increased, and so did the need for additional telephones. Accordingly, more trunk lines and more extensions were installed. Today there are 102 telephones in the White House.

How many calls were made annually before the year 1926 is not known, the records for those years having been destroyed in the fire that swept the White House executive offices Christmas Eve a year ago.

NAVAL PACT HALTED BY FRENCH DEMANDS

Paris Seeks to Lay Down New Ships Later On; Expects Agreement.

Paris, April 2 (A.P.).—French officials said tonight, in commenting upon reports from London that disagreement threatened to undo the work of those who negotiated the naval agreement among France, Italy and Great Britain, that differences of opinion had arisen concerning the final text, but that things probably would be ironed out after Easter.

Early editions of Le Matin commented on the situation with some bitterness.

"We were wrong," an editorial said, "in not dealing directly with Italy instead of permitting the negotiations to be led by intermediaries who were too interested. The expression 'Fair Play' is English, but the interpretation is French."

The difficulty is understood to be over that part of the agreement which concerns dates of replacements of old warships. The delegates of the three nations concerned are to reassemble in London after Easter.

(Associated Press.)

Reflecting the attitude expressed in official dispatches from Europe and information from diplomatic sources here, Washington officials were pessimistic last night over prospects of success in the latest Franco-Italian naval negotiations.

Reports to the State Department from American representatives abroad conincide with a pessimistic outlook on the negotiations voiced by Ambassador de Martino, of Italy, in a conference yesterday with J. Theodore Marriner, chief of the western Europe division of the State Department.

Additional French demands were understood to be responsible for the present troublesome situation. These demands were reliably reported to be a desire to lay down new tonnage during the latter years of the agreement.

Word from unofficial sources that the British government has proposed a reduction in capital ships from the present size of 35,000 tons to 20,000 tons, with maximum armament limited to 12-inch guns, was received coolly by American naval experts and diplomatic officials.

The American contention, frequently publicly voiced by Secretary Stimson, was that, lacking far-flung bases, the larger type of capital ship is essential to America.

E. S. Hege Quits Race For Advisory Council

Edwin S. Hege, of the Chevy Chase Citizens Association, yesterday announced he had withdrawn his name from the list of twelve candidates for the Citizens Advisory Council. His action was taken, he said, because of his uncertainty as to the legality of the council.

Six members of the council are to be elected tomorrow night at a meeting of the Federation of Citizens Associations.

ILL SENATOR VOTES AGAINST SUNDAY LAW

timore City, who ten days ago underwent a major operation in a Baltimore hospital, was brought to the Statehouse in an ambulance to vote for it. This circumstance moved the Senate to pass the measure under suspension of the rules, as it avoided the necessity of the ill senator making another trip to the capitol.

Dudley Opposes Amendment.

Senator Melvin in defense of the amendment declared that it had been drawn after a most careful consideration of constitutional points, and the result of conferences with several noted lawyers. He declared the time had come where a line must be drawn as to how far church and state shall share in legislation in relation to Sunday. He traced the history of Sunday laws back to Christ and the criticism of Him for abusing the Jewish Sabbath by ecclesiastical authorities.

Senator Dudley G. Rose, Queen Anne County, took up cudgels against the amendment. He said that the Nation now is beset by unwholesome conditions and expressed belief that the measure not only is wrong and unconstitutional, but would add to these unwholesome condition.

Senators Robert G. Hilton, Montgomery County, and Lansdale G. Sasscer, Prince Georges County, were among the sixteen voting for the measure.

Law to Protect Oysters.

What is regarded as a big step toward rehabilitating the oyster industry in the Potomac River was consummated when the House finally passed the bill closing the river to dredgers for an indefinite period. The original bill called for a six-year closed period, but it was amended. As the measure has passed the Senate, it now goes to the governor.

The bill is an administration measure, drawn by the conservation department, with the Virginia department of fisheries cooperating. Virginia has passed concurrent legislation on the subject. Similar legislation affecting parts of the Choptank River and Tangier Sound, on the Eastern Shore, is well on its way. The Potomac, Choptank and Tangier were long among the most productive oyster grounds in the State, but in recent years the beds have become greatly depleted through constant operations of dredges.

The State board of moving picture censors would be required to exercise greater scrutiny over films under the provisions of a joint resolution introduced in the Senate by Senators McIntosh, Baltimore County, and Coad, St. Marys County. The resolution is aimed toward the elimination of subjects that tend to undermine the morals of youth.

Both the Senate and House passed a large number of bills embracing local legislation for the counties, in addition to sending others to the third reading file after the adoption of committee reports.

RASKOB SAYS PARTY MUST ACT ON LIQUOR

Declares Democrats Never Had Better Chances to Win Than in 1932.

New York, April 2 (A.P.).—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, declared in an interview with the New York Evening Post today that the Democrats never had a better opportunity to win the Presidency than 1932 will provide—but the party must take a "courageous stand" on prohibition to turn opportunity into victory.

The national chairman declined to discuss his personal views on what action should be taken on prohibition.

"The party has never had a better opportunity," he said, "providing it has the strength to take a courageous stand in its platform declarations, particularly on prohibition as well as on other economic questions.

Strong Leadership Needed.

"The party should also provide strong leadership that will restore sanity in Government."

Mr. Raskob estimated the American people pay $3,000,000,000 annually for liquor. The cost of the liquor business proper, he said, is $300,000,000, and racketeering adds $2,700,000,000.

Asked what he thought of efforts to make Tammany Hall a national issue in 1932, the Democratic chairman said:

"I don't think they can do it. The Republican party will probably seize on some irrelevant thing, particularly if the Democratic party makes a courageous stand."

On Auto Expenditures.

In contrast to the $3,000,000,000 spent on booze, Mr. Raskob spoke on the like sum expended for automobiles, which, he said, represented 100 cents on the dollar to their purchasers.

The Evening Post said that certain Democratic leaders are agitating for a platform plank that would commit the candidates elected to Congress to vote for a resolution under which the people of the States would decide whether the eighteenth amendment should be retained or whether the control of liquor should be returned to the States. The paper pointed out that such a plank would avoid the word "repeal."

In the interview the national chairman had nothing to say about the individual candidates for his party's nomination to the Presidency.

NEW MONTGOMERY LAW FIRM FORMED

Capt. Joseph C. Cissell and Roger J. Whiteford to Open Office.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8102 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4200.

Formation of a new legal firm in Rockville was announced yesterday by Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, counsel to the Montgomery County Commissioners.

Capt. Cissel announced that he and Roger J. Whiteford, attorney of Washington and Montgomery County, have formed a new firm to be known as Cissel & Whiteford. Capt. Cissel at the same time announced dissolution of the firm of Cissel & Woodward.

The new firm has opened offices across from the new Montgomery County Courthouse, which is nearing completion. It is considered probable that the new firm will be named counsel to the county commissioners at the board meeting Tuesday. Capt. Cissel has been counsel for several years and Mr. Whiteford has been acting as special counsel for more than a year.

The firm of Cissel & Woodward had been counsel until Judge Charles W. Woodward was appointed judge of the Rockville, which barred him from acting as counsel. His position as Montgomery County Police Court at judge barred both members of the firm from practicing in criminal cases. Judge Woodward will retin the offices in the Police Court Building.

Capt. Cissel served with distinction as State's attorney for Montgomery County until a little more than four years ago when his term ended. Since that time he has maintained his offices in Rockville.

He is captain and commanding officer of the Service Company, Maryland National Guard, at Silver Spring, and also counsel to the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. He has been a vice president of the Montgomery County Civic Federation for several years. He is a resident of Silver Spring, Md.

Mr. Whiteford represented Maj. E. Brooks Lee, at that time speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, in several suits brought during the last election in the county by members of the opposing faction. He is a native of Maryland, having been born at Whiteford, Md. He lives at 101 Leland street, Chevy Chase, Md.

County Commissioner John B. Diamond, jr., of Gaithersburg, has been elected chairman of the Gaithersburg branch of the Montgomery Government Club. T. Calvert Cissel was elected secretary and Clarence H. Taylor treasurer.

Vice chairmen elected were: J. Forest Walker, county treasurer, first vice chairman; Mrs. Rachel D. Etchison, second; James Harris, third, and Mrs. Norman Belt, fourth.

Joseph Carroll, colored, 42 years old, of Beech drive, near the District line, Washington, narrowly escaped injury yesterday when the truck he was driving crashed into a parked car belonging to Griffith Howard, of Silver Spring, on Georgia avenue in front of the Silver Spring National Bank. Mr. Howard's car was badly damaged.

Carroll was arrested by Sergt. Guy L. Jones and Policeman Joseph D. Nolte, of the Silver Spring substation, on charges of operating a motor vehicle with inadequate brakes and lodged in the precinct house in lieu of collateral. He was operating on a District learner's permit, police charge.

Officers and directors will be elected at a meeting of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the Bethesda County Building at 8 o'clock, according to Thomas E. Hampton, secretary. All committee chairmen have been requested to submit their annual reports at this meeting. A barbecue lunch will be served after the meeting.

Mrs. Anna S. Bowie has been named chairman of a committee of the Glenmont Center Citizens Association to investigate the feasibility of planting trees on the Seventh street pike from Forest Glen road to Norbeck in order that the pike may be beautified in time for the George Washington bicentennial celebration next year.

The work will be carried out in conjunction with the George Washington bicentennial tree-planting group of the American Tree Association. The organization also went on record as favoring control of billboards in Maryland.

Officers of the organization are Richard C. Birney, president; Donald Bowie, sr., Don E. Clarke, Edmund H. Royal and William D. Buck, vice presidents; Leo L. Graeves, treasurer, and Donald McA. Bowie, jr., secretary.

Kensington Girl Is Named To Be 'Princess Maryland'

MISS JULIA ELIZABETH WILLIAMS, 23-year-old Kensington girl, who has been chosen by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, to represent that State at the Winchester, Va., apple blossom festival as "Princess Maryland."

Miss Julia Williams to Be Court Member at Winchester.

Miss Julia Elizabeth Williams, of Kensington, Md., has been nominated "Princess Maryland" by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland to represent Maryland at the annual Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, Va., it was announced yesterday.

Miss Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams, of Kensington, and is a niece of the late State Senator J. Dawson Williams. Her mother, the former Miss Sarah Newton Cissel, of Darnestown, is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Humphrey Cissel, the latter having served eight years as a county commissioner. She is 23 years old and was educated at Central High School and Virginia College, Roanoke, Va.

J. Calvin Stuart, 4 Kenilworth drive, North Chevy Chase, Md., heads the committee which will introduce the princess at the festival.

Miss Williams was recommended for the appointment by former State Senator Eugene Jones, of Kensington, who is a next-door neighbor of Miss Williams. Final decision is made by the Applemen's Association.

MARINES SPURRING EFFORTS TO LOCATE QUAKE VICTIMS

least 2,000 and probably more were injured in some degree.

Terrible as was the disaster itself, and bitter the necessity for burning the bodies of the dead in a yawning fissure opened by the quake on one of the nearby hills, the tents thrown up as surgical operating stations have housed events as harrowing.

Long lines of litters led to the operating tables. Working under terrific pressure, the surgeons performed 150 or more major operations today, amputating crushed arms and legs, setting broken bones, mending internal injuries.

The more urgent cases came first, but dressing stations have been working night and day bandaging less serious injuries and giving first aid.

Still Under Martial Law.

The city is still under martial law and no one without a military permit is allowed in the streets after 7 p. m.

There are about 600 Marines in Managua and several hundred more are marching in from the hills. Also there are about 600 of the Nicaraguan National Guard, excellent soldiers trained by the Marines.

Col. Calvin B. Matthews, U. S. M. C., who holds the rank of general in the national guard, praised the courage and loyalty of his men today for the part they had taken in the rescue work.

Beer Is Being Issued.

There were some earth tremors last night, but no more heavy shocks are expected and the most serious business immediately at hand is the prevention of disease.

Doctors, engineers and Marines have taken over the water supply, disrupted at the first earth shock.

They bring water from Lake Managua, but it must be sterilized before it can be used. The brewery escaped serious damage and beer is issued widely while water is scare.

The food supply is better. It has come in by plane and train and more is on the way. Today there was enough for everybody, dished up by the Marines.

The body of James Dickey, chief quartermaster's clerk, was recovered today and buried with full military honors. Lieut. Comdr. Hugo F. A. Baske and Mrs. Joseph D. Murray, wife of a major of Marines, also have been buried.

(Associated Press.)

United States relief activities were redoubled in burning Managua yesterday as the Nicaraguan government prepared to evacuate all civilians from the quake-shaken and fire-ridden capital.

United States Minister Matthew Hanna headed relief activities pending the arrival of Ernest Swift, Red Cross relief official, expected today.

Rear Admiral Noble E. Erwin, Canal Zone Navy commander, reported the Nicaraguan government was preparing to evacuate all Nicaraguans from the capital, a city of 33,000.

Desperate plight of the survivors was indicated in terse reports by radio. Mr. Hanna asked for six Red Cross nurses to be sent from Panama at once to care for injured women. Families of United States sailors and marines are being concentrated on the Campo de Marte, where they will probably have to live in tents.

Danville Cadets To Be Disciplined

Commencement Activities May Be Eliminated as Result of Strike.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., April 2.—Elimination of all commencement activities is being considered by Col. W. M. Kemper, superintendent of Danville Military Institute and members of his faculty as a method of rebuking the cadet corps, which "struck" Monday because of Col. Kemper's refusal to grant an Easter holiday.

The plan would provide for elimination of the commencement drill, the dance and formal graduating exercises, with the cadets going home after the examinations and their diplomas being forwarded to them at home.

More boys are returning to the barracks. It will probably be next week before a decision is reached on disciplinary measures.

Celotex Company Sued For Patent Violation

Wilmington, Del., April 2 (A.P.).—Suit was filed in Federal Court today by the Masonite Corporation against the Celotex Co. charging infringement of patents having to do with the making of grainless fiber product.

The plaintiff company asked the court to grant a permanent injunction to hold the patents are valid and to order the defendant company to give an accounting of profits from the alleged infringement.

Wild Life Disease To Be Made Study

Dr. J. E. Shillinger Named to Make Inquiry; Laboratory Will Be Here.

Cause of the outbreak of wild life diseases, particularly those affecting mammals and birds, is to be sought by the Biological Survey with a view to accomplishing methods of control, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. J. E. Shillinger, of Somerset, Md., senior veterinarian of the Biological Survey, is to be in charge of the work. Laboratories are to be established in Washington and in the field for observation and investigation of disease producing agents and disease conditions among animals and birds, both in the wild and under controlled conditions, as on fur and game farms.

This new investigation, as authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture, will call for a coordination of the various branches of the Government that have hitherto studied wild life diseases. Dr. Shillinger has been engaged on fur-animal disease investigations with the Biological Survey for the past four years. For 13 years he was associate veterinarian and veterinary inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

Dover, Del., April 2 (A.P.).—The House, by a vote of 18 to 17, today passed a bill introduced by Representative Jacob Scheifile, Wilmington, giving municipalities authority to pass ordinances permitting, prohibiting or regulating the performance of any amusement or entertainment on Sundays.

The bill would be effective whether or not an admission charge is made, but prohibits all amusements before 2 p. m.

Charles I. Cather Weds Miss Shirkey

Ceremony Is Performed in Baltimore by Brother of Virginia Bride.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 2.—Charles Irvine Cather and Miss Sara Belle Shirkey, of this city, were married early this evening in Wilson Memorial Episcopal Church South, Baltimore, by the Rev. Alert P. Shirkey, Richmond, Va., brother of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Prettyman, pastor of Wilson Church.

Cost Data Lacking In Ship Board Case

Bethlehem Steel Co. Failed to Supply Estimates, Auditor Says.

Philadelphia, April 2 (A.P.).—Efforts by the United States Shipping Board to obtain estimates as to the base cost of ships valued at $175,000,000, failed, said Joseph A. Nunsick, Chevy Chase, Md., auditor for the Shipping Board, at today's hearing in the Federal Government suit against the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and three subsidiaries for the return of $11,000,000.

It was charged in the suit that Charles M. Schwab, director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation during the World War, favored companies in which he was interested. Countersuit has been filed for $9,000,000 by the Bethlehem company and its subsidiaries. The hearing is being held before a special master.

Nunsick said the Bethlehem company never submitted working papers or cost data showing how the price of ships was determined.

KING GEORGE, QUEEN LEAVE FOR WINDSOR

To Stay Away From London for Month to Observe Easter Holiday.

London, April 2 (A.P.).—King George and Queen Mary left for Windsor, today by motor for the Easter holiday. They will remain away a month, returning for the London season.

The party at Windsor will be small for the next few days. The Prince of Wales and Prince George are abroad and the Duke and Duchess of York, because of a slight illness of Baby Princess Elizabeth, will remain at their Northamptonshire home during the holiday.

Princess Mary and the Earl of Harewood, with their two children, were to arrive at Windsor today and the third son of the king and queen, the Duke of Gloucester, is expected to complete the party.

The air ministry has issued a notice asking aviators to refrain from flying over Windsor Castle and the great park while the royal family is in residence. After Easter their majesties will invite several guests.

The Easter weather prospects continued to be forbidding. Rain fell steadily today and the weather report said that a "deep depression" was spreading over the entire British Isles.

The ancient ceremony of Maundy Thursday, the presentation of "Maundy pennies" and gifts of clothing to poor men and women, was carried out today in St. Paul's Cathedral by officials of the royal almonry.

The "number of pennies" and the number of recipients is governed by the age of the king. He will be 66 on June 3, and accordingly, 66 poor men and women today participated in the ceremony.

Alfonso Washes Feet of Beggars

Spanish Rulers Participate in Religious Services on Holy Thursday.

Madrid, April 2 (A.P.).—In accordance with the tradition of Holy Thursday, the Spanish monarchs washed the feet of 24 beggars today, 12 of them men and 12 women.

Wives of the grandees of Spain assisted in the ceremony, and members of the diplomatic corps attended. The beggars were given new raiment and baskets of foodstuffs.

Members of royalty and of the nobility attended religious services in the palace chapel, presided over by Mgr. Tedeschini, papal nuncio.

WARNING IS ISSUED AGAINST WAGE CUT

getting away from it. The manufacturers are.

Overproduction Not Blamed.

"Our trouble is not overproduction. People would soon buy everything we produce if they had the money or would spend the money they have. A man might as well be out of a job as to fear it so far as spending is concerned."

He said bankers with large loans outstanding and owing long-term bonds find it profitable to see the price level moving down so that a 1926 dollar is now worth $1.32, and that this inspires the pressure for a return to 1913 levels in prices and as a corollary in wgaes.

"But the pound of flesh was not in the bankers' bond," he said. "We didn't agree to pay them back in dollars worth $1.32 and it is time some one said it, though it should be added that this is not true of all bankers."

The Federation of Labor, in its official organ yesterday, also accused bankers of urging wage reductions.

Effort Is Pointed Out.

"Leading industrial executives have made an unprecedented effort to maintain wage rates," the editorial said. "In contrast * * * the recurring suggestion of bankers for 'liquidation'—deflation. Prices have gone down, but that does not satisfy these bankers. A number have specifically urged wage reductions."

On the other hand, through the Democratic national committee, a statement was issued by Representative John McDuffie (Democrat), Alabama, intimating the President was setting up a straw man and challenging him to name institutions which are causing the concern. He said:

"If President Hoover is cognizant of any organized effort to cut wages he would be doing a public service by making public the identity of the private institutions that are so conducting themselves as to inspire him to desperate warfare which the newspapers record, but of which up to date no surface indications have been visible. Otherwise it is to be feared that people will see in the incident the erection of a straw man."

Chief Offenders Listed.

Mr. Green listed the textile industry, boot and shoe manufacturers and the bituminous coal companies as the chief offenders in wage cuts. These employers, he stated, are taking advantage of the depression and the unorganized character of the workers to cut wages on a large scale. "The workers are badly organized and can not protect themselves," Mr. Green said.

The transportation, building, steel and automobile industries were said by Mr. Green to be observing their pledges to the President.

Watchman Reports Attack.

John W. Darley, watchman on a construction job on V street near Twelfth northwest, was cut on the head last night by a Negro who attacked him without provocation, he reported to police. Before the man escaped, Darley said, he inflicted a gaping wound in his forehead with a stick. The watchman was taken to Garfield Hospital in undetermined condition.

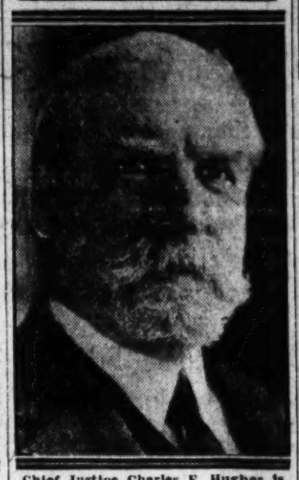
FLAG FOUNDER



Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes is chairman of the board of founders of the United States Flag Association whose essay contest, with the cooperation of The Post, is now being conducted among the high school students of the National Capital.

ESSAYS ON GOOD WILL NUMBER THOUSANDS

bia as "envoys" on the goodwill trip to Europe.

Each succeeding test will be more difficult, it was pointed out by officials of the United States Flag Association, the object being to obtain the best possible qualified boys and girls for "envoys." For this reason it behooves every boy and girl who has handed in an essay to continue to study up on the American flag and American history, ideals and institutions, as every entrant is a possible envoy until the preliminary test is completed, and should be prepared to make the best possible showing in that test, if selected, and in the final, if he or she gets to that point.

One of the best ways to be prepared for the two tests, which determine the winners, is to read the short essays on subjects symbolized by the flag, which are prepared by officials of the United States Flag Association and which appear in The Washington Post every day. The first of these appeared yesterday, and any entrant who missed it will do well to obtain a back copy of The Post and then read The Post every day from now on.

While the schedule of work appears difficult, the scale of awards is in proportion to the work done. Every student who wins a place in the preliminary test will be rewarded with the "Old Glory" medal of the United States Flag Association, which carries with it life membership in the "Order of the Flag;" the runners-up, or alternates, in the final test will receive the patriotic service medal, the second highest decoration bestowed by the flag association, and the winners, in addition to the free trip to Europe, preceded by a patriotic pilgrimage to American historic spots, will receive the Cross of Honor of the flag association, the same medal awarded to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his return to Washington from his memorable flight to Paris.

But this is more than just a trip to Europe, officials of the flag association point out. It is a good-will trip, designed to create friendship between the future leaders of England and France and those of the United States, so that in future, should a difference between America and either of these countries arise, it will be taken to the conference table instead of the battlefield for settlement.

That is why the flag association is so desirous that every possible "envoy" should be well grounded on patriotic and world friendship subjects. That is why the boys and girls are being subjected to tests designed to bring out their qualities of future leadership; that is why the flag association is picking boys and girls who may succeed to the custody of our country, so that, when clouds appear on the horizon there will be in power persons who have been taught rational patriotism, a patriotism that recognizes the other country's rights as well as those of the United States, and which will lead to efforts to keep out of war as long as this can be done with honor.

Flag Worship Condemned As "Glorified Idolatry"

This is the third of a series of essays on the flag which are intended to assist entrants in The Post-United States Flag Association "Envoy of Friendship Contest" in preparing their essays.

By COL. JAMES A. MOSS,
(U. S. Army, Retired, President General, United States Flag Association.)

A form that false patriotism frequently takes is so-called "flag worship" and "flag waving"—blind, excessive adulation of the flag as an emblem or image; and "grand-stand playing" for patriotic effect—superpunctiliousness and meticulosity in displaying and saluting the flag—without intelligent and sincere understanding and appreciation of the ideals and institutions it symbolizes. This, of course, is but a form of idolatry—a sort of "glorified idolatry," so to speak, and a cheap brand of "patriotic racket." When patriotism assumes this form it is nonsensical and disgusting and makes the "patriot" a subject of ridicule and contempt.

In their efforts to get votes and otherwise, no other one thing is used, or rather misused, more by some politicians than "patriotism." To make the American Eagle utter patriotic screams on the Fourth of July, in political campaigns, and at other "psychological times," is a well known—and a cheap—vote-getting device of flapdoodle variety.

Just to go through mechanically the form of saluting the National Emblem or rendering the pledge to the flag, or of perfunctorily singing "The Star-Spangled Banner," means absolutely nothing. Unless you are sincere in what you are doing and you understand and feel what it is all about, then you are merely indulging in sham and mockery.

The American who really loves his country and sincerely honors its flag will shun " flag worship" and "flag waving."

SHIP CRASH DEATHS REACH 33; 50 HURT

Most of Victims Europeans Returning Home From South America.

Malaga, Spain, April 2 (A.P.).—Victims of a terrific head-on collision between the French steamer Florida and the British aircraft carrier Glorious, more than 30 bodies and upward of 50 injured persons were being brought ashore today from the two vessels.

While the wreckage of the Florida still is being searched, the dead estimate tentatively was placed at 33. They include seventeen Italians, four Poles, one Russian, three Jugoslavs, five Syrians and one Spaniard. Most of them were returning to their native lands from Buenos Aires. The collision occurred yesterday in a fog in the Mediterranean about 30 miles west of here.

About 25 of the injured were taken to hospitals and the remainder, including seven British sailors, still were aboard the ships in the harbor. It was reported the Florida's cargo was being unloaded as rapidly as possible for fear she would sink at the dock. Listing badly, she has two huge holes forward and her starboard holds No. 1 and No. 2 virtually are destroyed.

Survivors described the scenes of terror after the crash in which the Glorious ripped through the bow of the Florida, grinding steerage passengers to death, splintering bones and mangling bodies, and twisting the framework of the ship into a tangled mass of steel and wood.

The Glorious was maneuvering with the British fleet in mimic warfare when the tragedy occurred. She transferred all of the Florida's passengers and the steamer was towed into port by tugs.

Winship's Funeral Set In Georgia Tomorrow

Macon, Ga., April 2 (A.P.).—Funeral services for Lieut. Comdr. Emory Winship, retired, who killed himself in San Francisco March 21, will be held at the family residence here at noon Saturday.

Ashes of the commander are expected to arrive some time tomorrow. Interment in Rosedale Cemetery will be private.

Sanatorium Work Will Be Delayed

Gotwals Says Other More Important Projects Will Come First.

Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, stated yesterday that the District Engineering Department would not be rushed into the erection of the Children's Sanatorium just because of criticisms voiced at a meeting this week of the Washington Tuberculosis Association.

"There are other projects that are more important and are to be started first," he said. "We shall take up the sanatorium when we get to it. The Municipal Center, the two incinerators, and the schools are ahead of it."

Authority was granted the District Commissioners by the last Congress to contract for the sanatorium's erection at a cost not to exceed $508,000. A site had previously been purchased on the Defense highway about 15 miles from the Capitol.

Call to Colors Comes Just 13 Years Too Late

Youngstown, Ohio, April 2 (A.P.).—Thirteen years ago, Dominico Terprate, of Newcastle, Pa., registered for the Army draft. Yesterday he received through the mail his registration card from the Newcastle Draft Board. It took the card thirteen years to travel 2 miles. Postal authorities could offer no explanation.

Terprate was perplexed at receipt of the card, and took it to city hall to learn if he had been called out for the Army. Officials assured him the war was over.

SHAPIRO IS INDICTED IN MAIL FRAUD CASE

District Grand Jurors Find Five True Bills Against Realty Man.

Five indictments were returned against Jacob B. Shapiro, president of the Shapiro Construction Co. and the Joseph Shapiro Realty Co., by the District grand jury yesterday. Four of them charge "false pretenses" and the fifth charges using the mails to defraud.

The indictments represent a second attempt by United States Attorney Leo Rover to bring to trial Mr. Shapiro. A previous indictment was quashed last December, and Mr. Rover, taking advantage of the ruling of Justice Peyton Gordon, who quashed the indictments, sent witnesses before the March grand jury and drew up indictments with the objectionable features rewritten.

The indictments, according to court records, were based upon the sale of property with "underlying" trusts encumbering them. It was said that prospective purchasers were not informed of the existence of these "underlying" trusts until they learned of them long after the purchase of the property.

The indictment charging use of the mails sets forth that Mr. Shapiro sent sales literature containing definite prices to prospects when, it was charged, he knew that these prices were not for the full amount. The difference, it was explained, was represented by the "underlying" trust.

The false pretense indictments were based upon the sale of property at 1718 Irving street northwest, to W. S. Frisble; sale of property at 419 Madison street northwest to Horace W. Hullinger; sale of property at 1734 Irving street northwest to Mrs. Minnie W. Reed, and sale of property at 1716 Hobart street northwest to W. Calhoun Furr.

NEW MOVES TAKEN IN PITTS CHARGES

Withdrawing of Jury Report Laid to Finding Data on Suspected Papers.

In a belated revival of the charges presented to the March grand jury relating to alleged spurious documents introduced in the trial of G. Bryan Pitts, C. Edward Anadale and John H. Edwards, jr., Government prosecutors yesterday announced that they had requested the jury to omit any report on the testimony given them.

The action substantially places the burden of an additional presentation upon the shoulders of the Government, providing the indictment of those who were responsible for the documents is desired.

The discovery of additional evidence is said to be the reason for the withdrawal from the grand jury of any evidence that might have been presented. The case was given the jury two weeks ago, and in the ordinary course of events would have been returned or ignored a week ago.

Nugent Dodds, who prosecuted the case against Pitts and his associates, presented the evidence of the so-called false documents to the jury. In his request to be permitted to ask the grand jury for some action, Mr. Dodds informed the court that he sought indictments against Pitts and "others associated with him."

Pitts is in jail awaiting the outcome of an appeal. Edwards and Anadale are serving short terms.

Florida Seminoles Protest Proposed Lands Transfer

Chief Asks Hoover If Tracts to Be Affected Are in Southern State, Citing That Tribes Are Pleased With Homes in Everglades.

Miami, Fla., April 2 (A.P.).—Florida Seminole Indians, through Chief Cory Osceola of the Musa Isle Village here, asked President Hoover today for information concerning proposed land transfers reported in dispatches from Washington. The dispatches said the President had commissioned Chili Fish, of Oklahoma, to serve as chief for one day on or before June 30 to act for the Indians in proposed land transfers.

Cory Osceola, who has been acting chief of Florida East Coast Seminoles since the illness of Tony Tommy, sent the following message to the President:

"Florida Seminole Indians learned from white friends today about naming Oklahoma Indian as chief of the Seminole Nation in land sales. Florida Seminoles do not know about transfers to be made and want to know if the lands are in Florida. If so, the transfers will not be recognized or considered by Florida Seminoles.

"We are satisfied with our homes in the Everglades. Our forefathers held this land against the white man, and we have lived on it ever since. We do not agree to anything which will take it from us. We have not asked anything but to be let alone in possession of the land from which the white man failed to drive us in 1837.

CORY OSCEOLA.
"Acting Chief,
"Florida East Coast Seminoles."

Pickpocket Lifts Purse Holding $50 on Car

Operating on a Capital Traction street car at Fifteenth street and New York avenue northwest, a pickpocket filched a black billfold containing $50 from Gerhardt A. Meyer, 1349 Spring road northwest, according to a report to First Precinct police.

Meyer told police that the man he suspects was well dressed. Meyer said that his name was engraved on the billfold and that it contained cards bearing his name.

Railroad Loses Case on Valuation

New Haven Railway Denied Right to Put Terminals on Property List.

Finding that the Interstate Commerce Commission did not err in refusing the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad the right to consider the value of the company's terminal facilities in Boston and New York, in valuing the company's property, Chief Justice A. A. Wheat yesterday filed a memorandum opinion dismissing the mandamus proceedings brought against the commission by the railroad.

The Chief Justice went a bit further in his opinion, when he said that if the commission did err in refusing to consider the value of these terminal facilities, "it was gravely doubtful if the court has the power by mandamus to require the commission to correct its findings."

The railroad company is expected to file an appeal from Chief Justice Wheat's ruling as soon as his order has been formally handed down. Facilities at Grand Central Station in New York and in the South Station of Boston were the two terminals mentioned in the company's suit.

Property Worth $80 Reported Stolen.

Edward D. Lyons, colored, Corcoran street near Thirteenth street northwest, reported the robbery yesterday of personal property valued at $80 from his home. The property included jewelry, clothing and luggage. He gave police the name of a suspect.

TO THE WOMAN ABOUT TO BUY AN AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATOR—

COMPARE the GAS REFRIGERATOR

with any other automatic refrigerator

AN AUTOMATIC refrigerator is not a thing to buy in haste. It is wise to consider carefully the one you buy, point by point, from every angle, to be sure of getting full value for your money. That is why we give you here, in brief form, the facts about the Gas Refrigerator, Electrolux. See the others if you will, but first note these points about Electrolux. They will help you to decide.

● NO MACHINERY: Electrolux is entirely automatic, but non-mechanical. It hasn't a single moving part. A tiny gas flame and a trickle of water circulate the refrigerant that makes cold and freezes ice cubes.

● NO SOUND: There's never the slightest sound from the Gas Refrigerator as long as you have it, because there's no machinery to make sound.

● ABSOLUTELY DEPENDABLE: No machinery to get out of order nor complicated parts to need replacement.

● COSTS EVEN LESS TO USE THAN ICE: $1.80 a month, including both gas and water, is the average operating cost of Electrolux in Washington. 6 cents a day! Compare that with your present ice bills, with the operating cost of any other automatic refrigerator.

● EASY TO INSTALL: Connections for gas and water are quickly and easily made for you.

● CONTINUOUS OPERATION: The Gas Refrigerator doesn't alternately stop and start. It works all the time, therefore maintains an even, constant temperature, cannot interfere with your radio.

● COMPLETE LINE OF MODELS: Ten household models to choose from, ranging in size from 3 cu. ft. to 20 cu. ft. capacity.

● FREE LIFETIME SERVICE: You get not merely a year's guarantee with Electrolux, but free service for the life of the refrigerator.

A tiny gas flame takes the place of all moving parts.

● HERMETICALLY SEALED: The refrigerant is hermetically sealed in rigid steel, and will never need renewal. It is merely 3½ pints of ordinary ammonia, little stronger than household ammonia. The gas flame is completely protected by an automatic shut-off.

● PURCHASE PRICES REASONABLE: Electrolux prices are no higher than others, despite its many advantages. Prices range from $235 to $775 installed.

● NO FINANCE CHARGES: You pay no finance charges at all when you buy Electrolux.

● SMALL DOWN PAYMENT—2 YEARS TO PAY: Only $10 a month pays for the average size Electrolux, with very small down payment.

Why not take advantage of these special low terms, have the comfort of Electrolux when the hot summer months begin? And receive the free $3 hydrator which goes with all refrigerators purchased prior to May 1. Visit our nearest display room, write to us for complete information by mail, or phone NAtional 8280.

DROUGHT AREAS RECOVERING.

Independent testimony is forthcoming as to the good work done by the Red Cross in the heart of the drought-stricken districts of the Midwest and of greatly improved conditions there. This report comes as a result of the trip of Representatives Frank Clague and Paul J. Kvale, of Minnesota. Returning from Arkansas, Mr. Clague says all classes of people in the State join in praise of the Red Cross relief work, which was handled with 100 per cent efficiency.

The two members of Congress visited the worst stricken districts, personally investigated conditions, and talked with people of every station and condition. While the situation has not yet returned to normal great improvement is evident. Mr. Clague says: "Thousands and thousands of people in the State, both children and adults, are for the first time in their lives receiving sufficient nourishment and a balanced diet through the agency of the Red Cross, while teachers everywhere told us the children had never been so healthy."

The good word from Arkansas is not limited to the emergency relief. Applications for loans made through the local committees of the Department of Agriculture are being promptly attended to and as a rule the money is available to a borrower within four or five days after making his application. But best of all is the fact that abundant rains have fallen in the districts that were parched last year, and the distribution of garden seeds alone to thousands who have never had them in any quantity before will provide summer food and a supply for preserving. Adding to this the fact that there is spring work available for all, the situation is so greatly improved that the people are facing the future with hope and courage.

HINDENBURG'S STRONG HAND.

Doubtless it is with a feeling of disappointment and regret that the aged President of Germany finds it necessary, particularly at this time, to exercise his power of suspending constitutional guarantees in order to restrain disturbing political elements. The mere invoking of the "dictatorship clause" appears to have been sufficient to calm the disorderly spirits who have been giving such wild demonstrations in the name of political enthusiasm.

Only two minor disturbances marked a week-end in sharp contrast with the bloody riots that have taken place recently. The two instances of disorder were typical of the factions that appear to stir sentiments which can not be expressed adequately by words, but must resort to brickbats and physical violence. The militant Fascists and the Communists endeavored to evade the new edict, but the threat of severe measures now available to the authorities was a damper on the fiercer brand of political ardor.

President Hindenburg has given every evidence that he is a man of peace and desirous of leading the republic in the ways of democracy, but he is also shrewd enough to know that there are disrupting elements at work that must be controlled with a strong hand. The world will hold it no reproach against President Hindenburg that steps have been taken to curb Fascist and Communist rioters alike.

DEBTS AND DEBTS.

A few doughty British financiers wish to bring to the attention of the United States the decision of the Federal Dominion Government of Australia to pay the interest due on New South Wales' public debt. Their purpose is, of course, to remind the American people that the Southern States borrowed from Britishers during the Civil War and have never paid up. Hard-fisted old Uncle Sam has persistently ignored all hints that the Federal Government assume these debts and reimburse the bankrupt British investors.

The analogy is amusing. New South Wales repudiated its debt to British interests because a fanatical premier is obsessed with the idea that "capitalism" ought to be destroyed. For months he has been advocating the repudiation of all Australia's public debts as a blow against bloated bondholders. The dominion government realized that the credit standing of Australia was in jeopardy. It supplied the available cash to meet interest payments in London, and will sue New South Wales for that amount.

British financiers point out that this is a paltry sum compared with what the late Confederate States owe English investors. Only $3,646,225 was in danger as a result of New South Wales' arbitrary action. British investment in the losing side of the American rebellion was $75,000,000, which at 6 per cent interest would now amount to more than $336,000,000. What a happy pastime for English investors to contemplate the Federal Government making good this debt of 70 years ago!

Does it occur to the British mind that this money was furnished in an attempt to destroy the United States of America? London's financiers are not able to appreciate the irony of suggesting that the American Government repay debts incurred by forces which were at war against it. British investors took a chance in an effort to dissolve the American Union. Now they have the impudence to imply that the United States is repudiating an international debt.

REPORTS ON AIR CRASHES.

Mystery still surrounds the airplane crash in which Knute Rockne and seven others lost their lives. A coroner's jury could not determine the cause, although many witnesses, some of whom saw the plane hurtle downward through the clouds, were examined. Like many other tragedies of the air, this accident will remain a mystery, so far as the public is concerned.

It is the duty of the Department of Commerce to determine the cause of fatal airplane crashes. As a matter of routine the department will establish to the best of its ability the reasons why this plane went to pieces. But those conclusions will not be made available to the public because of an absurd ruling made necessary by congressional neglect. If the causes for accidents of this kind were published they would be the basis of numerous lawsuits. The department can not allow itself to become involved in civil damage suits and, therefore, keeps its information to itself.

Under this arrangement the information gathered in the department's investigations seems to be of no practical value. If it were made available to the public, faulty airplane construction or operation resulting in casualties might be avoided in the future. The interests of the air-traveling public demand that this arrangement be changed.

The way to overcome the difficulty is clear. The bureau of safety of the Interstate Commerce Commission investigates all serious train wrecks and makes its findings public. The law specifies that these findings are not admissible as evidence in civil suits. That simple provision could be applied to airplane inquests made by the Department of Commerce.

Travel by air is making persistent gains. In spite of the slackness of business last year, travel over American air lines increased 100 per cent over 1929. Transport planes flew nearly 37,000,000 miles, carrying a total of 417,505 passengers. Can Congress remain indifferent to the safety of the ever-increasing number of air travelers? Enactment of a law that will make reports of the Commerce Department on air accidents available to the public should be one of the tasks of the next Congress.

THE SENATE'S LAWSUIT.

It is pleasing to note that George Otis Smith, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, will be well represented by counsel when the Senate's petition to oust him is heard in court. Former Senator Pepper, of Pennsylvania, has agreed to represent Dr. Smith as a "public service," after having refused to serve as the Senate's prosecutor. The Department of Justice has also made known that it will vigorously defend the right of Dr. Smith to his position.

This controversy can in no way be considered a personal matter. The Senate confirmed the nomination of Dr. Smith and so notified the President. Dr. Smith was sworn into office and entered upon his official duties. Because he voted with other members of the commission to dismiss two employes of the former commission, in accordance with the law which Congress had just passed, the antipower clique in the Senate sought to recall his nomination. The question involved is not whether Dr. Smith shall continue as head of the Power Commission, but whether the Senate has a right to reconsider and revoke a confirmation when it has been duly made and the nominee has entered upon his duties.

The President and the people have a vital interest in this action. The Senate is attempting to invade the rights which the Constitution invests solely in the President. It is trying to establish a right to recall executive officials when they refuse to be intimidated by Senate blocs. Certainly the legal branch of the Government has a legitimate interest in opposing this proposed encroachment upon the executive authority. President Hoover refused to return Dr. Smith's nomination on advice from the Attorney General. It is now up to the Attorney General to defend his point of view in court.

THE LARGEST SOCIALIST CITY.

The much-discussed trade pact with Germany has brought Austria into the limelight more prominently of late than at any time since the war left her a dismembered and prostrate state. The capital, once famed throughout the world for life and gayety, has become the center of quite different interest. For nearly twelve years Vienna has been under Socialist rule, and the socialization program of the Austro-Marxists has had opportunity for development along broad lines.

Not only municipal ownership of public utilities and housing, but private business enterprises are taken over entire by the city or participated in through purchase of shares as an ordinary stockholder. As is to be expected the Socialist plans bear heavily upon the richer classes and penalties for idleness or luxuries multiply and are pyramided like those against the vulnerable in contract bridge.

Socialist legislation, by enforcing heavy assessments on personal wealth, aims to provide cheap gas, electricity, transportation and housing for the poorer classes; it cares for the population of Vienna from birth in maternity hospitals, regulates wages, provides insurance and completes the job with municipal burial or cremation. Taxes are enormously high, measured by ordinary standards.

The tax on a Ford car is $200. The employer of a female servant pays an annual tax of $7.50. For each additional servant the rate is $37.50, plus the amount paid for the first servant. In the case of male servants these taxes are doubled. Morrow Mayo, an Associated Press observer, notes that the Rothschild family paid a tax of $46,550 in one year for 38 domestics.

The housing program in Vienna has resulted in the acquisition of much land by the municipality through "revaluations" that have enabled it to buy cheaply. Apartment houses have been constructed providing accommodations for over 200,000 persons, and it is claimed that the rental charges are only about 20 per cent of prewar prices for inferior dwellings.

The municipal brewery of Vienna is the second largest in the capital, having a capacity of 10,000,000 gallons a year. The city owns most of the advertising space, and is directly interested in more than 60 enterprises, mostly of the engineering and building type. It also operates a coal mine.

That the paternalistic rule of the Socialists has not been pleasing to all is shown by the fact that since the beginning of the war the population of Vienna has decreased nearly a quarter of a million. As long as the population lasts the Socialists experiment is successful in helping the poor by making the well-to-do poor.

BRITISH POLITICAL CRISIS.

Prime Minister MacDonald will face another test in the long series of hazards that have beset the Labor government of Britain when on April 16 the Conservatives will move a vote of lack of confidence. This, if carried, will sweep the Labor party from power. By a curious reversal of party situations as compared with the United States, the indictment of the Conservative party is that the Laborites have taken no practical steps to relieve unemployment.

The situation today finds the Franco-Italian naval agreement again in questionable straits, since France has discovered another mare's nest. Peace with India hangs in the balance. The MacDonald cabinet has undertaken much and accomplished little.

As the case stands today the Liberal party is divided. Mr. Lloyd George, followed by 33 Liberals, sympathizes with Labor and at first announced that their votes would be cast to support the government, a position that was modified later to await the momentous statement from Mr. MacDonald next week. Sir John Simon and the remaining seventeen Liberals will side with the Conservatives in their ouster movement. The post-Easter matching of strength in Parliament will be awaited with keen interest here, because of the possible change of British policy as affecting naval questions.

If Vermont had not elected a bone-dry Hoover stalwart to the Senate it would have been news.

TOO MUCH CAVIAR

From the New York Herald Tribune.

To most diners caviar is a delicacy, but to Jack Stevens, oil drilling contractor, who returned Tuesday on the White Star liner Homeric from Russia, it is a nightmare, through which starving convict laborers, frozen oil fields and hospitals so cold that one dined in fur coats and mittens, parade in a blinding flurry of small sturgeon eggs.

For Stevens, subsisted on caviar for six weeks, morning, noon and night, not spread thinly on a biscuit with a bit of egg on top, but scooped high on thick, soggy, black bread. Perhaps it was that the caviar was of the communistic variety, lacking the aristocratic flavor of the imperial Russian, but at any rate Stevens, having abandoned a lucrative two-year job at the end of twelve months, is back to sue the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the Soviet commercial representative in this country, for impairment of health and breach of contract.

The black bread on which Mr. Stevens piled his caviar turned sour and finally drove him to fish soup, which, he says, ruined his teeth. He had five out, with the dentist breaking his right cheekbone in the removal, went to a hospital at Sverlovski, emerged fifteen pounds underweight, and was consigned to a convalescence institution, where he shivered for days.

Stevens, with his tales of suffering in the Ural Mountains, was the only returning visitor to Russia to complain about the Soviet hospitality. Miss Sue Kellen, a master watchmaker, and fifteen other American technicians, returning on the Homeric, praised the treatment they received, although Miss Kellen found the food a bit inadequate. The liner also brought in thirteen skilled Russian workers, who will receive technical training in various industries in this country.

But Stevens' cry was sufficient to balance the complacency of the others. He signed an attractive contract, he said, drawn by the Amtorg officials here, stipulating that he would receive wholesome and adequate food, suitable living quarters and an efficient interpreter. He set out for Russia last March.

The first intimation of trouble came with the interpreter, who spoke only pidgin English. Then, in the Caspian Sea district, Stevens tried to drill for oil, but he could accomplish nothing because the machinery either was worn out or unsuitable for the work. After surviving several months of eighteen-hour-a-day shifts he was transferred to the Ural section, with the weather 40 degrees below zero. Fifteen men aiding in the drilling at Alapaevsk could not accomplish the work of four Colorado drillers.

"The food," he shouted, "of course those Russians eat it. See that there chair? Well, sir, they'd eat the upholstery and then swallow the legs and like it. But I tell you that a human being can get his fill, even of caviar. There was plenty of it. I spread on as much as each slice of bread would hold and then the bread supply ran sour.

"Here we were working unheard-of hours—and mind you I was interested enough in the work to make no demand for overtime—but that damn soggy bread got me. So I turned to eating the fish soup and that ruined my teeth. I had to have five teeth hammered out. No, not extracted, but beaten out."

Stevens said he saw half-frozen convicts, under an American boss whose name he could not recall, cutting railroad ties in the forests near Alapaevsk. He heard reports that some convict workers were shot for infractions of the rules, but said he saw no killings.

The Old Fear Returns.

POST HASTE.

The United States finished up some war business in 1919 with a deficit of about $14,000,000,000. Hard times, bonuses and droughts are war, too, as Sherman said, and if the deficit this years runs to a $1,000,000,000 let's pay it and forget it.

By the time neighboring powers and the League of Nations get through with the Vienna customs pact she can't tell it from her own sausage meat.

The Filipinos want a government chain store system so that they can compete with Chinese merchants, the idea being, doubtless, to chain the Filipino to the counter so that he will work as long as a Chinaman.

Dr. Curtius, who knows what he wants and can't get it, must envy his near vice presidential namesake, who has only to point a finger at either of his interesting alternatives.

It seems that all Premier MacDonald has to do now to stay in power is to explain satisfactorily to the Lloyd George's Liberal followers why hard times and unemployment have not been legislated away by the Labor party.

The Prince of Wales bags a deer in Brazil. We trust his hosts were more careful than those who once staged a shoot for Col. Roosevelt. Teddy found a ribbon about the neck of the deer he had stalked.

Dr. Jim Reed, of Missouri, shows the way to Democratic success: Cut out prohibition, root and branch. "It is a political moral and economic cancer." Perhaps the senator would consent to be the anesthetist.

If Henry Ford can induce his employes to work on farms during the summer, getting back to an eight-hour factory day will seem like a vacation.

Russia is now dumping cheap oil in China and South America. Wheat, timber, asbestos, manganese, oil—watch the list of market-breakers grow.

If the British can enforce all the other demands of the Nationalists in India it will be too bad to see them undertake to abolish caste.

To a man who makes packs of chewing gum, a bale of cotton seems quite a bunch. Mr. Wrigley's gesture of buying 100,000,000 pounds of cotton sounds pretty big in Chicago. In New Orleans they say, "What's 200,000 bales out of a 15,000,000 bale crop?"

Every time the great Mauretania comes to New York this summer she will make a week-end trip, Friday to Tuesday, to Bermuda. Senator Sheppard will be glad to note the Cunard's sentiments: "There will be no special appeal to the desires of passengers for liquor, though the ship's bar will be open during the trip."

George V has formally approved the award of Patron's Medal to Admiral Byrd. In other words, the king is willing that the United States shall annex the patronage of all the South Pole penguins.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

PILATE SENDS HIS REPORT.

"Boy, send to Caesar a report
Of this day's happenings in the court.
I am too tired myself this night
With clarity to think or write,
But say that one of my decrees
Was ordered solely to appease
A public clamor and to save
The Roman cause from dangers grave.

"Barabbas! Yes, they'll want to know
At home I should let him go.
There was a rebel, cruel, bold,
We had instructions him to hold
For death, and now to set him free
Will bring the wrath of Rome on me.
Take care to have it plainly show
The citizens would have it so.

"That soft-voiced Jesus troubles me.
I told them that I couldn't see,
And don't see now why He should die;
Yet they would have His life, and I
Was powerless, Boy, make that plain.
They set Barabbas free again.
It was not I, but they who chose
Christ as the greater of their foes.

"Tell them at Rome, that all is well,
And now we'll have a breathing spell.
The town is calm. In this affair
I find approval everywhere
Of my decisions. Those who frown
Are but the riff-raff of the town.
Although the incident seems queer,
I'm sure no more of it we'll hear."

Cutting the Cock's Spurs Won't Keep Hawks Out of the Barnyard.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

TWO South Carolina men who won fame and honors during the World War have again attracted attention by suggesting a way to prevent armed conflicts.

Mr. Bernard Baruch, who was a member of the Council of National Defense, and one of the men who purchased supplies for the allies, suggests that the President be authorized, in time of war, to fix the price of all commodities at a pre-war level and thus prevent profiteering.

Rear Admiral Sam McGowan, who purchased all supplies for the Navy, indorses the Baruch idea and makes the further suggestion that all able-bodied men between 18 and 35 be drafted for some kind of service when war is declared, but that Congress shall not declare war, except in self-defense, until a referendum has given it authority.

Their theory is that these two measures, by making the people responsible for war and removing the temptation of war-time profits, would support the cause of peace by making conflict difficult for America.

It is a good theory, so far as it goes, but it doesn't go anywhere. It remains at home.

It reminds me of a story told concerning two villagers in the hill country who quarreled on election day and began to remove their coats for battle.

Three spectators who were lovers of peace took immediate steps to prevent hostilities. Two of them seized the smaller belligerent and the third threw his arms around the larger one.

It was obviously an unfair arrangement, and the small warrior, struggling feebly in the arms of his captors, paused in the midst of his threats to say: "One of you guys go and help hold the other fellow. One man can hold me."

The fault in peace plans proposed by Americans is that they tend to handicap and suppress the nation that would be last to invite conflict.

No bars are necessary to keep Americans from attacking their neighbors. As they have in the past, so in the future they will endure insult and injury many times multiplied before they will take up arms.

The one and only way to insure peace for America is to make no plans for aggressive action, but to make our defenses so invulnerable that no combination of nations will dare attack us.

Better arms make the bandit more dangerous, but the householder with many guns will use them only to defend his home.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Progressives' Dissensions.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

If ever there was a case of the pot calling the kettle black it is when members of that recent progressive conference held in Washington comment on the factional differences that prevail in both the Democratic and Republican parties. Surely, there are not more differences between groups in the two old parties, respectively, than there are between the Progressives.

If Democrats are divided over the prohibition question, and Republicans likewise, are the Progressives any more harmonious on that issue? Are any members of the old parties farther apart on the liquor issue than are Senator Borah, ultra dry, and Representative La Guardia, fanatical wet from New York City? Among the persons who attended the Washington conference, there were varying shades of opinion on prohibition.

Warning to Democrats.

Atlanta Constitution.

Democratic leaders should find a note of warning in the action of Progressives of both Houses of Congress in advocating tax raises to meet the huge deficit now faced by the National Treasury.

Cure for Flu.

Macon Telegraph.

Health expert says hearty laughter is a prevention for the flu, so, if you feel a case coming on, get the paper with the piece in it about Mr. Fess being made a colonel of Marines and there you are!

Learn? Huh!

Detroit Free Press.

It seems to be hard for the Democratic leaders to learn, but after their experience in 1928, surely they won't be in any very great hurry to bring out a really wet candidate for the Presidency.

Busting Right Out.

Dallas News.

Sometimes those convicts up in Northern penitentiaries go on a rampage just like us Democrats at a national committee meeting.

Borah 3,500 Years Late.

Topeka Capital.

The trouble with Senator Borah's project of emulating the example of Joseph in Egypt and storing wheat now owned by the Farm Board is that conditions have changed in 3,500 years. If wheat were held for seven years at 2 cents a month storage charges, the price would have to rise in that time about $1.75 a bushel to let the deal out. And there is little belief in the minds of the Farm Board that wheat will rise over a period of seven years, four years or perhaps even two years as fast as storage charges, deterioration and interest.

"Alvin" Is Good, Very Good.

New York Times.

Time was when the Department of State, as well as the foreign service in general, was turned topsy-turvy with every change of administration. Assistant Secretaries of State came and went very like postmasters. Of course, now and then there was a man of exceptional knowledge who was long retained, as was Alvin A. Adee, no matter who was Secretary of State.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Inculcation of Americanism by Flag Association Praised by Federalist, Who Suggests Public School Contests.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As a means to stir the sentiment of patriotism in our boys and girls the United States Flag Association's Envoys of Friendship flag-essay contest, conducted here by The Post, is most welcome.

Nothing can be of greater service in the development of a vigorous and salutary nationalism than such activities as the writing of flag essays by the school children of the country. Insofar as they forestall the growth of un-American ideas they are especially to be desired.

I am not certain that the danger of socialistic propaganda in this country is at this time as great as some believe. Yet all interested observers must be aware that, more or less in our literature, in the pulpit, and particularly in institutions of learning, there is a growing tendency to neglect if not to belittle the patriotic spirit. Many who would resent being called Socialists are intrigued by the clever sophisms of those who insist that love of country is the chief obstacle to peace on earth and good will to men.

I think it would be well, therefore, if the work of the Flag Association were followed up by a sincere old-time revival of Americanism in all our schools. Of course, very much in the way of abstract preachment should not be attempted, but at least special attention might be called to certain essential features of American policy, such as the Monroe Doctrine, for instance, and our traditional attitude in regard to freedom of the seas.

As for the public schools, inasmuch as the main reason for their existence is the safeguarding of good citizenship, I see no reason why it would not be profitable for them to inaugurate annual contests in patriotic essay writing, following the fine example set them by the United States Flag Association. FEDERALIST.

A Filipino States the Case in Favor of Independence.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read with much interest your editorial entitled "Facts for Filipinos." As the editorial is a presentation of just the American side of the case, I would thank you, in fairness to the Filipino people, to give space to the following few lines presenting their side.

Dr. Gibbons terms the movement for independence unique because it is not based on any grievance. Surely the noted political scientist of Princeton does not mean to say that the desire for independence finds justification only in the presence of some sort of grievance. He can not be unaware of the fact that freedom is a God-given right to be enjoyed by every people in the world irrespective of race or color and not by a select few. Then, too, the assertion is hardly correct. American rule was not of their own choosing and not without great sacrifice of lives by both sides was it finally established.

Enemies of Philippine freedom contend that the Filipinos can not maintain an independent government. Well, it is one thing to say it and quite another thing to prove it. And the only sure way to prove it is to have it tried. The proof of a pudding is in the eating.

Again it is contended that the Philippines already have self-government. True, but self-government like the one now in force is not the independence promised in the Jones act. Indeed, it is not the kind for which much Filipino blood has been shed since the beginning of the Filipino struggle for freedom.

As to the disaster which would result in the erection of a tariff wall in the event of independence, the committee on territories and insular affairs has already studied and discussed a plan to obviate it. United States Senate Report No. 781 contains the details of the plan.

Son of One of Mosby's Men Gives a Little Civil War History.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am writing to correct a statement which you published in Wednesday's issue in regard to Col. John S. Mosby, the famous Confederate guerilla, being held a prisoner during the Civil War in old Capital Prison, at First and A streets northeast. Col. John S. Mosby was never a prisoner, and he never surrendered.

I wish to add here that my two uncles, John and Bush, and my father, Sam, were the first men to enlist in Mosby's command, the Forty-third Virginia Cavalry. My father was a prisoner at the old Capitol, just after Gen. Custer executed seven of Mosby's men near Rectortown, Va., in 1864. In retaliation Mosby executed seven of Custer's men. One of the prisoners who escaped death was Capt. Brewster, of the Fifth New York Artillery. After this an order was issued to execute two for one Confederate prisoner at old Capitol. My father was one of those to be executed. However, the execution never was permitted because President Lincoln stopped it on the morning it was to be carried out.

Old Bachelor Gives His Corn Bread Recipe to Help Helpless Housewives.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: One of my jobs is cooking. I have used this formula many times and none of the product is ever left over. No such thing as overproduction. It is given freely to help distracted housewives who are willing to cook:

Two cups yellow corn meal; one cup white flour; one teaspoon salt; one cooking spoon molasses; one-half cup sugar; two eggs; two ounces of butter; one tablespoon (heaped) baking powder. Add sweet milk to make a thin batter. Bake in a hot oven 40 minutes. BACHELOR.

GANDHI WILL TACKLE MOSLEM PROBLEM

Indian Leader Takes Train for New Delhi to Study Command Issue.

Karachi, India, April 2 (A.P.).—Accompanied by hundreds of his cabinet, Mahatma Gandhi was en route to New Delhi tonight to solve the Moslem-Hindu communal problem before he attacks the greater struggle of Indian independence at the second round-table conference in London.

Four husky bodyguards rode with him in his third-class compartment to prevent his admirers or his enemies from forcing their way in or smashing windows, as occurred on his trip to the all-India national congress.

Stricken with chicken-pox, Madeleine Slade, his English disciple, was taken to a hospital and was unable to follow her prophet. Physicians moved to forestall the spread of the disease to Gandhi, already suffering from a bad cold and exhausted with many weeks of political activity.

Before leaving, Gandhi decided to limit the number of Indian delegates to the London conference to six, although he is entitled to fifteen by the terms of the truce with Viceroy Irwin. He held that a small, compact delegation would be more successful than an unwieldy one.

The expenses of the delegation will be borne by the congress, he decreed, rather than place them under obligation to Great Britain. They will leave probably in July, sailing from Bombay. Gandhi himself will occupy steerage quarters, while the Indian princes—if any go—will loll in de luxe compartments.

Pedestrian Files Suit For Alleged Taxi Hurt

Attorney Aubrey St. Clair Wardwell yesterday filed, on behalf of Casco L. Duke, of 1413 Fourteenth street northwest, suit for $1,000 against the Mayflower Taxicab & Sightseeing Co. The suit declares that Mr. Duke was crossing the intersection of Eleventh street and Massachusetts avenue northwest October 22, 1930, when a taxicab ran into him and severely injured him.

In the petition the claim is made that Mr. Duke was crossing on a green light.

Pastor Reports Study Robbed.

Capital Program Heard in Germany

Ambassador and Senator Speak Over Transoceanic Hook-Up Starting Here.

(Associated Press.)

From an outside ledge rimming the Dome of the Capitol, 180 feet in the air, a radio program was broadcast yesterday direct to the people of Germany.

Ambassador von Prittwitz-Gaffron, of Germany, Senator Wagner, of New York, and J. Theodore Marriner, chief of the division of Western European affairs of the State Department, were the principal speakers. Each sounded a note of good will between the American and German governments.

The program was broadcast in English and German by the National Broadcasting Co. It went by land wire to Schenectady, thence by short wave to Germany. Forty stations in that country and Austria carried the words of the speakers over Western Europe.

Berlin, April 2 (A.P.).—Speaking in German, Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, was heard plainly throughout Germany today in a rebroadcast of a nation-wide radio hook-up from Washington, D. C.

Capital Folk Get Flowers From Estates

Louws Get Theirs From Africa; Mrs. Mills Hers by Airplane.

WITH Mrs. Owen Roberts, wife of Justice Roberts; Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, wife of the Undersecretary of the Treasury, and several others bringing in day by day flowers and vegetables from their private gardens "up North and down South" the Capital seems to present an interesting little phase.

At a dinner at Justice Roberts' just the other evening the beautifully appointed table boasted not only flowers from their Pennsylvania estate but luscious tomatoes and other vegetables which made the trip by air. Justice and Mrs. Roberts have a splendid farm in Chester County, which is one vast plantation and many have been the flower and poultry shows at which the justice and his wife were joint exhibitors. All sorts of gardening seems to be the pleasure of Justice and Mrs. Roberts who have made a success of their cultivated areas.

They have been especially rewarded in the cultivation of dahlias, chrysanthemums and ferns, which have been displayed at horticultural shows under the name "O. J. Roberts, owner and cultivator." This winter Justice and Mrs. Roberts have brought in a great many hothouse vegetables for use in their house in Georgetown.

Mrs. Mills also resorts to the use of the airplane for the fine flowers which reach Washington from her estate on Long Island, where she occasionally supervises the care of her greenhouses, noted for their fine specimens of gardenias and orchids. Mrs. Cameron Morrison, wife of the North Carolina senator, regularly received last winter great boxes of flowers from the Southern plantation.

Specializing in carnations, Senator and Mrs. Morrison have established a definite place in the world of "amateur florists" because of their success in the raising of the flowers which to the world in general seem to be classified as "mother's flower." With true Southern generosity, the Morrisons nearly every day had splendid bouquets delivered to the houses of friends here. They were generally transported by train, but always arrived in the "pink" of condition.

With an ocean between, the Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Louw created a decided stir in society with the lovely imported flowers, chincherinchees, transported from their native land, which decked the legation drawing rooms at several receptions in midwinter. Fragile like the white narcissi, the flowers laid in ice over a period of three weeks or more and reached Washington as beautiful as if just picked from the mountains around Capetown.

The strange flowers, indigenous to South Africa, created such admiration that florists in the Capital and New York are considering their regular importation through the season, thus following the course already adopted in London and Paris, where the flowers are seen in florists' windows and grace the drawing rooms of smart society.

New Minister From Canada Will Soon Wed

Engagement of Premier's Sister to Herridge Announced.

With the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mildred Mariann Bennett, sister of the Prime Minister of Canada, Richard Bedford Bennett, to Maj. W. D. Herridge, newly appointed Minister of Canada to the United States, the Diplomatic Corps will welcome, before long, another bride as chatelaine of a legation. The wedding will take place in the near future. Although no date has been announced, it is probable that the wedding will take place this spring, as the minister is expected in Washington shortly after his trip to England late this month.

Miss Bennett, who is nearly twenty years younger than her brother, has been acting as hostess in Ottawa since Mr. Bennett was chosen to the highest post in the gift of the Canadian government. With the prime minister she lives in a splendid suite in the Chateau Laurier, where she dispenses hospitality to official and residential society.

A graduate of Mount Allison University in New Brunswick, Miss Bennett has spent many seasons abroad as well as much of her life in the Far West, having lived in Calgary and Vancouver, B. C.

The new minister, who visited Washington in midwinter, when the prime minister came here for a few days, was a guest at the White House and at the British Embassy. His majority was bestowed upon him through service with the Canadian forces throughout the World War. He received the Distinguished Service Order and the Military Cross.

When the charming bride takes her place in the gay group which makes up the ever interesting Diplomatic Corps she will be greeted by several other "brides of legations and embassies."

Only this spring the wedding of Commander Paolo Sbernadori, Air Attache of the Italian Embassy, at Turin, in Italy, will bring to the Capital a bride from across the seas. They will return here later in the spring. Another Italian bride is the delightful Countess Antonietta Roncalli di Montorio, wife of the First Secretary of the Embassy, who won the hearts of society immediately upon her arrival here last fall. Count Roncalli and his bride were married in Italy.

Bringing to the Diplomatic Corps all the charm of the winsome American girl, Mrs. Thomas D. Stone, wife of the Second Secretary of the Canadian Legation, has "fitted" admirably into diplomatic festivities. She was Miss Ellen Ewing, of New York.

On the Danish side of the ledger, Washington has been favored with two delightful newcomers, one, Mme. Wadsted, chatelaine of the legation, a Uruguayan of distinguished background, and Mme. de Wichfeld, wife of the Counselor of the Danish Legation. Although married some little time before coming to Washington Mme. Wadsted might be included among the little bridal group and certainly Mme. de Wichfeld, whose marriage to the counselor took place in Washington last winter.

Miss Helen Lee Eames Doherty, who is returning to Washington on Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Doherty, from a Southern trip, will be the guests of Miss Elizabeth Dunlop at the polo ball that evening at the Mayflower.

In addition to many of the members of the Diplomatic Corps appearing in their full dress uniforms at the polo ball, the members of the Polo Association of Washington will wear their polo outfits as well as the debutantes' committee that will form an aisle through which Vice President Curtis will be escorted to his box.

Mrs. Elise J. Church entertained at dinner last night in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Harold M. Rayner, of West Point, N. Y. The guests were Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Herbert B. Crosby, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, Maj. Raymond E. McQuillan and Capt. Eugene A. Regnier.

Wives of Tomorrow

—FRANCES M'DONALD

She Knew a Cornetist!

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD: Oh, I sure do love your column, and when I read about the girl whose boy friend's idea of entertaining her was to bring his cornet and practice I was just pop-eyed to see what you would tell her, for I once had such a B. F. I could have hugged you when you told her to "tell the pest to go hire a hall." You are priceless, honestly you are! Girls who let fellows use them to fill in gaps in their social program are mighty foolish. Men value a girl in the proportion that it costs them money. This never fails. That girl is in the same boat I was. I, too, was convent bred. I was a nice, amiable, lady-like person. As a result it was the cornet player, with a pimply complexion and styes, or it was nothing. My brother loathed him. But I thought surely patience would be rewarded and he would some time take me out as he did other girls. No sir. It was just like Dolores said in her letter. He spent his money on the girls who would not sit in the house with him. In fact, who treated him most rudely, for he was very unpopular.

Well, at last I got very bitter. So when a man did ask me for a date I answered curtly that I'd rather not. I did this because, like Dolores, men had always been stalling about calling me up some time and all the rest, but never did. Well, when I got so that I would say, "No, thanks, I'm sick of men," to my surprise they looked alive and showed real interest. Some got mad, of course. But at least I ceased to be just a dummy. I took on form. The worth-while ones gave me searching looks and persisted. I began to have dates from the time I decided I never wanted a date! So you are dead right about the being "difficult" part too.

It is terrible to say, but the meaner you can treat a man without being ill-bred, the better chance you have of making him. This was a hard lesson for me to learn. I would go riding with a fellow, be polite and appreciative, ask him in to dinner and never see him again. Now, no man ever gets any form of entertainment out of little me. When a date is even suggested I say, "Depends, I only like dancing dates," or some other remark that dispels any idea he may have that his fatal charms might be sufficient lure. He promptly comes back with, "Well, I know plenty places to dance." And we dance.

Men like girls who look to them for entertainment. They are looking for entertainment themselves and the girl who sticks home is not the sort. It is very simple. I do not like men much. And I think that helps. If I had not a single date for a month it would not bother me. Instead I turn down at least two a week. Yet I was for two whole years overlooked just as Dolores is. I did not know the ropes, and stumbled upon the secret accidentally when bitterness and disgust made me rude.

I hope Dolores will follow your advice, for it is perfect in this case for sure. I remember the first time I ever picked up the paper at your column. A girl was asking what to do about a fellow who only called her on the phone, talked and stalled, and spoke of dates, but despite her acceptance, never took her out. At last he had made a date. But it was to come to her home the following Sunday afternoon! She wanted you to tell her if she should cement the opening by asking him to stay to supper. You told her to call him up and tell him she would have to cancel the date as she had decided to wash her hair instead. I thought you were crazy. But it was during my unpopular days and I began to read your column religiously. Crazy like a fox. I could write a bookful on these stalling Romeos. Many a time I have used that "washing my hair" to get a tumble! It's a great game once you know the signals, Dolores!

ANOTHER ONE-TIME FLOP.

$245 in Jewels Lost On Move to New Home

Moving day for Mrs. Emma L. Waldecker, Chapin street near Fourteenth street northwest, proved unexpectedly expensive yesterday, when she lost a platinum setting diamond ring, valued at $200 and a wrist watch and gold bracelet, valued at $45.

Mrs. Waldecker told police that she believes the property was stolen. She was moving from one apartment house to another on the same street.

Walson's Widow Chief Beneficiary.

Mrs. Zoe Weaver Walson, widow of George O. Walson, Washington banker, receives the main portion of his estate, according to a petition for probate of the will. Charles F. Walson, a son; Mrs. Veryl Walson Ligon, a daughter, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Bube, each are to receive shares in the Liberty National Bank.

Jane Interprets the MODE

A smart morning suit in brown and beige jersey, with gilet of yellow shantung and yellow buttons. (Courtesy of Patou, Paris.)

Paris, April 2.

THERE are more and more gloves! Couturiers and glove designers have let their fancy run free this season. The very decorative glove, studded with brilliants, for instance, began to sparkle last year, with the return of the mode for gloves in the evening. These, you who have taste may choose, but to wear only with the most severely simple dress.

Many newer models are "different," charmingly festive, and yet have the sobriety indispensable to true elegance. These often depend for effect merely on the combination of two materials. For instance, what I considered a very smart model had the hand in black glace kid, and above the wrist was incrusted black antelope. This idea was very clever because the soft velvety material comes just where we want the glove to wrinkle smartly, and the hand being in kid is much less fragile than the black antelope, as we all know.

Another bit of "newness" I have noticed, namely, that the vogue for stitching has spread from frock to glove. A pretty example of this I saw in a shop in the Faubourg St. Honore. It was of sixteen-button height and in all the evening pastel shades, and was sprayed from wrist to top by a graceful stitched-in design. This was a charming variant from the utterly plain long glove, and yet not too assertive to wear with an elaborate gown.

* * * *

Do you want to make the swellest bloomer you ever saw? From just exactly one yard of material—with a bias seam that gives you plenty of sit-down room, but not a single extra ruffle or gather around the hips when you're not sitting down, because it is all cut on the bias? Well, to do all of this all you have to do is to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make it. Using this perfectly marvelous pattern as a base, you can make a whole flock of new panties for your summer dresses, each one different and delightful, and each one completely "disappearant," under your summer dress!

* * * *

A dress of one color, and collars and cuffs of two different colors, is a slick way to safely get away with the more-than-one-color-idea of the mode. I suggest for a black dress collars and cuffs of half yellow and half green, or blue and rose, or white with any other one vivid color.

* * * *

I've told you before that Patou designs were a little hard to draw, because they are so terrifically smart that there's nothing spectacular about them which would look interesting in pen and ink. For instance, the suit that I have illustrated for you today in brown and beige jersey—it was so terribly smart with its shantung gilet in yellow! In the center is the jacket, jersey of course, and at the right is the back of the dress as it looked under the gilet. I wish I could do it in colors for you!

* * * *

Evening modes, the molded hips, the proper gloves, &c., are discussed in Dare's weekly fashion letter in Sunday's Post. Do look for it!

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF April 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 1 p. m. to 3:15 p. m., from 5:30 p. m. to 6:45 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 7:10 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

A very inspiring day is predicted by the planetary aspects of April 3, a day of promise and emotion. If you allow the feelings that surge within you to control your actions, if you are not afraid, then success is assured. A happy issue out of all their troubles lies within the reach of all.

Children born on this April 3 will be venturesome to the point of recklessness, forceful and positive. They will be stubborn, upright and exacting, more fitted to an outdoor life than that of a sedentary nature. Their affections will be strong and vigorous, like their natures.

You are a very busy, active person if born on April 3. You never are still, and dislike to see others idling. You are always on the go, but frequently accomplish less than those who move more slowly. Continued and varying activity does not promote concentration. Whenever a difficult problem presents itself, you tackle it in an energetic manner, even when slow thinking is necessary for its solution. The result is that you work around in circles and never find the correct answer. Thought, without accompanying action, is impossible to one of your nervous disposition.

Success and failure will characterize your life and, only in later years, will you acquire that degree of calm and absence of flurry that makes the most of opportunities. You are a good talker, but your words often outrun your thoughts, and you revert to the use of "speech padding"—the use of unnecessary phrases to express the same thought. You are too satisfied with small successes, as, with your ability, you could accomplish much more than mediocre achievements. Your judgment of events and persons is not very reliable. You are too much influenced by environmnt or externals. Your love nature is strong and tempestuous, therefore you crave something more than the placid.

Successful people born April 3:

Lorenzo Snow, Mormon preacher and missionary.
Edward Everett Hale, clergyman and author.
John Burroughs, naturalist.
H. C. "Bud" Fisher, cartoonist.
Margaret Anglin, actress.
Reginald DeKoven, composer.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

DO NOT FORGET YOUR ASTER SEED.

SO many persons growing asters for the first time sow the seed in the open border in the middle of May. This is a perfectly correct procedure if you want late flowers, but if you want early blossoms do let me urge you to sow at least a part of the seeds in flats (shallow boxes) some time this month.

By early sowing you will be assured of blooms from July until late September or October, which will be much better than having the first buds unfold in late August, as will happen if you postpone sowing until late May.

Where the seeds have germinated and the tiny seedlings show their third leaf you must either thin them out or transplant them. This will give each plant a splendid chance for individual development before being transplanted to the open border. Seeds sown in the house have such fine constitutions that you need have no fear about setting them out in the open about the middle of May. They will, after such a good start, be quite able to take care of themselves.

The remaining part of the aster seed, on which you depend for late flowers, when sown in the garden must be sown with care. First, select a bed where the soil is most friable, and pulverize it to as fine a substance as possible. Sow the seeds thinly in rows at least one foot apart, and after distributing the seeds press the soil down quite firmly about them.

These young seeds will come up faster and more surely if you protect them from the strong rays of the sun for a few days. The matter of proper shading isn't a difficult one. All that is necessary is to drive a post in each corner of the bed to extend about one foot above the ground, and then spread muslin or cheesecloth over the points of the posts. Water your aster seeds every morning, using the finest nozzle of the watering can. I recommend a fine spray so you will not disturb the seeds. If your carry out these suggestions I can not imagine a failure.

Should the coming months be unusually dry, be sure to water your asters every day.

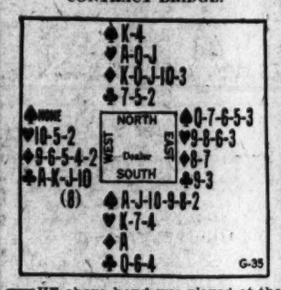
WORK ON BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE.



THE above hand was played at the tournament of the American Bridge League at Cleveland. The Contract bidding at most tables was: South two Spades, West pass, North four Diamonds, East pass, South four Spades; but at some North bid four Spades on the first round, and at others South bid one Spade, West two Clubs, North three Diamonds, South three Spades and North four Spades.

Had it been played at Auction, the bidding probably would have been: South one Spade, West two Clubs, North two Diamonds, East pass and South two Spades, which would obtain the contract; or North might have called two Spades instead of two Diamonds.

In the play West led the King of Clubs and, East playing the Nine, followed with the Ace. When East completed his signal by playing the Trey, West led the Eight of Clubs and East ruffed.

East then led the Eight of Diamonds, hoping that his partner had the Ace, but South won and to trick 5 led the Jack of Spades which North took with the King and returned a Spade. South finessing and of course winning the trick.

South now was left with the Ace-Ten-Nine-Deuce of Spades and East with the Queen-Seven. At some tables South conceded a Spade to East and consequently was set. At others the hand was played out, but South, not mastering the double grand coup, failed to make game. At the tables at which South starred, the last seven tricks were played as follows:

Trick 7 won by North with the Jack of Hearts; trick 8 North leads the King of Diamonds and South, starting the double grand coup, unnecessarily ruffs with the Deuce of Spades; trick 9 North wins with the Queen of Hearts; trick 10 North leads the Queen of Diamonds which South unnecessarily ruffs with the Nine of Spades; trick 11 South leads the King of Hearts, overtaking in the North hand with the Ace, and then is in position to lead through East's Queen-Seven of Spades. South with the Ace-Ten of Spades of course takes both tricks.

YOUR NAME

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Carroll" has come down to us as the shortened form of the Irish "O Cearbhaill" (the descendant of Cearbhail) and "Mac Cearbhail" (the son of Cearbhail). The personal name "Cearbhail" is the Celtic equivalent of the Latin "Carolus," English "Carl" and "Charles," Spanish "Carlos," Italian "Carlo," French "Charles" and German "Karl." The ultimate source of all these forms is the Germanic "Karalas," which may be translated "the man" and "the warrior." The family name "Carroll" has been borne by a great many distinguished families in Ireland. It was the name of a famous family of musicians in Ulster. In Germany some of the commonest family names which may be traced back to the personal name "Karalas" are "Karl," "Karle," "Karel," "Carels" and "Kardel."

In England since the time of William the Conqueror a great race for popularity has been run between the two personal names "William" and "John." Although "William" has held second place at various times, it is now far in the lead. Since personal names have so frequently developed into family names, it is not surprising that "Williams" (the son of William) is now so commonly found. Since the time of the Hundred Rolls it is found recorded in every important list of English names. "William" is of Teutonic origin and may be translated "beloved helmet" or "beloved protector." The French equivalent of this name is "Guillaume." "Guillaume" and its numerous derived forms are as common in France as are "William," "Williams" and "Williamson" in England. The commonest German forms are "Wilhelm," "Wilhalm," "Wilhelms" and "Willems."

The personal name "Sally" is a pet form of "Sarah." "Sarah" is ultimately of Hebrew origin and means "princess."

DISEASES OF MEN AND WOMEN.

In Dr. Draper's informing book called "Disease and the Man" the following information is given as to distribution between males and females of 41 diseases. Diseases to which males are especially subject, with some estimate on the degree of disproportion, are: Pneumonia, 50 to 1; cerebrospinal meningitis, excess among males slight; amebic dysentery, 15 to 1; poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis), slight excess; diabetes, 3 to 2; gout, 46 to 1; scurvy, great excess; gastric ulcer, 4 or 5 to 1; acute pancreatitis, mostly among males; bronchial asthma, excess in males; serofibrinous pleurisy, 4.8 to 1; pernicious anemia, 2 to 1; leucemia, more often; Hodgkin's disease, more often; tetany, 2 to 1; hemophilia, a disease of males; angina pectoris, 6 to 1; Addison's disease, more often; Banti's disease, more often; alcoholism, 6 to 1; tabes, 10 to 1; paresis, much more; progressive brain paralysis, more often; syringomyelia, 2.3 to 1; cerebral hemorrhage, excess among males. And also coloboma, color blindness, night blindness, nystagmus, fish skin, and webbed feet.

On the other hand, the female of the species pays disproportionate toll to certain diseases, the disparity being indicated as follows: Diphtheria, slight excess; influenza, 2 to 1; whooping cough, 1.25 to 1; rheumatic fever, considerable excess; tonsilitis, slight excess; pellagra, slight excess; obesity, considerable excess; gallstones, 3 or 5 to 1; movable kidney, 7 to 1; chlorosis, a disease of women; exopthalmic goitre, 6 or 8 to 1; Myxedema, 6 to 1; hyperthyroidism, 12.5 to 1; acromegaly, more frequent; multiple sclerosis, more frequent; combined sclerosis, more frequent; Korsakoff's syndrome, 2 to 1; chorea, 2.4 to 1; purpura hemorrhagia, 4 or 5 to 1; migraine, 6 to 1; Raynaud's disease, 1.5 to 1; arthritis deformans, 4.4 to 1; hysteria, 7 to 1. Females are rather more susceptible to the infection of childhood and to disorders of such ductless glands as the thyroid and the pituitary.

On the whole, females have lower death rates and are rather better insurance risks than are males. There seems to be a something in the cells of the female which, somehow or other, makes her get a firmer hold on life than is the case with her combatant in the great conflict of the sexes.

CURE DEPENDS ON ILLS.

O. L. writes:

1. Is there any difference between rheumatism, neuritis and arthritis?

2. I am 41 years old, and have had a pain in my left shoulder and arm for one year. Is it curable?

REPLY.

1. There is. Arthritis is an inflammation of a joint. Rheumatism is a loosely used term. Among the kinds of arthritis are several which are said to be rheumatic. Neuritis is an inflammation of a nerve. There is another term in use. It is neuralgia, meaning an ache in a nerve which is not due to neuritis.

2. It should be. Such pains may be due to aniflamed bursa located near the shoulder, to pressure on a nerve in the neck or around the shoulder, to arthritis, or to neuritis. The cure depends on the nature of the trouble. Most such cases are cured.

MARYLAND PASSES PARK BOND MEASURE

Pact Giving Prince Georges Power to Sell $800,000 Issues Favored.

Despite opposition of the Republican members of the Prince Georges County delegation in the State Legislature, the bill to authorize the county to sell $800,000 worth of bonds for the development of parks has passed both houses. No further bar to enactment of the bill is seen, as the governor has not opposed it.

The bill authorizes Montgomery County to sell $1,200,000 worth of bonds for parks, and allows Prince Georges to sell $800,000 whenever the county commissioners see fit. Under terms of the bill, the offer of the Federal Government to help in establishing the park system will be taken advantage of. The Federal Government will give $400,000 to Prince Georges and the State is also expected to aid the project.

The opposition of Delegates Oliver Metzerott and Richard Zantsinger, Republicans, appeared after an amendment they offered to the bill was rejected. They asked that it be provided that a four-fifths vote of the commissioners would be necessary to issue the bonds. On the present board, the Democrats have only three of the five members, so that the present board could not authorize the bonds.

A delegation from the county had previously asked that the bill be amended to provide for a referendum on the bond issue, but no action on this request was taken. Under this law and the Federal legislation, the entire amount for parks in the county, $1,200,000, could be borrowed from the Federal Government and only $800,000 would be returned. This amount would not have to be repaid for eight years.

Temporary abolition of the county police force for two months appeared inevitable yesterday when a letter was sent to members of the force by James S. Heal, clerk to the board of commissioners, instructing them to turn in their uniforms on Monday.

The present police law is being repealed so that it will not conflict with the new legislation which goes into effect on June 1. Appointees under the present law would hold office for two years, so that no appointments are being extended or new ones made. Also, persons appointed under the present law could not be removed by the commissioners, although the new bill will give the board this power.

Policemen who will lose their official status at midnight Monday are Claude Reese, Frank Prince, H. G. Machen and H. V. Nichols. Reese and Prince were on a list of nominations sent to the commissioners by Sheriff W. C. Hopkins, to be appointed under the old law.

The new law enlarges the force from six men to eleven, and puts it under a separate chief. Formerly the sheriff was also chief of police. Under the new law, two police stations, at Hyattsville and at Marlboro, will remain open 24 hours.

The Northwest Branch, which supplies most of the water used in this area, is now back at its normal flow and, if rainfall is now unusually low, it will not be necessary to take water from the District again. However, the four connections put in during the drought last summer remain in place. There are two at Chevy Chase Circle, one on Georgia avenue and one on Rhode Island avenue.

The reservoir at Burnt Mills is full, although approximately 3,500,000 gallons are taken from it daily. During the summer, according to Mr. Bowman, the drain on the reservoir will increase to about 5,000,000 gallons. Normal precipitation, however, will enable the Maryland system to handle demands made upon it.

The bill authorizing the Park and Planning Commission to draw up and enforce a building code for Prince Georges County has passed the House of Delegates of Maryland and has been sent to the State Senate.

While the fate of the bill is not known, it is likely that it will be passed, as no organized opposition to it has appeared. It may, however, die in the final jam in the Senate, which seems likely. The bill authorized the commission to appoint a building inspector to enforce the provisions of the code.

More than 800 pieces of property in the county have either been sold for taxes or turned over to the county, according to the report of R. Ernest Smith, retiring treasurer. Brice Bowie, who was elected to this office last fall, took office Wednesday.

More than 750 of the delinquent tax properties were turned over to the county, the rest being purchased by private individuals. Originally, the list contained 1,860 names when it was published on January 1. Payment of taxes, however, reduced it.

The tax sale was held on March 2, and owners have two years to redeem their property by paying back taxes and the penalty. The report of the treasurer's office for the last fiscal year will be presented to the county commissioners at their meeting next week.

Recent rains having replenished the source from which the Suburban Sanitary Commission draws its water, for the first time in nearly a year nearby Maryland is being supplied entirely through its own system.

Since February the commission has been reducing the amount of water it took from Washington mains until the aid has been cut off. The change has been gradual and apparently has not been noticed by users of water. No complaints have been received since the change, according to J. Darby Bowman, secretary to the commission.

No police court will be held in Marlboro today, in observance of Good Friday. Cases scheduled to be heard today will be postponed until next Friday. Most of the other county offices, however, will remain open.

For the second successive year, Prince Georges has the highest school attendance record in the State, according to the annual report of the State school system. Last year their record of 91 per cent was 3 per cent above that of Baltimore, their nearest rival.

This year Allegany was second on the list, though Prince Georges still led by a comfortable margin. While not highest in average attendance, the average length of term is longer in the county, bringing up the local record.

Funeral services will be held today at 1 o'clock at F. Gasch's Sons funeral parlors for Harry A. Cooper, who dropped dead in Hyattsville Tuesday as he was leaving his hardware store. Death was due to heart disease.

After the services, the body will be buried in Greenmont Cemetery, in Baltimore. Mr. Cooper's native city. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maye A. Cooper, and one married daughter.

ROCKNE'S BODY LIES IN STATE AS HONOR GUARD STANDS WATCH of Control. The Rev. Father Steiner, C. S. C., will serve as deacon and the Rev. Father Raymond Murch, prefect of discipline, will serve as subdeacon.

The funeral sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Father Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of Notre Dame.

A solemn High Requiem will be held for students at 9 a. m. next Thursday. The list of active and honorary pallbearers had not been completed.

Family Bearing Up Well.

Mrs. Rockne and her four children tonight bore up under the strain reasonably well. She was still shocked but like her famous husband, she refused to give in. She intended to be brave until the last.

A guard of honor stood watch over their dead leader's body tonight at the funeral home. Starting at 1 p. m. today, the guard, in pairs of two, all members of the Notre Dame Monogram Club, started their watch. The first two watchers were two of Rockne's greatest stars of the undefeated 1929-1930 teams, Frank Carideo and Marchmont Schwartz.

This was the order of their watch:

1 to 3 p. m., Schwartz and Carideo.

3 to 5 p. m., Al Culver and Joe Lauerman.

5 to 7 p. m., Roy Abilie and Haskell Askew.

7 to 9 p. m., Ed Kosky and Al Howard.

9 to 11 p. m., Car Cronin and Charles Palt.

11 p. m. to 1 a. m. Friday, Alex Wilson and Brandt Little.

1 a. m. to 3 a. m. Friday, Gene Howrey and Ralph Johnson.

3 to 5 a. m., Clarence Donovan and Larry Mullins.

5 to 7 a. m., William Jones and Ed Engeland.

7 to 9 a. m., Culver and Art Bradley.

Walsh Talks for Crowd.

The guard will follow through the watch on that time schedule until the body is lowered into the grave.

Adam Walsh, captain of the "four horsemen," conveyed the spirit of hundreds.

"We realize at last that he has gone," Walsh reflected. "We all are broken-hearted and still stunned, but satisfied that God is watching over him. He wouldn't want us to weep and we are trying to keep a stiff upper lip. We must and will be brave."

Among the thousands, who were in South Bend or on their way, were officials of the United States Army and Navy, football coaches from East, West, North and South, such as Jimmie Phelan, of Washington; Charles "Chick" Meehan, of New York University; Judge Walter Steffen, of Carnegie Tech, all the coaches of the Big Ten and Big Ten Athletic Commissioner John L. Griffith. Hundreds of other sports, civic and political leaders awaited final funeral arrangements before starting.

Flags flew at half-staff in South Bend tonight and all meetings of clubs, set for today or tonight, were called off. By resolution of the council, all business will be suspended on the day of the funeral.

Will Rogers Tearfully Pays Tribute to Rockne

Los Angeles, April 2 (A.P.).—A comedian with tears streaming from his eyes stood at a luncheon table here today and for 25 minutes told jokes about Knute Rockne. If "Rock," from his distant Valhalla saw this odd memorial service it is certain it met with his full approval.

The comedian was not on the program of speakers at a memorial luncheon by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce for the great coach, who was to have been the principal speaker at the regular assembly today. He was in the rear of the room when the toastmaster spied him and asked him to say a few words in memory of his friend of many years' standing.

Will Rogers, wiping his eyes, stood for a full minute without saying a word. And then:

"When a comedian is sad, it is terrible.

"But after all, comedy and sentiment are not very far apart."

California Indebted to Rockne.

"It's hard that the death of a great man has to give a luncheon club its only legitimate excuse for meeting."

Quickly turning to football, Rogers said no part of the United States appreciated Rockne more than did southern California.

"We owe him more than he could know. His last football game was played in Los Angeles last December and it kept us from contracting the worst case of swell head the world has ever known. He cured us in a business-like fashion when Notre Dame licked Southern California. If Rock's boys hadn't won that game we would have thought every man east of the Mississippi was anemic."

The speaker said Rockne not only was a football coach standing in a class alone, but "could do everything."

"He was the best after-dinner speaker we had. I would have hated to have to follow him. He told me many stories in my dressing room. I got 'em for nothing and then retold 'em and collected. If there were anybody I owed royalties to it was Rock."

There was no sense of the incongruous as the jokester's quips sent his 300-odd hearers into gales of laughter. Rogers knew and the men listening knew that Rock would have had it so.

$5,000 Verdict Given In Falling Plaster Case

A verdict of $5,000 was given Pauline Needle by a jury in Justice Jennings Bailey's court yesterday when testimony was offered that she had suffered permanent scars on her face because of being hit by falling plaster.

The jury was told that while walking in the hallway of her apartment home on Thirty-fourth street northwest, March 14, 1930, Miss Needle was struck by plaster that fell from the ceiling. Attorneys Hawken and Hazel appeared for Miss Needle.

You either feel GOOD or you don't

Chief Connally had both these experiences

"I FELT weak and rundown. My color showed that my blood was very pale. I suffered from poor circulation. A Pathological Laboratory made a test of my blood, and the examination showed it to be 33% below normal. It was then that I decided to take a course of S.S.S.

"In about six weeks' time, after taking S.S.S. regularly; I had another blood test made, and it showed that my blood had been restored to normal. My appetite was greatly improved; so much so, that I could eat pork, and the like, without any discomfort. And to my surprise, my skin and complexion became clear as almost new, and like a child's.

"I think S.S.S. is the most wonderful blood medicine and tonic of its kind on the market today. It has so improved my circulation and the condition of my blood that it has made me feel like a young man again, although I am 56 years old."

BANKERS TO DEBATE FINANCING OF REALTY

Mortgage Group Is to Cover Field During Dallas Session.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A forward view into the financing of real estate will be the central theme of the Mortgage Bankers Association convention, to be held at Dallas, Tex., October 27-29. The convention keynote, "Future Trends in Mortgage Banking," was decided recently at a meeting of the association's board of governors in Chicago.

According to J. B. Sleeper, of Topeka, Kans., president of the association, the convention will bring together 500 officials of insurance, banking and mortgage companies, offering an opportunity to study from every angle the future development of mortgage lending.

"First mortgages on city real estate and farms are fundamentally the same conservative investments that they have always been," he states. "On the whole, they have stood up remarkably well during a severe testing period, when real estate operations have expanded to an extent never before imagined possible."

"In our field of finance," he concludes, "we have witnessed over the past ten years a number of changes in organization, policies and methods. Out of the investment and banking groups that will gather in Dallas in October, it will be helpful to summarize and evaluate experiences of the past decade and plan together the policies which will assure sound mortgage banking the next era of business prosperity.

Business Machines' Profits.

Profits of International Business Machines Corporation for January and February, after Federal taxes, were more than 5 per cent in excess of those for the corresponding 1930 months, continuing the growth which made earnings for the 1930 years the largest in the company's history, Thomas J. Watson, president of the company, has reported.

"Based on information gathered by our representatives in all parts of the United States and abroad," Mr. Watson added, "there are unmistakable indications of business improvement which should shortly be reflected in a better demand for merchandise of all kinds."

Annuities on Increase.

The Fidelity Investment Association reports volume of annuities written for February totaled $4,272,000, compared with $3,430,000 for the same month of 1930, an increase of $842,000. For the first two months of the year new business amounted to $8,572,000, compared with $7,290,000 for the corresponding two months of 1930, an increase of $1,282,000. Resources were $26,183,797 on March 24, compared with $25,047 as of January 1, a gain of $1,136,673.

D. A. Burt, president of the association, in summarizing results for 1930 points out that new annuity business placed on the books reached $47,858,000, an increase of more than $10,000,000 over 1929. Total maturity value of business on the books at the end of the year was $191,130,000, establishing a new high record.

New York, April 2 (A.P.).—Despite a decrease of 34.6 per cent in net sales, General Motors Corporation was able to increase its cash position by $51,685,541 during the depressed year of 1930. The pamphlet report issued today disclosed that cash, including United States Government and other marketable securities, as of December 31 last, totaled $179,037,071, compared with $127,351,530 at the end of 1929.

Net sales, excluding intercompany and interdivisional transactions, amounted to $983,375,137, as decreased from the $1,504,404,472 for 1929. Net earnings, as previously reported, were $151,098,992, equal to $3.25 a share on the common stock, compared with $248,282,268, or $5.49 a common share, in 1929.

New Short-Haul Rates Rejected by Steel Men

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 2 (A.P.).—Steel and iron interests of the producing territory east of the Mississippi River today rejected reduced short haul freight rates on iron and steel products offered by carriers serving that area, if acceptance implied also revision of rates within switching districts, as suggested by the carriers.

Action was taken at a joint hearing on the proposed rates called by the Trunk Line Association, New York, and the Central Freight Traffic Association, Chicago, representing the carriers. Presenting objections were traffic managers of steel plants in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Delaware.

New York Rediscount Rate Is Not Changed

New York, April 2 (A.P.).—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York today announced no change in its rediscount rate of 2 per cent.

15 CONVICTED MEN HEAR TERMS GIVEN

Probation Is Recommended and Extended in Most of Cases Before Gordon.

Fifteen men were brought before Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday for the weekly "sentence session." In the majority of the cases his honor permitted the probation officer to recommend probation, in which he concurred.

Three Negroes, George Buck, Sterling A. Reed and Preston Henry, all were given two years of probation. The former was charged with receiving stolen property, and the other two robbery. Charles K. Lohr got a year for taking an automobile.

Dudley Lyles got three years for housebreaking, while Willie McKoy and James Bankhead were sentenced for three years for housebreaking. Lynwood Booker, who was with Bankhead and McKoy, was sentenced for four years. Snowden Norris, Negro, got a term of eighteen months for carnal knowledge.

Two young boys, Carl J. Simton and Charles H. Quinn, who pleaded guilty to permitting gaming, drew light sentences. Simonton was sentenced for 90 days and placed on probation, while Quinn was given 90 days. James A. Stewart was sentenced for three years for housebreaking, and George Tucker and Spencer Anderson were given the same term for the same charge in another case.

Horace I. Lancaster, convicted of snatching a pocketbook, was sentenced for three years.

CLIENT AND LAWYER FACE INDICTMENTS

Jury Holds R. W. Corridon and R. A. Harman, Accused in Bankruptcy Case.

Raymond W. Corridon, a bankrupt plumbing contractor, and Richard A. Harman, an attorney with offices in the Munsey Building, were named in two indictments returned by the grand jury yesterday.

One indictment charges both with violation of the national bankruptcy act, and the other charges both with conspiracy, while in a third indictment Mr. Harman is charged with perjury.

The concealment of $320 from Charles E. Quigley, trustee for the Corridon bankruptcy, on December 18, 1929, is charged in the first indictment, while the second indictment charges that between September 1, 1929, and the time of filing of the indictment, Harman and Corridon conspired to conceal loans made by Corridon to other persons. These loans totaled $728.25. The two also failed, the indictment says, to advise the trustee of accounts due the bankrupt totaling $1,220. "Overt acts" are charged in the return.

The perjury indictment against Harmon charges him with stating in an affidavit that he had not received compensation from Corridon when he had been paid $450 for services to be rendered in connection with the bankruptcy, it was asserted.

TWO ARE INDICTED IN OHIO PRISON FIRE

Face Death in Electric Chair Near Park in Which 320 Victims Were Laid.

Columbus, Ohio, April 2 (A.P.).—Two convicts who confessed they fired Ohio Penitentiary a year ago, resulting in the loss of 320 lives, were indicted late today by the Franklin County grand jury for first degree murder. The prisoners, Clinton Grate, a Virginian, and Hugh Gibson, a Philadelphian, will also die behind the prison walls if convicted—in the electric chair.

Three indictments, each containing two counts and naming three prisoners who died in the fire, were returned by the grand jury. Action of the jury was delayed while the "corpus delecti" was established. Finally Prosecutor Donald Hoskins selected three Columbus men to be named in the indictments as the murder victims—Howard Brashear, who was serving fifteen years for a series of auto thefts; Benjamin Scanlon and Robert Stone, life termers.

Conviction on any one count in the indictments carries a penalty of death in the electric chair—death in the little red house in the prison yard under the east wall, and within 100 feet of the spacious lawn on which the 320 prisoners' bodies were laid the night of the fire.

The corpus delecti was proven by Mrs. Brashear, who told the jury she had positively identified the body of her husband.

Grate and Gibson were in the Franklin Countyq Jail here tonight. They were removed from the penitentiary before the confessions were made public, for prison officials feared other convicts, incensed by the deaths of fellow prisoners, would kill them.

POST-ZAIN Ad Writing Contest Open to EVERYONE

EVERY day the attention of the average reader is attracted to advertisements which appear on the pages of The Washington Post. He reads these ads and is influenced to purchase merchandise, for which he pays. In The Washington Post-Zain ad-writing contest the game is reversed. Every one, everywhere, is asked to write advertisements. Because The Washington Post believes that your viewpoint on advertising is important, and because we want others to know just what you are thinking, we will pay $10,000 for your ideas during the seven weeks of writing in the Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest.

As a reader of advertising you know what message will cause you to stop turning the pages of a magazine and read. You know what arouses your interest so that you read on. Then if the appeal is convincing you make up your mind to go right down to "So and So's"—and buy. Try your ads out on yourself. If your ideas will sell you, then you can be sure that they will impress others and probably win a prize.

Before writing an ad, consider just what an advertisement is. It is a message directed to the reading public, with the intent to sell either merchandise, an institution or an idea. It may tell a story, paint a picture or be the embodiment of sales appeal. But whatever it does, it commands your attention; it arouses your interest; it creates desire; carries conviction and compels action.

You will get a real thrill from your ideas. Poems, slogans, testimonials, letters and regular advertisements are acceptable. You will enjoy the fun of seeing your ads and those of your friends in print. You will have the opportunity to prove your own ability. Your ideas will grow as you write, for the Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest is educational and stimulating mentally. The $10,000 should be a powerful incentive in encouraging you to demonstrate your skill.

An Educational Contest for Amateurs That Is Stimulating, Interesting and Profitable

Write all the ads you can. The Post-Zain ad-writing contest is for amateurs only. Professional advertising writers and newspaper employes are not eligible to write and compete in this ad contest. There is no red tape, no coupons to clip, no entrance fee to pay, nothing to buy, no labels to save. Begin writing ads Sunday.

The final announcement, with rules and the names and addresses of the firms cooperating and about whom you are asked to write, will appear in the Sunday issue of The Post. Write your ideas about one or all of these firms. Send your ads to the ZAIN AD CONTEST EDITOR, in care of The Washington Post. Be ready to start when the word is given.

Here's How to Share in the Prizes

Prizes are given for ideas, not for grammar, spelling, punctuation, art work or layout.

Your ideas are likely to be new and original; your idea may win one or more prizes.

If you are not familiar with the advertisers about whom you are asked to write ads, study their service and merchandise, visit their shops, ask questions, and then jot down your ideas simply. Be brief and to the point.

If you can write a letter, you can write an ad. Get members of your family and your friends interested. Encourage them to write winning ads.

The Story in a Nutshell

Every reader of The Washington Post, daily and Sunday, is invited to enter the Zain Ad-Writing Contest for amateurs and compete for $10,000 in cash and merchandise prizes.

FIRST GRAND PRIZE

$1,000 will be given in cash for the best ad to be submitted by an amateur in the seven weeks of ad writing in The Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest. To compete for this prize it is necessary to write one ad about each of the participating concerns.

WEEKLY PRIZES

$100 in cash will be given for the best ad written during each of the six weeks in the Post-Zain Contest. To compete for this prize you may write as many ads as you wish—one or more.

More than 1,000 prizes will be given during the contest.

The Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest will close at midnight, May 25th.

You may enter at any time during the seven writing weeks of the contest. To share in the prizes write for one or all of the concerns.

Rally at Close Leaves Prices Again Lower; Utilities Weakest.

New York, April 2 (A.P.).—Active short covering in the last hour came to the rescue of a heavy stock market today, but even with the rally final prices averaged again lower.

Bear operators went busily about their selling after the effects of a first-hour rally had worn off, and succeeded in getting most of the pivotal stocks to new lows for the reaction. Because tomorrow is a holiday, and also because, the short position was getting uncomfortably crowded, professionals did some back tracking toward the end of the fourth hour and prices picked up rapidly. There was, however, a renewal of selling pressure at the close. Sales totaled 2,500,000 shares.

Utilities showed the severest group weakness. Rails were irregular, oils and motors dull. Steels reacted under the leadership of U. S. Steel, which touched its old low of 137⅞, but refused to break through that resistance level. It was off a point net.

Pool Favorites Weaken.

Recent pool favorites weakened rather consistently. International Telephone, Electric Power & Light and American & Foreign Power lost 2 points, Worthington Pump and Vanadium, and Consolidated Gas and United Aircraft a point. Allied Chemical's net loss of nearly 5 put it well into new low ground. Pullman was sold on the February statement, which showed a deficit from its transportation business. Warner Bros. and Fox were soft.

U. S. Industrial Alcohol, which had been expecting some unfavorable dividend action, rallied when the directors reduced to a $2 basis. Air Reduction, owning a substantial block of Alcohol, also recovered, but not before it had sold at a new low. Net changes in Bethlehem Steel, Radio, American Telephone, American Can, Westinghouse and General Electric were nominal, although the down side was favored. New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio improved.

Bonds were a little steadier, selling of U. S. Government securities dried up and some of the recently depressed domestic rails firmd. Commodities eased slightly, the most important development being the ½-cent loss in bar silver.

Drop in Loans Unnoticed.

News of interest to the market was scarce. An official estimate on April automobile production, placing the total at around 350,000 units against earlier predictions of 400,000, fitted into the picture drawn by yesterday's steel reviews, which had attributed the decline in operations largely to smaller orders from the automotive companies.

The $33,000,000 drop in brokers' loans, the largest loss since late in January, attracted little attention in view of the stock market's decided downward course during the past week. Federal Reserve statements reflected preparations for the month-end. There was a rise of $85,000,000 in the amount of reserve credit outstanding, which had been at a new low.

Foreign exchanges were about steady, although the French franc sagged to within ¼ point of the quotation at which gold could be profitably shipped from Paris to New York. France has already lost some gold to Germany. Additions to her supply of the metal have been decreasing for the last two months and exportations to other capitals in the near future would not be surprising.

Net changes in wheat showed futures off ½ cent to ⅛ higher. Trading was influenced by a bearish Kansas report and large South American exports. Corn lost moderate fractions, largely on European selling. Cotton sagged 6 to 8 points.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 2 (A.P.).—Forced down by big selling in corn and oats, all grains fell to new bottom levels today, corn to the lowest since 1922. Some of the principal owners of corn and oats future deliveries were reported letting go of their holdings, a maneuver to put a stop to losses. The chief apparent motive was likelihood of much enlarged corn acreage for the 1931 crop.

Despite last-minute rallies, corn closed nervous, ⅛@⅝ cent lower, wheat varying from ⅞ off to ⅛ up, oats ⅛@½ down and provisions at 2 cents to 7 cents decline.

It was a field day for bears, with unsettlement of the securities market a contributing factor. Except for the outlook that 1931 corn acreage would be increased, and that demand for corn this season had fallen far below expectation owing to substitute use of other feeds, the news about corn was distinctly bullish. Nevertheless, commission houses were persistent sellers. A more active shipping demand here for corn was ignored, and so, too, were statements by a leading authority that from a statistical standpoint the corn supply situation was much stronger than at the beginning of the season.

Late rallies in corn and other grains were attributed mainly to buying for previous speculative sellers who were preparing for tomorrow's holiday and were evening up accounts. Confidence of wheat bulls especially had been undermined early by word that vessel chartering in Russian southern ports had again become active. It tended to offset figures showing that domestic receipts both of wheat and corn were being curtailed and that a good export demand for Canadian wheat continued.

Only a transient stimulus for wheat bulls resulted from reports of early emergence of grasshoppers in half a dozen States, notably South Dakota and Missouri, the earliest ever known in Missouri.

Oats went lower with corn despite the best shipping demand for oats in some time.

STRENGTH IS SHOWN BY FOREIGN ISSUES

Railway Bonds Are Better in Tone, but Activity Is Sporadic.

New York, April 2 (A.P.).—Strength in foreign obligations and a firmer tone in railroad issues featured the bond market today.

The advance in foreign issues was tempered by lower prices in a number of the more active bonds. Brazilian obligations, for instance, were generally lower. Argentine, Colombian, German, governmental and corporate; Norwegian and Peruvian bonds closed higher in most instances.

Issues of the United States Government provided no surprises such as appeared in the late trading of yesterday. The trend of prices in this group was narrowly lower and the volume was restricted.

Evidence of the better tone in railroad issues appeared in such bonds as Boston & Maine 5s of 1955, Chicago Great Western 4s, Cleveland Union Terminal 5½s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Series F, G and I; Southern Pacific 4½s of 1977 and the 4½s of 1968 which closed higher after active trading. New York Central 4½s of 2013, the recently floated issue, were again active, sales of them approximating $500,000, at steady prices. A number of rail issues lost further ground but many of the latter were the less representative and less active bonds.

The conduct of much of the rest of the market continued as it has been recently. A definite price trend was not apparent and activity was sporadic.

American Woolen Co. will retire on June 1 $8,500,000 of 6½ per cent notes of the Webster Mills, a subsidiary, at 101. The directors of the Hawaiian Pineapple Co., Ltd., have approved the issuance of $5,000,000 of 5 per cent notes, as of April 1, subject to the consent of the stockholders.

NATS, NEARING TOP FORM, BREAK CAMP AT BILOXI

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, April 2—The prize fighters never were so eager to fight as when the law forbade them to do so, and, considering how reluctant they are nowadays, possibly it is time to outlaw the business for another spell. If they don't want to fight, and from their bashful conduct it appears that they do not, then certainly the boys would have no grounds for protest if the Legislatures were to repeal the acts passed for their accommodation legalizing the racket. After all, it was not for the customers that prize fighting was restored to conditional respectability in the years just after the war, but for the pugilists and their managers and the promoters. The customers may have wanted to see prize fights, but the customer never was very articulate, and he just sat and wished there were some prize fights to go to while the political pressure was applied by those who stood to make money out of the business. At any rate, the customer still doesn't see the fights he wants to see, owing to the shy diffidence of the pugilists, so it would make no difference in his condition if the business were illegalized again.

Well do I remember the promises that were made on behalf of the profession in the years between 1919 and 1925, when the various Legislatures were creating a fine distinction between pugilism and porch-climbing, professions which previously had been held to be of synonymous character in a great share of American territory. Philadelphia permitted six-round fights, New Jersey tolerated eight-rounders, Milwaukee and the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul allowed ten-round bouts with decisions, and there was some action in New Orleans, Buffalo, Peoria, Memphis, Fort Smith and a couple of apathetic stations on the West Coast. These places constituted the entire profitable zone of operations and the receipts were modest, so the prize fight trade was going around the country complaining of unfair discrimination and promising to be clean, conscientious and chivalrous if its citizenships were restored.

Various Laws in Various States

One momentous p. m., just after the New York Legislature had passed the Walker law permitting fifteen-round decision fights, there was a very expensive luncheon under the auspices of a paper organization, the first of the boxing clubs of millionaire sportsmen, in honor of Georges Carpentier, who got $3,000 for lending his charming presence as guest. The party was given to celebrate the dawn of a new era of sportsmanship, prosperity and fair dealing, and the keynote of the speeches was a pledge that the champions henceforth would keep the fans uppermost in their thoughts and defend their titles often. The fact that this club soon passed into a state of complete and lugubrious defunctitude with few assets beyond the architect's fantasy is immaterial. The occasion was fraught with the most radiant optimism and the boys of the profession hove up, one by one, as the toastmaster called upon them, to place their hands over their hearts, roll their eyes piously up at the plaster nudes adorning the walls of the banquet room, and swear eternal devotion to the fine principles then and there expounded.

His Honor, James J. Walker, now mayor, then a State senator, the parent of the law, made an inspiring speech. Sweeping the company with a warning glare, he set his chin and said, "I fought for this law because I love clean sport, and I am giving the grand old game back to you clean. And I warn you that the first time any one does anything to besmirch the name of the sport I will be the first one to go before the Legislature and demand that the game be killed again. For (and here his honor wiped away an honest tear) I would rather see this beautiful thing dead by my own hand than defiled by the unsportsmanlike practices of the unscrupulous element."

Walker Made Inspiring Speech

There were loud and prolonged cheers and cries of "Jimmy for President," and some of the boys gazed about them with expressions which, if I read them right, said, "Who, me? I haven't done anything—yet."

This Walker law permitted fifteen-round decision fights, and business was so good that in a little while Pennsylvania raised the limit to ten and Jersey stretched the distance to twelve. Moreover, in Chicago, where the boys had been bootlegging fights as a charity racket, Mr. James (Moon) Mullen, the boss promoter of the time, scraped together some money and kept the key men of the Legislature gloriously plastered on Canadian goods at his own expense, until, to show their gratitude to this prince of sportsmen, they passed a boxing law, too.

But in the last few years prize fighting has forgotten its debt. Basically, the racket is still illegal and only tolerated by special enactments which set aside the original forbiddance.

Larceny set in, and in New York it has been so long since two fighters signed for fifteen rounds that most people have an idea that the law limits the fights to ten. Moreover, the championships were first degraded and then completely withdrawn from competition as the boys began to buy them from one another at private sale, a process which raised the prices to prohibitive figures as each purchaser exacted his profit. The rule of the racket is that no champion shall ever meet his nearest competitor. For his championship bout he selects some novice, some wreck or some mediocrity, and it is rare nowadays that the man who

Berger Drives Home Old Liners' Lone Run at Athens.

2 Sophomore Hurlers Hold Maryland to Six Safeties.

Special to The Washington Post.

ATHENS, Ga., April 2.—Concentrating their fire during the fifth and sixth innings of today's clash, Georgia's Bulldogs of the baseball diamond slugged their way to a 9-1 victory over the Old Liners of Maryland and gained some measure of revenge for the defeat administered their cagers by the Terrapin entry in the Conference Basket Ball Tourney.

The old liners got off to a one-run lead in the first inning, Berger sending Derr home with a smashing double to deep center field.

That lead was matched in the Bulldog half of the same frame and disappeared under the later avalanche. Two in the first, one in the third, a quartet in the fifth, and two in the sixth were hammered out by Bulldog bats.

Extra-Base Hits Count.

Hess and McIlwee, Old Liner pitchers, were touched for but ten hits by the Bulldogs, but many of the lot were for extra bases, and most came in the pinches. Five walks also helped the Bulldogs.

Hamilton and Anderson, a pair of sophomores, held the Liners to six hits and kept them well scattered.

GIRL PITCHER FANS RUTH AND GEHRIG

swinging a club that looked like an abridged totem pole.

Jackie wound up, and Wham! Babe swung from his heels, but the ball landed kerplunk in Kenna's mitt.

Again Jackie spun the ball through, and again Babe almost fell over trying to connect. By this time the crowd was on its toes, howling for the girl pitcher to fan the King of Swat.

And then came the deadliest insult of all. With the count two and none, Jackie sailed one down the midde—a "cripple" if there ever was one—and Babe, caught unawares by the strategy, stood and watched it sail by for a perfect third strike.

You could hear the mob yell 'way down at Biloxi.

Next came Buster Gehrig. He, too, swung thrice, and as many times hit exactly what the Babe did—nothing. And again the fans howled with glee.

It matters not that Tony Lazzeri walked. Jackie probably remembered by that time that she was a woman, and after all the excitement she undoubtedly wanted to go off and have a good cry; so they let her retire from the game, with the mob cheering her again and again as she walked to the bench.

The Lookout pitchers were permitted, much against their will, to go back to grind, and the game went on, but the rest was just so much anti-climax.

Oh, yes; the Yanks won, 14 to 4.

Letter of Rockne Hits Tabacco for Athletes

Mannington, W. Va., April 2 (A.P.).—One of Knute Rockne's last letters war written to a Mannington school boy, who wanted to know the great coach's opinion on the use of tobacco by athletes.

Daniel Hanley Sturm, sixth grade student, is the possessor of the prized letter. He wrote to Rockne while fellow students were writing to other athletic leaders concerning the use of tobacco, the famous coach did not delay in replying to Daniel. The reply, dated last Thursday, was:

"Dear Daniel:

"My experience has shown that tobacco shows up the reflexes of the athletes, lowers their morale, and does nothing constructive.

"Athletes who smoke are the careless type and do not have the best interests of their team at heart.

"Yours sincerely,

"K. K. ROCKNE,
"Director of Athletics."

Kaye Don Claims Speedboat Record at Pace of 103 Miles

British Racer Thrills Argentinians; Mark Likely to Stand.

PARANA DE LAS PALMAS, Argentina, April 2 (A.P.).—Kaye Don, British racer, today split the muddy waters of the Parana River, setting up what was claimed to be a new world's speedboat record of 103.49 statute miles an hour.

The mark, if it is accepted as official, is better than Gar Wood's 102.56 miles and gives Miss England II, the craft in which Sir Henry Seagrave was killed, the speed supremacy which Gar Wood snatched from her.

Don set his new mark on the third attempt over an isolated stretch of the river. Two previous trials resulted in failure when the aluminum exhaust boxes burned out.

Makes Start at Dawn.

At dawn today the boat was towed to the head of the course and Don, along with a couple of mechanics, put on life preservers and took her thundering downstream in a cloud of smoke for four practice runs.

Two Argentine gunboats at opposite ends of the course were his steering objectives.

When he came back and started for the record run conditions were not as good as they might have been, but Don's mechanics said after he had set the mark that Miss England had not been extended to the limit of her power.

In one of the morning tests, Don said he had touched 100 miles an hour. In the afternoon he roared upstream, spun around and started back for the record.

Crowds Thrilled by Speed.

She seemed to shoot by like a shell out of a big gun and the crowds who had waited all day to see some action gasped at the tremendous speed.

They were particularly struck by the boat's lines. At rest her nose floats high, but at high speed she flattens out on a level keel and skims over the water.

When they told him how fast he had gone Don was delighted.

This evening he said his mission to South America had been completed and that he had arranged to sail for England tonight aboard the steamer Avalona Star.

It was expected here Don's mark would be recognized as official by the international yachting body at Brussels, because the run was made under the auspices of the Argentine Yacht Club, which is a member of the official international association. Three of the club judges timed the British racer.

Lott Pressed to Beat Vines In 5 Sets at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 2 (A. P.).—George Lott, Philadelphia, eliminated Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Calif., and John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, and Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, fought to a two-all standstill until their match was ended by darkness in the semifinals of the New Orleans Country Club invitation tennis tournament today.

The sturdy Lott, Davis Cup player, probably won the hardest victory of his life in downing the hard-struggling Vines, 3—6, 1—6, 6—4, 7—5, 8—6. In the other match the youthful Sutter took the first set handily, 6—2, but the seasoned Van Ryn came back and took the second by the same score. Sutter then took the third, 6—4, and Van Ryn snagged the fourth, 6—3, as twilight settled. The play will be resumed Saturday with Van Ryn serving.

Before the semifinals singles started John Barr and James Quick, both of Dallas, Tex., defeated Charles Hume and Ed Sutter, of New Orleans, 4—6, 6—3, 6—1. This doubles match was stopped by darkness yesterday and the first set was played today.

The crowded gallery gasped as Vines took the first set from Lott, 3—6, and appeared to be headed for victory as he walked through Lott in the second set, 6—1.

In the third set Lott threw all he had in the game. He won his service, broke Vines' serve, and then held on grimly, taking the set, 6—4.

After a ten-minute rest Lott returned to the court with renewed confidence. Vines tried hard in the fourth set to put over kill shots, but Lott returned stroke for stroke. Lott took the fourth set, 7—5, as Vines double faulted on the set point.

The fifth set brought superb tennis. Vines won the first two games, but Lott won his service then both Vines and Lott won their services. Lott broke Vines' service, making the score three-all. Each then won his services up to six-all. Lott won his service and broke through Vines for the winning game after match point had been played four times.

Sutter and Van Ryn played much the same style of game, both being effective at net and nearly equal in deep court play.

Semifinals in doubles will be played tomorrow, with Lott and Van Ryn opposing Barr and Quick, while Vines and Sutter will meet Dan Murray and Maurice Bayon, both of New Orleans.

Columbia Fans Sad As League Berth Fails

Columbia, S. C., April 2 (A.P.).—Baseball fans in Columbia today were shaking their heads in gloomy fashion as their chances of getting a team into the newly formed Palmetto League seemed to have vanished.

Bernie McCay, of Atlanta, sports promoter, who had offered to place a team here, was locked up in the county jail on charges of violation of the Mann act, and was held incommunicado.

He is charged with transporting two women from Detroit to Memphis October 5, 1930, for immoral purposes. Federal authorities placed his bond at $2,500.

There seemed to be no one else in Columbia willing to take the responsibility and whether or not the charges against McCay would cause him to drop his plans for organization of the Columbia team was not known.

Stuhldreher Is Silent On Notre Dame Berth

Philadelphia,. April. 2. (A.P.).—"That's a very delicate question," said Harry Stuhldreher, Villanova football coach and one of the famous four horsemen of Notre Dame, when asked today whether he was aware he was under consideration as Knute Rockne's successor.

"This is not the time to discuss anything like that," said Stuhldreher. The Villanova coach will attend the funeral of Rockne.

Saks and Boys Club Fives May Clash on A. A. U. Card

Potomac Scholastics and Arundels to Meet Tomorrow at Tech in Battle of Rival City Amateur Champions.

HARDLY the basket ball fans of Washington finished discussing the thrilling finale game of The Post-A.A. U. tournament when they began the pregame discussion of this Saturday night's contest between the Potomac oBat Club Scholastics and the Arundel Boat Club five, unlimited champions, respectively, of the District of Columbia A. A. U. and the South Atlantic A. A. U.

The clash will bring together for the first time since the organization of a local chapter of the A. A. U. two teams in intersectional A. A. U. competition.

The game between the two boat club teams promises to be a fitting close for the active basket ball season. The Potomac Scholastics proved themselves to be the greatest unlimited club in the city, and the Arundels have gone through a test which has been even more difficult. The Arundels had to win not only their own Baltimore league, but had to meet and defeat the crack Polish-Americans, champions of the Baltimore Catholic League, for the right to represent the South Atlantic division of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Saks and Boys Club May Battle.

Local officials of the A. A. U. last night took the first step toward surrounding the big intercity contest with an appropriate supporting bill of basket ball. Their first move was to sign up the Saks Clothiers and the Boys Club, whose game a month ago—ending in a victory for the Boys Club in an extra period—gave that team the championship of the District Amateur League, and produced much speculation on the part of the fans over the verdict rendered. The Clothiers challenged the Boys Club to a return game, but plans never matured. Now the question should be settled for all time.

The Potomac Scholastics, instead of resting on the laurels gained Wednesday night, are earnestly practicing for their stern test against the Baltimoreans. The Scholastics boast of the following line-up: Barney Kane, captain of Eastern High's team, forward; Bob McVean, forward, of Catholic University's freshmen team; Bernie Lieb, forward, of Eastern High, who was named on several all-high teams; Delmar Cosgrove, forward, who plays that same post with Gallaudet; Bill Noonan, giant all-high center for Eastern; Dallas Shirley, all-high guard for Eastern; Ben Zola, Eastern guard, and Everett Johnson, Tech High guard, who was the hero of the Scholastics' triumph over the Clovers Wednesday night.

Baltimore Team Strong.

The Baltimoreans have practically the same outfit which has made them a great team for five years. For four straight years this team has won the South Atlantic A. A. U. honors. In the line-up are Bill and Gilbert Schuerholz, forwards; Falcone, center, and Liston and Kenny, guards. Liston is a regular on Loyola Varsity. Two years ago this same outfit defeated the Typewriter Grays, winners of the Washington title, in more than decisive fashion. The Grays at the time boasted of such stars as Mickey MacDonald and Bill Banta.

Hudlin Stars In 9-Frame Victory

Rhyne, of Red Sox, Is Injured; Macks in Victory.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 2 (A. P.).—Willis Hudlin gladdened the heart of Manager Roger Peckinpaugh by turning in a neat nine-inning pitching turn to give the Cleveland Indians an easy 8-1 victory over New Orleans today. Hudlin, who had a bad season last year, allowed only five hits, all singles, walked only one and struck out four, to indicate that he is going to stage a comeback.

Bill Hunnefield, former White Sox infielder, played third and knocked a home run. Eddie Morgan played his first full game at first base and accepted sixteen chances without a wobble, but got only a single in four times at bat.

Louisville, Ky., April 2 (A.P.).—The Louisville Colonels, American Association champions, piled up 16 hits to defeat the Boston Red Sox here today, 5 to 4, in 10 innings. Boston had difficulty solving the offerings of Johnny Marcum, Louisville's pitcher-outfielder, and were able to garner but seven safe blows.

Lisenbee and J. Russell shared pitching duties for the Red Sox.

Hal Rhyne, Red Sox infielder, was hit on the head by a batted ball in practice and removed unconscious to a hospital. Extent of his injury could not be determined until X-ray examination was completed.

Little Rock, Ark., April 2 (A.P.).—One big inning gave the New York Giants an 8-to-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox today. It was the sixth triumph in nine games registered by the Giants over the White Sox.

Going into the seventh, the White Sox were leading, 3 to 1. Without any previous warning, the Giants drove Pat Caraway from the box and hit Frazier just as hard until seven runs had crossed the plate. The Sox came back with a three-run rally, but fell two runs short of tying the count.

M. D. Rathgeber Winner In Post's Baseball Contest

MORTIMER D. RATHGEBER, of 2106 Nineteenth street northwest, was chosen by Judge Robert E. Mattingly last night as winner of The Washington Post's Box Seat Contest, thus bringing to a close the tremendously popular competition for six box seats to the opening day baseball game April 14, at Griffith Park, between the Washington and Philadelphia ball clubs.

Mr. Rathgeber, who is chief electrician of the Potomac Electric Power Co.'s station located on Washington street, has been a close follower of the ball club since he moved to this city after the war, in which he served as a first lieutenant in the Engineers. While baseball occupies most of his attention, he has a keen interest in other sports, being an active member of the Indian Spring Golf Club and once president of the Washington Public Parks Tennis Association. He has been a contributor to The Post and other local papers heretofore, and has had several magazine articles published.

Judge Mattingly Praises Nats' Fans.

"The task was Herculean, but it was a delightful one," said Judge Mattingly, as he picked the winner. "The multitude of authors of these wonderful papers have shown an admirable knowledge of the sport and the players. Our own great club will be fortunate this year, as in the past, to have such an expert, devoted aggregation of followers to spur them on to victory."

That phase of Mr. Rathgeber's letter which carried the victory to him was his comparison of the Washington club with its rivals. Mr. Rathgeber believes that Philadelphia is the team to beat, and that Washington is the team to do it. He was one of the first to contribute to the contest, coming into the fold on March 4, two days after the start of the competition. Mr. Rathgeber's letter follows:

March 4, 1931.

Since none of the six teams which finished behind Philadelphia and Washington in 1930 have made any notable additions to their personnel during the off season, it is logical reasoning to figure the same clubs as the contenders during 1931.

The most vital cog in the machinery of a baseball club is the pitching staff, so let us analyze the individual pitchers:

Crowder, for the Nats, figures to win 20 games; Hadley, 15; Brown, 16; Jones, 12; Marberry, 16; Liska, 10; Burke, 8; Fischer, et al., 5; a total of 102 games.

For Philadelphia, Grove will win 23 games; Earnshaw, 20; Walberg, 15; Mahaffey, 15; Shores, 12; Rommel, 10, and the others, 5. Also a total of 102 games.

This stand-off in apparent pitching strength is again emphasized since the superior batting ability of the Athletics, especially in the home run department, is evened up by the faster infield of the Nationals, since Foxx is not a natural first baseman, nor has Boley ever fulfilled his Baltimore reputation.

The balance will therefore swing to Washington more by virtue of their superior reserve strength. The winning margin will not be more than three games. The Washington reserves, Kuhel, H. Rice, Hayes, Harris and Hargrave are measurably better than Todt, Williams and the other Philadelphia understudies. It must also be borne in mind that any defection on the part of Foxx, Simon or Cochrane will imperil the Athletics' cause.

Sam Rice and Judge are the veterans, who may need occasional vacations. They are brittle, but in no wise cracked.

The recruits with most promise are the hold-overs from last year, Fischer and Kuhel. Of this year's crop, Bolton and Tauscher probably will be retained.

Out of the myriad replies to the "Baseball Editor's" question, "What are the prospects of the Washington Baseball Club this year, and why?" thirteen letters were segregated as being more worthy of the most consideration. Mr. Rathgeber's letter emerged winner of these. All names of contestants were obliterated from their letters, and an identification number was substituted.

Most worthy of mention were the replies of Theodore Acton, 1008 M street southeast; George J. Reid, 203 D street northeast; R. E. Bouldin, 819 F street northeast; T. Bryan Burkhead, Mansion Inn, Luray, Va.; Thomas E. Rook, 411 Second street southeast; Arthur S. Harvey, Union Trust, Fifteenth and H northwest; William A. Kesmodel, 400 Seward Square southeast; William B. Holtzclaw, 1801 Wyoming avenue, who has been a follower of the Nats since 1886; Edward B. Bready, Wyoming Apartments; Hobart Henson, 406 Sixth street northwest; Frank T. Hoadley, 28 West Kirk street, Chevy Chase, and W. C. Wallace, of Warsaw, Va.

Biloxi Results Pleasing to Johnson

Manager Favors Site for 1932; Gives Out Team Signals.

To Play Birmingham Today; Manush Is Ready for Race.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent.)

BILOXI, Miss., April 2.—Manager Walter Johnson and his charges surely were in fine spirits as they romped through their final workout here this morning, all being pepped up over the prospect of hiking for home, where the games which count are due to begin shortly. The training proposition is quite a grind on the diamonders and that they are ready for the finishing touches is being taken with signs of relief by all.

Preceding this morning's session, which was one of the longest of the season, Johnson had a meeting lasting about half an hour at which signals were talked over and decided upon. The catchers and pitchers, of course, have had their signs ever since the exhibition season began, but there has been no working agreement between base runners and batters, it having been a case of every man for himself. From now on, however, Johnson will flash the "hit and run," sacrifice, &c. to the men and woe be to those who miss the signals.

Johnson Favors Return To Biloxi.

If Manager Johnson has any say, the Nationals will be back here next season. "It's up to President Clark Griffith to make the decision," the Nat leader said tonight, "but I'm more than satisfied with the conditions here and the progress the players have made, and am going to strongly urge coming back next spring."

The Nationals are scheduled to board a train here tonight headed for Birmingham, with Coach Patsy Gharrity taking a small squad direct to Chattanooga. Two games will be played with Clyde Milan's Barons and Johnson is figuring on his pitchers going the route in these and in most of the future exhibition contests preceding the season opening. "General" Alvin Crowder will get the call tomorrow, with Lloyd Brown and Irving Hadley following in order.

"I'm counting on having this trio, in particular, ready for nine innings by the time the season opens, with Fred Marberry also close to his peak," said Johnson. "The others are near enough not to cause me any worry, except in the case of Ad Liska. He's been bothered with a sore arm almost ever since we've been here and I can't do any figuring on him at all.

Pleased With Condition Of Nats.

"As to what we have accomplished here, I'm more than satisfied. Practically every player is ready. You know you can't judge some of the older fellows by what they do in exhibition games, for they simply will not take them seriously or will not take any of the chances which they would not hesitate to take after the bell rings. You just tell the folks at home that I think I will bring a team that they'll be proud of."

One of the hardest working athletes at the camp has been Outfielder Heinie Manush. He has been one of the first out at every drill and one of the last to take his shower and between times he has not spent an idle moment. The big fellow has played so much in the pepper games that he handles himself like an infielder, and a good one, too.

Recent exhibition games have shown Skipper Johnson one thing and that is that Outfielder Sammy West has lost none of his fielding ability and that all off-season fears as to his throwing arm not responding to treatment were groundless. These games also have shown that West is a mighty dangerous man up there at the tee. In Tuesday's game he singled cleanly twice, beat out a nobby bunt and cracked out a home run.

Riley Bound for Capital.

Assistant Trainer F. Riley (Bobo) Baxter, accompanied by Fred Harveycutter, a rabid Nat fan, boarded a train for Washington this morning, where Bobo will be kept busy getting the locker rooms ready for the team's return next Wednesday.

Practically all of official Biloxi will be at the station tonight when the Nationals leave, plans calling for Mayor Kennedy, the city commissioners and the chamber of commerce to wish Johnson and his charges luck in the season to come and to invite them to return here next spring.

Connie Mack Sees Nats Chief Threat This Year

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 2 (A.P.). Connie Mack, manager of the world championship baseball team, is also a first class luncheon speaker. He proved that today in telling the Winston-Salem Kiwanis Club he expected Philadelphia's strongest opposition in the American League this year to come from Washington.

"They have a great ball club and to win the pennant they will have to be beaten," he said.

4 District A. A. U. Boxing Champions Seek U. S. Titles

Tardugno, Miller, Carpenter and O'Connor Invade Boston; Others to Await Senior Bouts at New York.

FOUR District amateur boxing champions, Mike Tardugno, featherweight, Jocko Miller, welterweight; Michael Joseph O'Connor, middleweight, and Ralph Carpenter, heavyweight, will leave Sunday afternoon for Boston where they will participate in the national junior A. A. U. championships, April 6 and 7.

It is a choice quartet of fighter who will represent the District A. A. U. All four won their weight divisions in handy fashion lats Saturday night at the Rockville Gymnasium. The fighters will be accompanied by Edward Rosenblum, chairman of the A. A. U. boxing committee and Jim McNamara, coach of the Jewish Community Center Team, an outfit of natural sockers which supplied Tardugno, Miller and Carpenter to the District's Boston entourage.

Miller and Tardugno were veterans of the Boston tournament of 1930, when it was the lone national boxing event under A. A. U. auspices. Both boys reached the final rounds. The remainder of last year's team was made up of Henry Irving, who represented the City Club and Joe Sonnicksen, of the Knights of Columbus.

The remaining four winners of the District A. A. U. championships, Lou Gevinson, flyweight; Leon Shub, bantamweight; Bob Boyle, lightweight, and LeRoy Bordeau, light-heavyweight, will join Tardugno, Miller, OConnor and Carpenter to make a full representation when the District fighters travel to New York the last week in April to engage in the senior A. A. U. championships at Madison Square Garden.

Valuable Dogs Burned To Death in Kennels

Shrewsbury, Mass, April 2 (A.P.).—Fire originating from an overheated furnace in the basement of the main structure of the Welwire Kennels, maintained by Dr. and Mrs. Homer Gage as a memorial to their son, Homer Gage, jr., destroyed 25 valuable dogs, many of them internationally known, causing a loss of $50,000 to $60,000.

Among the victims were Wycollar Wonder, Diamond Merchant and Welwire Wildflower, valued at about $4,000 each.

Hafren Wizard, the last dog bred by Homer Gage, jr., and valued beyond price as a memorial, also was a victim. Wycollar Wonder last week won an international championship at Manchester, N. H.

Welwire Wildflower was considered the most perfect home product of the kennels. Diamond Merchant was imported from England on a transatlantic telephone order.

Three extremely valuable dogs by good fortune had been kept in the superintendent's office for the night and were unharmed. Seventeen dogs in the kennels also were saved.

Other champion dogs that were lost were Backside Bard, a champion stud; Welwire Waterman, Hafren Duplicate, Holsmbury Reverie, fourteen times chosen best dog in show of all breeds; Welwire Winsome, Welwire Whynot, Welwire Wedding Bell, Welwire Welcome and Berengaria Bride. Dr. and Mrs. Gage are in Europe.

Record for Mile Walk Claimed by Canadian

Toronto, April 2 (A.P.).—A new mark for the one-mile walk was claimed today by Hank Cleman, local athlete, who heeled and toed it around the track at the Central Y. M. C. A. last night in 6 minutes 22 seconds.

This is 6 seconds better than the best previous time recorded indoors and 31-5 seconds better than the outdoor record. G. H. Goulding, of Winnipeg, holds both previous records, the outdoor mark of 6:23¼, officially recognized as a world's record, being made by him at Montreal June 4, 1910, and the indoor mark of 6:28, recognized as an American record, at Buffalo, December 16, 1911.

Business High's baseball team is scheduled to open its season tomorrow afternoon against the Episcopal High diamonders at Alexandria, Va. It will be the first game of the season for any local scholastic team.

As matters stand today, Business has no baseball team. Not one outdoor practice has been staged by the Stenogs, and the only preliminary work has been done by the batteries in the Business Gymnasium.

The following Business players are to report tomorrow at noon at the gymnasium for the issuance of uniforms: Duryee, all-high left fielder for 1930; Kengla, Marcellino, Hallett, Esenstadt, Schneider, all-high second baseman for 1930; Flynn, Frantantouno, all-high right fielder for 1930; Silverman, Garner, Reeve, Harris, Mastromarino, Giovenetti, Fishbein and Jacobson.

Penn, V. M. I. Player, Suffers Broken Leg

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., April 2.—Carl Penn, star center fielder of the V. P. I. Baseball Team last year and candidate for the varsity team this spring, is lost to the Gobbler squad for the season with fractured leg. Penn was practicing sliding bases indoors when the cushioned mat he was using failed to slide, doubling his right leg beneath him. X-Ray pictures, taken at the college infirmary, showed a clean fracture several inches above the ankle. Penn, who was one of the most promising rookie outfielders on Coach Kircher's squad is from Norfolk.

Marcasite Wins Over 2-Year-Olds; Tang Wins at 30-1.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

THE Pegg's were much in evidence at Bowie yesterday, and they did not mind the mud. Over the worst track imaginable, J. F. Adam's' Pegg's Pride, 4-year-old son of Meridian, with Jockey C. Pegg riding, won the District Line $1,400 purse, which featured the card.

Morsel, the La Mar Stock Farm's prize performer and odds-on favorite, failed again, as he did in the Inaugural Handicap Tuesday, when Thistle Ann took his measure. Pegg's Pride won as his rider pleased, after a drive through the stretch to withstand the challenge of Morsel, which was mostly expectancy, which failed to materialize dangerously. But Morsel held the place safe from Essare, the bad actor, which held the field at the post for almost fifteen minutes while he lunged and reared, with R. Fisher unable to control him, which finished third. Aziz, a pocket edition filly, which set a fast pace to the first turn, was fourth in a field of six.

Pegg's Pride paid $22.90. He followed the pace to the first turn, moved up resolutely near the top of the stretch and took command.

Track Condition
At Worst.

The track was the worst of the meeting of bad tracks. The weather was improved, but still chilly. Probably the largest crowd of the week was out, and the patrons at least did not get wet, as they had become accustomed to do.

Morsel's failure hit the pocketbooks of the patrons more severely than at any one race of the meeting. The horse got away sluggishly, but made an effort, but was at all times outrun by Pegg's Pride.

Middleburg Stable's filly Marcasite, after running Mutable into defeat, drew away to win the first race, for 2-year-olds, by three lengths. T. McClements' filly, Society Talk, closing much ground, was second, and F. J. Buchanan's Jane McC. third. Caliente Lady was fourth. The winner paid $22.60. George Ellis had the mount. Everything in the race was at a liberal price except Ral Parr's The Nile, which was suddenly backed into close favoritism. The start was good. Mutable rushed into a long lead, but Marcasite was in front before reaching the top of the stretch. Time, 0:49 4-5, a half mile.

Twelve fillies started. Many were stranded in the deep mud. Marcasite far outclassed her field. She is by Runantell—Marka, trained by Clyde Phillips.

Petabit Winner
By Nose.

Colgate Stable's filly, Petabit, slightly off the pace set by G. L. Stryker's Trice, won a nose victory in the second race in a hard stretch battle, Trice holding the place, and Sir Byron third. San Presto, the favorite, was up with the leaders to the far turn, where he began dropping behind and wound up at the finish near the last horse. Little Pan ran a strong race, after delaying the start. The winner paid $13, and was ridden by Tiner. Trice took the lead from the gate, and San Presto was third on the outside going to the first turn. The time for 6 furlongs was 1:15 2-5.

Nevada Stock Farm's Durva, 3-year-old filly by Durba II—Neva S., and the favorite in the third race, won driving by a length and a half. She came from behind and was extended by R. Remillard to head off Mrs. E. Trueman's Ear Full, a long shot. Mrs. C. E. Simmons' Laura Negley was third and Light Mint fourth. The winner paid $5.90.

Friar Bacon Leads From Gate.

Friar Bacon led from the gate, and Ear Full moved up from a backward position to take the lead soon after passing the far turn, and set up a long lead, but in the stretch Derva moved up gamely and at the sixteenth was going strong, and won easing up. Time, 1:15 1-5.

J. P. White's Everytime scored impressively in the fourth race, drawing away in the stretch from Elizabeth Bolla. William Ziegler's Holiday, after getting away slowly, finished strong, getting the show money, and was beaten for place by a short head. Everytime and Holiday are both sons of High Time, and good muddlers, but Everytime gave weight and showed to much better advantage in the sprint of six furlongs, which was run in 1:15, with W. Curran on the winner. The price on Everytime was $5.30. High Score set the pace to the far turn, with Everytime the contender.

Tang, Longshot, Scores.

The long-shot players in the sixth when Miss Betty Bowman's filly, Tang, W. Pryor up, led all the way, winning by two lengths, and paid $64.60 for $2. That was the outstanding price of the day in which few favorites scored. Fairdale was second and Buddy Basil third. Tang got away flying, and assumed command, displaying a liking for the mud, and had no trouble shaking off Fairdale. Buddy Basil slowly improved his position, but never had a chance.

Royal Charge, well supported, won the seventh under a good ride by George Fields. The 7-year-old gelding was outrun for six furlongs, By Product setting the early pace. Voltmeter made a determined challenge in the stretch and was beaten only by a nose. Playabit was third. Royal Charge paid 3 to 1.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARCASITE, $22.60, $12.40, $7.10; SOCIETY TALK, $26.60, $14.00; JANE MC, $7.40.

MARCASITE broke fast, but was outrun rounding the turn. She went into the lead again when straightened out into the stretch and won with speed in reserve. SOCIETY TALK, well up all the way, responded determinedly entering the stretch, but could not keep stride with the winner the final furlong. JANE MC slipped through on the inside all the way, easily disposed of the others in the stretch run. CALIENTE LADY lost ground on the stretch turn. THE NILE went into the air at the start and was away poorly. She went into the lead with a rush the first quarter mile, but then tired badly from her early effort through the stretch.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good for all but Fourth Ward from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:05. Off at 3:09. Winner, Colgate Stable's b. or br. f., by Bracadale—My Pet. Trained by C. Holland. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:15 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PETABIT, $13.00, $6.60, $4.50; TRICE, $5.00, $4.10; SIR BYRON, $6.90.

PETABIT, fractious at the post, broke forwardly and, racing in nearest pursuit of the leader throughout, closed stoutly through the stretch and wore TRICE down in the final drive. The latter found his stride quickly and, rated in front under light restraint, faltered suddenly the last sixteenth and was unable to withstand the winner's bid. SIR BYRON close up in the run down the back stretch, was taken to the inside rounding the turn and, saving ground the remainder of the trip, outraced LITTLE PAN when the final test came. The latter moved up stoutly at the furlong pole, but then tired in the final drive. SAN PRESTO moved up between the leaders after leaving the back stretch. He was blocked and was then taken to the outside, but tired in the stretch run. EBONY PRINCE retired after going a half mile.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:35. Off at 3:38½. Winner, Nevada Stock Farm's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DURVA, $5.50, $4.00, $3.10; EAR FULL, $7.50, $6.00; LAURA NEGLEY, $8.60.

DURVA, slow to get going, steadily improved her position on the extreme outside entering the stretch and, closing determinedly, wore the leaders down and was going clear at the finish. EAR FULL showed good speed in the going and raced FRIAR BACON into defeat the early stages, but was not equal to the winner in the stretch run. LAURA NEGLEY, prominent and saving ground all the entire trip, outlasted LIGHT MINT in the stretch drive. The latter, well handled throughout, had no excuses. FRIAR BACON, unlucky to get going, displayed good speed for a half mile, then retired. PRINCE PETER broke slowly and could never get up.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:06½. Off at 4:08½. Winner, J. F. White's br. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—EVERYTIME, $5.30, $3.80, $2.80; ELIZABETH BOLLA, $4.30, $3.10; HOLIDAY, $4.40.

EVERYTIME revelled in the going and disposed of HIGH SCORE at his leisure entering the stretch and held away the remainder of the trip. ELIZABETH BOLLA, under pressure, was not saving ground entering the stretch, held on with good courage and outstayed HOLIDAY in the stretch run. The latter, in tight quarters in the run down the back stretch, went around the field leaving the back stretch, but here cut through the stretch, which probably cost him second place. MAKE HASTE, under pressure all the way, was unable to improve his position. HIGH SCORE displayed a good flash of speed for half a mile. He was not persevered with when tiring. LITTLE GYP broke tardily and closed some ground.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400. The District Line. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won ridden out; place, same. Went to post at 4:34½. Off at 4:47. Winner, G. F. Adams' br. g. (4), by Meridian—Peggy L. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $975; second, $250; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:14 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PEGG'S PRIDE, $22.90, $5.10, $3.10; MORSEL, $2.70, $2.30; ESSARE, $3.00.

PEGG'S PRIDE, away fast and going in his best form in the going, drew out into a commanding lead on the stretch turn and was in hand the final furlong. MORSEL, pinched back on the turn out of the back stretch, was taken to the outside the last three furlongs and closed stoutly, but could never overtake the winner. ESSARE refused to go to the stalls and delayed the start. He gradually improved his position under strong handling and shook off AZIZ the last sixteenth. The latter showed keen speed in the early running, but began tiring the last quarter mile and was probably short. SANDY and OMAREEN were never serious factors.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start poor from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:17½. Off at 5:20. Winner, Miss B. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TANG, $64.60, $24.20, $11.80; FAIRDALE, $5.90, $4.20; BUDDY BASIL, $3.30.

TANG, alert when the break came, took command at once. He displayed a fancy for the going and, steadied in front the early stages, shook off FAIRDALE when the latter challenged on the stretch turn and won in hand. FAIRDALE moved up rapidly at the half-mile pole, but was raced into defeat by the winner rounding the turn. He, however, held the others safe. BUDDY BASIL, slow to get going, steadily improved his position in the early running, but was never able to overtake the leaders. MY SCOOP finished stoutly. ATTAMART saved ground from the start, but could not improve his position. DOCK LIGHT retired after going a half mile.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:47. Off at 5:48½. Winner, Mrs. E. ROYAL CHARGE, outrun for the first six furlongs, was taken to the outside when moving into contention, swung wide into the home stretch and, in a game finish, was up in the concluding strides. VOLT METER raced BY PRODUCT into submission after seven furlongs, saved ground wherever possible and held on grimly. PLAYABIT, worked his way up steadily and closed with good courage on the outside. MONTFERRAT, well placed in the early running, weakened in the final drive. STAR slipped through on the inside entering the home stretch and fought it out gamely. DADDY NELSON closed a good sap. BY PRODUCT stopped after seven furlongs.

OLD PLATERS IN WAY AT BOWIE

Ancient Horses Crowd Claiming Races; Workman Back.

THERE are too many horses of inferior class running in the claiming races, and the results is the overcrowding of fields, and, a heavy overhead for the owners. Horses are running in $1,200 claiming race, for $3,000 claiming price, which are not worth $400. They are sent up from the winter tracks to the Eastern tracks, and some of them run for months without winning the cheapest races. Many are about worn out, are unsound and outclassed by new horses.

There should be a way to get rid of the old platers that crowd out better horses. It seems that if a horse, entered in his own class, in claiming races, fails to win in eight starts, were barred from further racing, it would benefit the turf. There should be some limit at which aged and infirm horses are permitted to clutter up racing programs. The number of trials is not important, just so some limit were fixed. That might work better than elimination races, such as were held in Mexico, ruling off the last horse in these races.

Raymond (Sonny) Workman, of Washington, contract rider for Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, of New York, was a visitor. Sonny broke his leg during the winter's racing in Florida, but has improved rapidly and hopes to swing back into the saddle during the Havre de Grace session, which opens April 13.

Workman was America's leading rider last year with a .27 average, the highest shown by an American rider since 1907 when the peerless Walter Miller hung out a .28 average. Only three riders since 1895 have ever shown a greater average than Workman did last year. They were C. Reiff in 1896 with a average; T. Burns in 1898 with a .28 average and Walter Miller in 1906 and 1907 with .28 averages.

Whitney's contract rider won $402,438 in purses last year. While he can not hope to equal that figure he still has a chance to win several hundred thousand in purses if he is able to ride Equipoise, the early favorite for both the Preakness and Kentucky Derby. Sonny was warmly received upon his arrival today.

E. J. Glass was an arrival from Buffalo, N. Y., and will remain throughout spring racing in this State.

Willie Robinson, one of America's veteran race riders, resumed saddle work today. He was astride Nola in the opener. It was Willie's first mount in quite a spell.

Sammy Smith, Freddie Hopkins and Elmer Trueman, three of the younger generation of trainers, proved they knew their business by taking horses out of winter quarters and winning first out. Smith scored with Tony Princess, Trueman with Semester and Hopkins with Smear.

Many horsemen here are making the mistake of putting bug riders on their 2-year-olds. These lads are unable to do the 2-year-olds justice, and several good things have failed to finish in the money as a result of weak handling. There are plenty of veteran riders on the grounds, so why fool with apprentices on the baby racers?

Bob Fresund, who is schooling Havre de Grace's colony, reports numerous 2-year-olds there. Some of the stables at the Harford County course are Walter M. Jeffords, B. B. Stable, Brandywine Stable and Xalapa Farms.

Thomas J. Healey, head trainer for C. V. Whitney, wired General Manager Edward Burke, of the Harford Agricultural & Breeders Association, that he would bring several of his charges from the farm at Brookdale, N. J. The division here in charge of Freddie Hopkins will also go to the Graw.

Steeplechase Jockey R. Haines suffered a fractured vertebra while schooling one of John Bosley's fencers. It will be necessary for Haines to wear a plaster cast for several months.

Jim Dean, who is seriously ill at his home in Washington, has turned Baboo, Wandering Jim and two 2-year-olds over to Uncle Jim Arthur, of Long Green Valley, Md., to train.

Buddy Stotler will make a determined bid for the Flash Handicap, 5½-furlong secondary feature tomorrow, as he intends to start Mrs. Margaret Amory's Balko and C. H. Pierce's The Heathen, both Baltimore-owned thoroughbreds.

Stotler has been training Balko and The Heathen at Mrs. Amory's Sagamore farm in the Washington Valley and will van them here on Saturday morning.

Freddie Hopkins intends to go after the Flash with C. V. Whitney's Smear, one that won here on opening day. However, we are stringing along with anything that Stotler saddles for the sprint.

Moe Simon, who shipped his horses from Florida to Havre de Grace, and who took in yesterday's sport, left last night for his home in New York. He will return on Monday.

Tony Pascuma phones from New York today that he would be here to ride on Saturday. He can do 104 pounds and is being handled by George Pass.

DEMPSEY AND WIFE MAY PART

If the above picture could be taken as evidence it would tend to disprove the current rumor that the marital affairs of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, and his wife, Estelle Taylor, film actress, had encountered serious difficulties. It has been reported that Dempsey planned to establish legal residence in Reno, Nev.

—Bowie Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

THE Madonna Handicap, for fillies, 3 years old and upward, is the headliner at Bowie today, and has attracted one of the best fields of the meeting. But the track will be heavy and holding, and the 7 furlongs will seem like a mile. With better weather apparent, the crowds will continue to increase, and, with no more rain, by Saturday afternoon the course will be good.

SISTER ZOE, from the Four Oaks Stable, sired by a superior mudder, Paul Weidel, is selected to win the feature. She started last in the Inaugural Handicap, but was outclassed. She finished fifth, and takes off ten pounds from that race. Her last winning race was at New Orleans, where she beat Thistle Fyrn on a heavy track. Being a front runner, the distance suits. PATRICIA MARIAN appears to be the most probable contender, and she was good enough to beat Rocket Glare at New Orleans. TONEY PRINCESS ran such a game race Wednesday to beat Phantasime that she can not be overlooked in this. ROCKET GLARE starts also in this race, but with 124 pounds she seems to be weighted out of the race.

WHITE TOES is selected in the first race for 2-year-olds. There is no other selection feasible than the daughter of Johren on her race Tuesday, when she was only beaten by a head by Sky Alight. EFJAYBE, a Donnacona gelding, has never started, but, on his workouts, he should be the contender, and the heavy track will suit. BRUSH UP, by Sweep, is another highly regarded for her fast workouts. She may be in the money.

TEWSENELDA, a Trojan filly, is rated best for the 7 furlongs of the second race. She has not started since last year at Laurel, but the clockers report that she is ready. She was seldom out of the picture last year. STUPENDOUS will be a keen contender. She was made fit by winter racing and will go the route. She was third to Croyden last out. FAIR FOLLY beat fair platers in the winter and should be as good as third.

Glen Riddle Farm's SEA FOX, a Man o' War 3-year-old, looks like a standout in the third race. He is ready to do his best, and all the horses of this stable are far advanced. He never ran with a field less important than this, and in his last race was close up with Uncle Henry. Previously he ran second to Tarpaulin, and other stake horses have finished behind him. DANCING MACK, a fast horse in Maryland last year, should be the contender. Next best of the field appears to be MINE SWEEPER, which beat Gay Bird.

NEALON KAY is regarded best of the field in the fifth race. He has been consistent all winter and won recently at St. Johns. RUNDALE, also a good horse at the winter tracks, is rated the contender. He beat Respond recently. DON TINKY is in fine trim and will cut a figure.

NEGODALE, winner on opening day from a large field, is picked in the sixth against OTILLA, which he beat, and BOB SHANNON, which can do better than his last race showed. Meade will ride Negodale.

AIMEE GOLDSMITH has run one good race behind Morsnuff at this meeting, and should win the seventh event. The drying-out track will be to her advantage. RUANE may wake up. He has not started here, but has been working well. PETER PETER is regarded dangerous in this company.

A meeting of the Ross Jeweler Juniors is scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Manager Lawrence, 156 Tennessee avenue northeast. Coach Driver is especially requested to be present. Measurements for uniforms will be taken tonight. Sunday the team will drill on the Monument Lot at 11 a. m.

The Big Brother A. A. will meet Tuesday night, April 7, at 8 o'clock, at 626 Fourteenth street southeast. Older members of the association, as well as candidates for the diamond teams, are requested to be on hand.

The Meridian nine has carded a practice for Sunday at 3 p. m. on the South Ellipse diamond. Manager Scafide wants all players and any new candidates to report.

JUNIORS PLAN FOR YEAR

League Clubs Start Race May 17

Midgets Clubs Due to Gather Tonight at Distrcit Building.

ALTHOUGH only eight clubs were represented at the meeting of the junior division of the Capital City League, held in room 2 of the District Building last night, the boys made up with enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers, resulting in the most interesting meeting held to date.

The teams and their representatives are as follows: Lionels, Mrs. A. K. Palsgrove; Schwartz Perfect Diamonds, A. M. Lawrence; Fox A. C., Harry Viehmeyer; Ross' Jewelry Co., V. M. Lawrence; Meridian A. C., Jean Bush; Noel House, J. L. Carter; Swann's Service Signets, R. M. Moss, and Neighborhood House Senators, Norman Nash.

Clubs Vote to Change Rules.

Following in the wake of the unlimited clubs, who slightly revised the league rules of their section, the juniors also decided to abide by the new regulations. The Reach baseball was adopetd as official for the season, and as a result of this act, Vic's Sport Shop announced that a trophy, similar to the one to be given the unlimited winner, will be presented the victor of the junior series.

The teams voted to open their season May 17, with player contracts and the franchise fee of $15 being posted with the league secretary on or before May 13. The schedule will be drawn up by a committee headed by President William E. Russell, and will be announced in the Post several days before the first game.

A heated discussion was waged concerning the eligibility age of players in this class. There were several managers who expressed the opinion that each player should be required to furnish his birth certificate, along with his signed contract, in order to be eligible for league competition. The bickering continued for several minutes among the rival factions, but in the end the motion was voted down.

Clubs to Be Own Detectives.

The leaders of the various clubs pledged themselves to ascertain, wherever possible, if any player was falsifying his age in order to obtain a berth withone of the teams. This agreement proved satisfactory to all concerned.

President Russell appointed two managers, Messrs. A. M. Raymond, of the Schwartz team, and V. M. Lawrence, of the Ross Club, to confer with the Capital City League committee on umpires. This committee was to render its decision later on in the week.

Tonight, at 8 p. m., in the same place, midget teams desiring to compete in the Capital City League, will gather to go over their plans. All are requested to be on hand promptly at the starting hour.

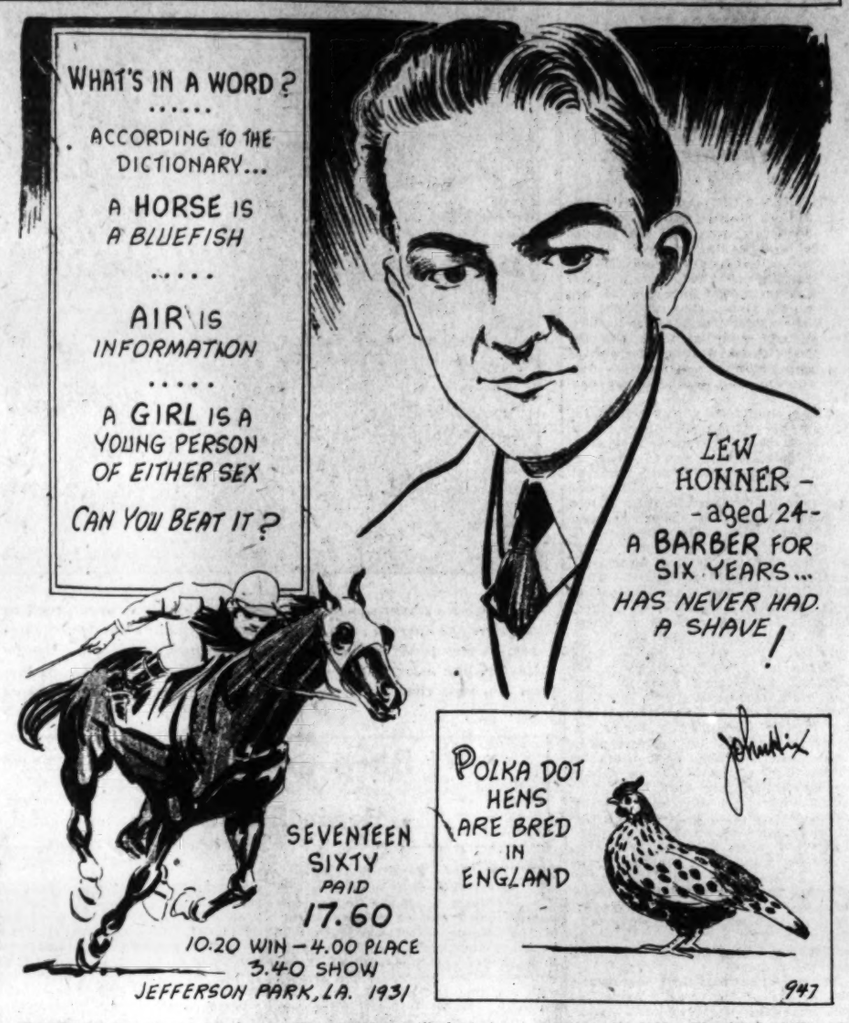
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



ALTHOUGH Lew Honner has barbered in so many shops he can't remember them all, and although he shaves hundreds of men every week, he has yet to turn the razor on his own beard, because he has no beard and never has had one. Why he has no whiskers is a mystery to him, for he says his two brothers have such heavy beards that he has to shave them every day.

DARTMOUTH VICTIM OF V. P. I.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., April 2.—The Virginia Military Institute Nine today vanquished Dartmouth by the score of 4 to 3. The Keydets showed none of the form which had lost them the first two games of the season. Off to a slow start, they played better ball than the Hanoverians for the last seven innings.

Dartmouth was forced to use three pitchers in an attempt to hold the heavy artillery of the Lexington nine. They allowed seven hits and walked three, while Noble, who pitched the entire game, was notched for six hits. The game was practically errorless, only one man misstepping and a good brand of ball being played throughout by both teams.

Dartmouth Makes Good Start.

Dartmouth started the game with a rush, pushing across two tallies in as many innings, and the Keydets came back in the last half of the second and tied the score. The score remained tied for the next three innings. Double plays retiring both sides in the fourth. The Hanoverians scored on an error in the sixth. The next frame was the Keydets' lucky seventh. Hits off Myllykangas, second pitcher of the Indians, brought in the two winning runs. Noble held Dartmouth without a hit to end the game. This was V. M. I.'s first win. They will play Dartmouth tomorrow.

CARDINAL STAR

FIGHT SITE IS STILL IN BALANCE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 1 (A.P.).—A question mark tonight continued to stand in place of an answer to the question of the setting for the proposed July 4 heavyweight championship fight between Max Schmeling and W. L. Stribling, and no indication was given whether conferences under way here would lead to an early choice between Chicago and Cleveland.

All-day discussion, investigation and negotiations between Joe Jacobs, American manager of the champion; E. C. Wetten, representative of the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois, promoters, and George H. Bender, manager of Cleveland's giant new downtown stadium, resulted in the unanimous statement that "there is nothing definite to say."

Conferences between the three continued tonight with indications that they would be continued tomorrow. Neither Jacobs nor Wetten was prepared to say whether an immediate decision was likely.

"There are a number of circumstances favorable to Cleveland," said Jacobs, "but there are many angles yet to be ironed out, either here or at Chicago before we can make a selection.

Cleveland Stadium Favorable.

"The Cleveland Stadium was inspected and both its downtown location and capacity are favorable. We are assured by Mr. Bender that it can be arranged to seat 110,000 persons at a boxing match, which makes it rival Soldier Field at Chicago in that respect. However, we did not get down to details on this."

Another thing in Cleveland's favor was understood to be the Ohio law, which permits fifteen-round bouts. The Illinois law, limiting matches to ten rounds, was objected to by Schmeling, who said he will not jeopardize his crown in a bout under fifteen rounds.

Upon duration of the local negotiations depends the time when renewed discussions with Chicagoans anxious to have the bout staged there, will be resumed. They are slated to follow the local meetings.

YALE DOWNS VIRGINIA'S NINE, 4-0

Wheeler, Sophomore, Scatters Six Hits and Fans Six.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 2. Playing errorless ball afield and hitting opportunely, Yale opened her Southern trip by blanking Virginia here today, 4 to 0.

Wheeler, a sophomore, went the entire route for the Elis and was never in trouble, though he issued five passes. The six hits garnered by the Southerners were well scattered.

Yale collected ten hits off Fletcher, Virginia boxman, Capt. Vincent, A. Fletcher and Warren leading in the assault, with two hits apiece. Yale's initial run came in the second inning on successive singles by A. Fletcher, Maine and Warren. Another was added in the third, when, with two down, Vincent singled to left field, romped to third on A. Fletcher's solid drive to the same territory, and counted on a passed ball.

Two runs were added in the sixth. A. Fletcher raced to second on Dent's overthrow of first base and scored on Barnes' bunt. Warren followed with a single to right field and registered on Wheeler's hit to left.

Maine's running catch of Bryant's long foul was the fielding feature.

C. U. Eleven to Play N. C. State at Night

Negotiations for a game between Catholic University and North Carolina State, to be played at Raleigh, N. C., October 23, were completed yesterday, it was announced by Arthur J. Bergman, athletic director of the local school. The contest will be staged at night under the floodlights.

Bergman had been corresponding with W. R. Sermon, in charge of athletics at the Southern institution, for the past few weeks, but not until yesterday could terms suitable to both parties be agreed on.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ARLINGTON ROUSED BY HIGHWAY PLANS

Residents Protest Taking All Land Needed for Road From One Side.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Headed by Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth and Fletcher Kemp, county school superintendent, a delegation will leave for Richmond today to urge the State Highway Commission for a more even distribution of the land that is to be taken for the widening of the Lee highway from Hall's Hill to Falls Church.

The present plans of the commission, it was revealed last night, provide for the taking of most of the right of way from the south side of the highway. The loss to property owners and the Robert E. Lee School property would be about 15 feet of land, Gloth said, and neither the school board nor the residents along the south side of the road feel that they should be called upon to lose this amount when an equal amount could be taken on both sides of the roadway.

There are fifteen homes, in addition to the school property, on the south side of the road and but two homes on the north side, Gloth said.

The Boy Scout troops of Arlington County and Falls Church will meet tonight at the Washington Lee High School for annual inspection.

Following the inspection there will be a bugling contest, when several aspirants will try out for rank of official scout bugler of Arlington County.

William Leitch, assistant scout executive for this district, will be in charge of the meeting and will award the gold and silver stars to the scouts who have prepared in the troop efficiency rating plan.

Election of officers will be the principal business to come before the meeting of the League of Republican Women of Arlington County to be held Monday evening in the Rucker Building at Clarendon. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

Owing to pressing business of his office as Commonwealth's attorney, William C. Gloth has disposed of his interest in the Chronicle, a weekly newspaper published at Rosslyn, it was announced last night.

The officers of the corporation are Crandal Mackey, publisher and editor; William H. Duncan, vice president and secretary, and Thomas D. Baillie, superintendent.

Traffic Officer Ray Cobean, who recently underwent an operation at the Alexandria Hospital, has returned to his home in Virginia Highlands, where he is rapidly recovering.

There will be a special meeting held tonight in the auditorium of the Woodrow Wilson School at Fort Myer Heights in the interest of the Washington street project as an adequate approach to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge.

REGULARS TO HONOR CRATER BATTLE DEAD

Skeletons Found Near Petersburg to Be Given Funeral April 16.

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., April 2.—Capt. E. J. Heller, acting quartermaster of the Thirds Corps Area, United States Army, this afternoon conferred with City Manager Paul S. Morton, Mayor I. V. Parham and Gen. Carter R. Bishop in reference to the military funeral to be held for the 29 skeletons of Union soldiers who were killed in the Crater battle and which were unearthed a day or two ago on the Crater battlefield.

It was decided to have the military funeral on the afternoon of April 16. Participating will be a company of regular United States Infantry and band, Company G, Petersburg National Guards, and many of the civic organizations of Petersburg, together with the Petersburg Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy.

The United States Infantry Company will comprise 150 men. Capt. Heller stated that there would be four coffins, in which the skeletons will be placed, and that they would be carried to the cemetery on cannon caissons.

Capt. Heller, accompanied by Gen. Bishop, went out to the Poplar Grove Cemetery this afternoon and, at the suggestion of Capt. Heller, Gen. Bishop selected the spot where the burial will be made. The services will be conducted by an Army chaplain, yet to be selected. The service will be impressive and will be largely attended.

Heretofore skeletons of Union soldiers unearthed on the Crater battlefield have been buried in the National Cemetery at City Point, near Hopewell, but Mayor Parham, City Manager Morton and Gen. Bishop were of the opinion that these men should be buried in Poplar Grove Cemetery, where are interred many thousands of Union soldiers who were killed in battle during the nine months' siege of Petersburg by the Federal army.

Woman Is Accidentally Wounded.

A revolver in the hands of Edward Snowden accidentally exploded early yesterday afternoon and shot Edna Pratt, colored, 16 years old, in the stomach, police reported. She was taken to Casualty Hospital, where her condition was said to be serious. Police are searching for Snowden. The shooting took place on Half street between M and N streets southeast.

BOOK GIVES BOOST TO ORANGE COUNTY

New 102-Page Bulletin Lists Industrial Data and Invites Development.

Blacksburg, Va., April 2 (A.P.).—Advantages to industries offered by Orange County are outlined in a 102-page bulletin which contains an industrial and agricultural survey of that county just completed by the engineering and agricultural extension divisions of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The data was gathered by V. P. I staff members under the direction of R. L. Humbert, director of surveys.

Industries to utilize dairy products of the country were recommended in a section devoted to industries desired. "The county will welcome a furniture factory—an industry in which Virginia so rapidly is forging ahead," this section also points out. "Local interests should also promote small factories to manufacture novelty furniture," the section further recommends, "in order to utilize waste oak from present concerns."

Regional Opportunities Urged.

A good regional industrial opportunity exists in connection with the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables, the chapter concludes.

Statistics dealing with the present industrial development of the county are given. The character of industry already located there is described in detail.

The local attitude toward industry is favorable, and there are numerous industrial sites available, the survey shows. Statistics about the population, incorporated towns and unincorporated communities, and the highways are included.

Agriculture Is Urged.

A chapter is devoted to agriculture, timber and natural resources, amount and kind of labor, power, transportation facilities and rates, and water supplies. The importance of these as primary economic factors in plant location are stressed.

Secondary factors for industrial development, such as government taxes, county receipts and disbursements, health protection, banking facilities are included in a chapter. Civic refinements, such as educational facilities, churches, recreational activities are treated in another section. A history of the county also is given.

Numerous statistical tables and pictures appear. The booklet is attractively bound in an orange cover. An outline map of the country showing rivers, roads and railroads appears as an insert.

ALEXANDRIA MAYOR DECIDES TO REMAIN

Letter of Resignation Is Recalled as Councilman Fannon Quits.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 323.

Two distinct surprises were sprung at the meeting of city council yesterday, the first being the unheralded resignation of Councilman Thomas J. Fannon. Acting Mayor Edmund F. Ticer explained to the meeting that Mr. Fannon had for some time contemplated resigning and had decided to submit his resignation at this time owing to the fact that Mayor Carroll Pierce had resigned. He considered it advisable for the council to elect two members at once, instead of one to succeed Mr. Pierce and the other later. On motion of Councilman Herbert, Mr. Fannon's letter of resignation was received and laid on the table.

The second surprise was a message from Mr. Pierce, understood to have been sent from the railroad station as he was about to take a train for Florida, stating, "I hereby withdraw my resignation from the city council for the time being, tendered under date of March 25, 1931." The letter of resignation was presented to the council at an informal meeting last Thursday and held for action at the regular meeting yesterday. It was to become effective April 1.

Councilman Lamond explained to the meeting that Mr. Pierce's object in withdrawing his resignation "for the time being" was to avoid embarrassing the council by a lack of a quorum due to the resignation of Mr. Fannon, and that Mr. Pierce would return from his Florida trip within two weeks, or before the next regular meeting. This trip is understood to be taken on the advice of Mr. Pierce's physicians. Mr. Pierce's request to have his resignation withdrawn from consideration was, on motion of Councilman Herbert, complied with. Since the council is composed of five members, three, or a majority, constitute a quorum.

Before the regular meeting was called to order, the three councilmen present—Messrs. Ticer, Herbert and Lamont—together with City Manager Wallace Lawrence and City Attorney Carl Budwesky, had gone into a huddle in the city manager's office, and the communications from Messrs. Fannon and Pierce were held until the last order of business. After the regular order of business had been disposed of, the council adjourned, the newspaper representatives were excluded, and council again went into a huddle, known as an informal meeting.

In his letter of resignation Councilman Fannon states, in part:

"Almost nine years in the city's service certainly fulfills my obligation as a citizen, and I hereby tender my resignation as a member of City Council of Alexandria, to be effective as of April 2, 1931.

"I had planned to resign around July 1, 1931. However, since Mr. Pierce has resigned I believe that the interest of the city will be served by me advancing my proposed date of resignation to the present time, for then two new members may be elected, and the council can proceed with its new membership."

In view of the action taken yesterday in tabling Mr. Fannon's resignation, no action looking to the filling of this vacancy can be taken before the next regular meeting, April 16, when, according to Mr. Lamond, Mr. Pierce will have returned, and some definite action may be expected at that time.

A resolution appropriating $1,000 for an audit of the city gas books from September, 1922, to October 1, 1930, the date on which the city gas plant was sold, was approved.

A communication was received from Fred C. Goodnow, representing the Washington Suburban Homes Co., offering to sell to the City of Alexandria, for park purposes, a tract of land containing approximately eight acres in Rosemont, adjacent to and extending for 1,500 feet along the electric railway tracks, for $16,000. A letter was received from Representative-elect Howard W. Smith and one from Dr. Robert S. Barrett urging that this land be acquired for park purposes. The matter was taken under consideration.

A communication from Mrs. Margaret Bailey, secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary, requesting permission to sell poppies on the streets on a day in May to be named later for the benefit of the relief fund of the auxiliary, was received and the permission granted.

A petition from the General Outdoor Advertising Co. for a permit to erect advertising signs was received, and was accompanied by a petition signed by eight residents, protesting against the erection of signs on the 1500 and 1600 blocks of Duke street. The zoning commission recommended that the application be denied, and this action was taken.

Application from Otis H. Hullings, proprietor of the Banner Laundry, for permit to make minor repairs to the store and dwelling at the southeast corner of Montgomery and Washington streets was granted.

A communication from Lieut. Col. Charles B. Moore, 207 Prince street, called attention to the fact that an open sewer opens into the river at the foot of Prince street and constitutes a nuisance, particularly at low tide, and asked that the city engineer and city physician investigate with a view to having the sewer extended into the river. The matter was taken under consideration, and the city manager stated the city engineer has made an estimate of $650 for relieving the situation.

A letter from the Cranford Paving Co., constructing the Masonic Memorial Temple on Shooters Hill, stated that the drainage of the entire southern slope of the temple grounds, together with the drainage from the reservoir property, is handled by a culvert under Duke street, in the low section approximately 300 feet west of the overhead bridge, and asked that this culvert be enlarged. Council appropriated $280 for this work, this being an estimate submitted by the city engineer.

The chances for Alexandria to secure the zeppelin terminal at Hybla Valley, 3 miles south of here on the Washington-Richmond highway, have been increased by the withdrawal of Baltimore as a competitor, it was learned yesterday, thus leaving the choice of a site bstween Alexandria and Richmond.

The weather observations are being taken daily and forwarded to Morristown, N. J., for comparison. It is expected a definite announcement of the selection will be made shortly.

Wai Hung, 13-year-old Chinese boy, who made application some time ago for entrance to the public schools of Alexandria, is still awaiting the decision of the school board which, in turn, is waiting for certain legal requirements to be complied with before deciding the case. The board has decided that if the boy's sponsor, Lee Hong, can legally qualify as guardian, and there are no other obstacles the boy can be admitted. He would have to enter the first grade, it was stated, as he is unfamiliar with the English language.

Mrs. George C. Derrick, of Rome, N. Y., is in the Alexandria hospital suffering from a sprained back and bruises received when the automobile driven by her husband was struck, near Accotink, by a hit-and-run driver and overturned. Officer J. C. Clark, of Fairfax County, gave chase to the colliding car but was outdistanced.

Mrs. Derrick, whose injuries are not considered serious, is being treated by Dr. Samuel B. Moore.

L. D. Lasher, of 204 Park avenue, Amsterdam, N. Y., reported to the police yesterday that clothing valued at $200 was stolen Wednesday night from a trunk in an automobile parked on the Prince street side of the George Mason Hotel, entrance being effected by breaking the glass, the machine being locked.

The thief left behind a leather glove and a pair of pliers, which were taken to police headquarters by Sergt. George Everly. The trunk contained dresses, silk scarfs, pillowcases, sheets, &c. A brown bag filled with women's clothing was also taken by the thief.

The funeral of Patrick J. Conlon, 61 years old, vice president of the International Association of Machinists for many years, who died Wednesday in Georgetown Hospital, Washington, will take place at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Rita's Catholic Church, Mount Ida, and will be conducted by the Rev. L. J. Koster, pastor. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Alexandria.

Mr. Conlon was one of the most prominent labor leaders in this section of the country. Besides his widow, Mrs. Mary M. Conlon, he is survived by these children: Peter J. Conlon, Miss Mary A. Conlon, Miss Magdalene Conlon, and Miss Frances M. Conlon. He was past president of the Holy Name Society of Alexandria; president of the Catholic Laymen's League of Virginia; a member of Fitzgerald Council, Knights of Columbus, and a fourth-degree member of that organization, and also a member of the Hibernians.

Samuel Watson, 11, of Alexandria, was left in an auto parked on a Washington street yesterday by Guy Petit and when the latter returned the boy was gone. His disappearance was reported to Capital police. Samuel has light hair, was bare headed and was wearing a blue suit and black oxfords.

Probe of Virginia Official Droped

Governor Says Records of Comptroller Refute Inefficiency Charges.

Richmond, Va., April 2 (A.P.).—Gov. Pollard today called off an investigation of the State comptroller's office with a statement that records already checked by the State auditor indicate charges of inefficiency made by the Virginia Bureau of Research can not be substantiated.

The Virginia Bureau of Research, headed by former Gov. Westmoreland Davis, in a published bulletin charged gross inefficiency in the comptroller's office, alleging among other things that the State had lost $100,000 through failure to deduct allowable discounts on bills.

Gov. Pollard in his statement today said he could not continue an investigation, with expense to the State, on charges which were entirely unsupported by evidence he had gathered.

SHOTGUN, OVERALLS MURDER EVIDENCE

State Presents Case in Trial of Mountain Man for Killing, March 5.

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., April 2.—This morning's session of the Page County Court followed yesterday afternoon's proceedings in bringing damaging testimony against David Sours, charged with the murder of Edward Buracker March 5, Exhibits of Sours' shotgun and the overalls he is alleged to have worn when Buracker was slain on a mountain path brought alternate pallor and flushes to the accused man's cheek.

Dr. H. J. Pickett, chemical expert, testified for the State that scars on Sours' gun barrel had been made recently. The State contends these were made when Sours fell over rocks in making a rapid exit from the murder scene. Dr. Pickett also swore that Sours' overalls when turned to him for examination soon after the murder was committed were damp.

The texture of gun wads found at the scene of Buracker's murder, Dr. Pickett testified, was the same as those found in loaded shells at Sours' home the day Buracker was murdered.

Dampness of the overalls, the State will attempt to prove, was the result of Sours following a water course from where Buracker was killed to his home. The stream of water was followed, the State declares, for the purpose of preventing trailing of expected bloodhounds. Seven or eight other witnesses testified that Sours had made numerous threats against Buracker's life.

Schuyler Dodson, held in the local jail on a moonshining charge, testified that Sours had told him a short time before Buracker was slain that he intended to kill the latter if it was the last thing he ever did. George Cave, released from the Luray Jail a short time ago, testified that Sours, talking in his sleep in a steel cage near Cave's, had declared, "John, I have fixed him; he'll never go home again." This the State interprets to mean that Sours, haunted by his crime, addressed his remarks to his brother, John Sours, a World War soldier. The brothers were implacable enemies of Buracker.

TOBACCO RATE CUT RAPPED IN VIRGINIA

Attitude of Port Authority Protests Destruction of Existing Parity.

Norfolk, Va., April 2.—Port Director W. A. Cox, of the State port authority of Virginia, commenting today on the proposed reduction of rate on tobacco moving to Norfolk, Richmond, and other points from points in North Carolina within 150 miles of Norfolk, said that the authority's attitude is that of protest against the destruction of the existing parity in rates to Norfolk and Newport News.

"The State port authority is not to be understood as advocating an absolute and complete parity rate in every conceivable case which may arise," Mr. Cox said. "There may be compelling economic reasons which might entitle one of the port cities to a lower rate than the other on some commodity moving to or from certain points. When these cases arise and it becomes necessary for the port authority to declare its position it will do so, in the interest of the port as a whole.

Enormous Business Cited.

"In the tobacco rate case, now before the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the opinion of the port authority, no such reason exists," the port director continued. "Both sides of the port area have built up an enormous business in handling and shipping of tobacco, under rates which have for years been on a parity as between the two sides of the port. The Port of Hampton Roads has become a leading tobacco port of America. The port authority is desirous of encouraging and of increasing this business. Shippers should have the choice of storing or shipping their tobacco from either side, or both sides of the port area, without being limited to one side only by an inequitable rate differential as against the other."

Under the proposal now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission there would be a reduction of rate from 36 cents to 25 cents per 100 pounds on tobacco moving to Norfolk, Richmond and other points from points in North Carolina within 150 miles of Norfolk.

Embraces Certain Waters.

The port of Hampton Roads as defined in the act creating the port authority, embraces certain waters with the adjacent and intervening lands, including Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News. The State port authority was directed to use its efforts to effect a proper coordination of the water terminals of the cities within the port and to promote a spirit of cooperation among the cities in the interest of the port as a whole.

"When it was proposed that the existing parity in rates on tobacco to Norfolk and to Newport News, respectively, be destroyed and that the rate to Norfolk be reduced to 25 cents, that the rate to Richmond and Petersburg be reduced to 25 cents and that the existing rate to Newport News of 36 cents be retained, the State port authority protested, as it had a right to do, and as it was its duty to do, not against the reduction of rate to Norfolk, but against the destruction of the existing parity in rates to Norfolk and Newport News," Mr. Cox said.

"The State port authority has never opposed the proposed reduction in the rate on tobacco to Norfolk," he continued. "If the railroad lines desire to put the lower rate into effect they will meet no opposition from this commission, but a proper regard for its duties as a State body prompts it to insist that the same rate be made to the City of Newport News."

2 MISSING IN BLAZE FATAL TO ONE MAN

Ruins of Roanoke Hotel Are Searched for Guests, Believed Victims.

Roanoke, Va., April 2 (A.P.).—Smoking ruins of the Clark Hotel, which burned this morning, with the known loss of one life, were being searched tonight for remains of two guests reported missing. Another man was seriously injured and several were burned and bruised.

The fire in the three-story brick structure was discovered at 3 o'clock this morning and gained headway so rapidly that guests had little opportunity to find their way out.

A. Cotton, 60, proprietor of a pressing shop near the hotel, was killed when he jumped from a third-story window to escape the flames that already were licking at his clothes.

Jesse McGhee, 27, who jumped from the same window just ahead of Cotton, broke his back in two places and fractured an elbow and ankle, but physicians said this afternoon that he probably would recover.

Two men believed to be from North Carolina are listed as missing. They had rooms on the second floor and a sales slip in one of the rooms indicated that one of its occupants might have been Ira Hartley, of Limeville, N. C.

MR. TWITCHELL ON THAT WHEAT SURPLUS.

DEAR HERBERT: I see by the papers that you are stuck with 250,000,000 bushels of wheat, and believe me, my heart goes out to you. I can't think of anything I would hate to be stuck with more than wheat under present conditions. What to do with it is the problem of the hour, and, if you will pardon me, I have several suggestions which are no worse than Senator Borah's proposal that it be given to the Chinese with seasonal greetings and directions for making flapjacks a la Foochow.

First of all, let me suggest that you could unload all that wheat in no time simply by putting it up in small packages and advertising it as a new breakfast food that will reduce weight, banish wrinkles and give a woman that irresistible quality known as "it." You can market anything in this country today by the simple process of advertising it as a flesh reducer, charm builder or nonchalance promoter. Market it as Dr. Hoover's Anti-Fat Breakfast Food or something, and you will sell the 250,000,000 bushels and get duplicate orders.

Secondly, how about stuffing mattresses with it, proclaiming them a new type mattress inducing longer sleep, and then advertising it as the Solid Comfort Mattress? All you would have to do then would be to get some prominent society women to indorse it and write testimonials saying that they found it relieved insomnia, and you would be deluged with orders.

THIRDLY, how about a national wheat-cake drive? Wheat cakes aren't what they used to be in the American home. They have been slipping for years. By proclaiming a few National Wheat Cake Weeks you might restore the American appetite for this dish, and it seems to me that if you could link it up with the idea that it was the patriotic duty of every red-blooded citizen to eat wheat cakes the drive would go over big. If you should tie it up with devotion to mother or something, so much the better.

Lastly, would it be possible to chop it up, mix it with some tobacco and roll it into cigarettes? Americans will smoke anything that is well advertised to give them poise, cure sinus trouble, aid digestion, &c., and if you could think of something sufficiently silly for a cigarette to do you could sell all you could make.

Well, I hope I am not butting in, Herbert. I merely feel sorry for you standing around with all that wheat on your hands and I thought maybe I could help.

Yours for a solution,
ELMER TWITCHELL.

EASTER HERO, favorite in the recent Grand National Steeplechase, fell and was put out of it when victory seemed in hand. Now in the stock market they would say that this was a healthy reaction and strengthened his technical position.

In New York Tammony Hall is evidently going after the "man higher up." The first arrest by the Walker administration involves an alleged bribe paid for a penthouse permit.

J. H. Sexton, a Galesburg, Ill., man, is suing the Government for the return of a meteor which fell on his farm. It would seem Uncle Sam ought to let the man have the thing until he finds another just as good.

The more you watch stock market prices these days the more you become convinced that it is all done with mirrors.

"ELINOR SMITH Falls Five Miles in Faint."—Headline. That's a new swooning record, anyhow, my girl.

Tammany has begun house cleaning by scalping a minor official for an alleged offense back in 1927, and we may hear any moment now of the dismissal and arrest of some officeholder who stole a cookie from a baker's cart back in the winter of 1898.

The submarine with which Sir Hubert Wilkins will try to go under the North Pole is equipped with machinery for cutting through the ice in case of trouble. But nevertheless it might be just as well for the sailors to carry ice picks.
